NTA. I don't know if racial souls are a thing, I'm very much a novice in all this. If there's something after this (I'm a filthy agnostic), I kind of buy into the deal that not all humans are the same strength of Soul.

The image is a diagrammatic representation of the concept of "Life, Death, and Infinity." It is divided into three main sections, each with a title and a description.
The top section, labeled "Life, Death," shows a black and white flowchart with arrows pointing from the "end" to the "finite" and back to the "end." The flowchart indicates that the "end" is the point where the "life" ends, and the "finite" is the point where the "life" ends. The arrows point from the "end" to the "finite" and back to the "end," suggesting a continuous flow from the "end" to the "finite" and back to the "end."
The middle section, labeled "What actually happens," shows a black and white flowchart with arrows pointing from the "end" to the "finite" and back to the "end." The flowchart indicates that the "end" is the point where the "life" ends, and the "finite" is the point where the "life" ends. The arrows point from the "end" to the "finite" and back to the "end," suggesting a continuous flow from the "end" to the "finite" and back to the "end."
The bottom section, labeled "What actually happens," shows a black and white flowchart with arrows pointing from the "end" to the "finite" and back to the "end." The flowchart indicates that the "end" is the point where the "life" ends, and the "finite" is the point where the "life" ends. The arrows point from the "end" to the "finite" and back to the "end," suggesting a continuous flow from the "end" to the "finite" and back to the "end."
The text below the flowcharts provides a philosophical explanation of the concept. It states that in a so-called state of non-existence, or "death," a person can exist only in a state of "finite" existence, which is a state of existence that is finite in duration. The text also mentions that if death were to be a real thing, it would happen for the shortest amount of time possible, i.e., no time at all, and that this would be the end of the "life."
The conclusion of the text states that life is infinite, just as matter can't be destroyed, only transformed, and that this is the same with consciousness. It concludes by stating that the concept of "life" is not a matter of existence or non-existence, but rather a matter of consciousness.
The image is a visual representation of the philosophical concept of "Life, Death, and Infinity," using flowcharts and text to convey the idea that the concept of "life" is not a matter of existence or non-existence, but rather a matter of consciousness.

Anon, a big thing about NDE research is they try to get all swathes of people and then still find similar things. My book says of people who get fucked up in the way to report and NDE and come back, only 20% report they had one. Of that like 70-80% are positive and made the person near death happy coming away from it. Of that 3/4 something like 20-50% (I forget this figure mostly) are not just "good vibes," They are the ones that are like "I walked with a higher being and said we're here to just chill and learn."

As an agnostic, yes NDEs can just be your brain getting high from oxygen deprivation, but the thing that stands out to me is how most of them are so positive and your brain never does anything nice to you. Why would your asshole brain ever do anything nice for you? If NDEs are a survival strategy to flood your brain with chemicals, how would that have evolved? NDEs in a monkey human ancestor, up to humans, in antiquity would happen from blood loss from being eaten by an animal, that or heart attacks. How does flooding your brain with chemicals make an animal spare you after already eating your heart or how would it pull you out of a heart attack at 50 where you won't even be a breeding human? I guess NDEs could have specifically evolved from monkey falls. You don't necessarily have tons of broken bones that would kill you you're just knocked out and if you don't fire all neurons your body starts to shut down without a hard restart. Either way. I don't know if it's real or not, but I believe in them sort of because they don't come off as fake. They are very transformative and make the vast majority of people who have them very happy with life and more invigorated to play this (possible) videogame and stop moping about dying a decade or two later.

Also, I don't have faith, but my logic on why God is so quiet is because we straight up are not supposed to know this is all a dream because it cheapens the illusion.

Also, even though a possible model for the other side of the veil is that we're all these 4d eternal all encompassing beings where time doesn't matter. In that model it's easy to continue to not let NDErs retain their memories. It's logical the reason they come back and retain memories is because you can't strip that from someone. Even if you "partially" wake up from the dream, by like the hard math of order of events some reach the point of literally brushing up against the other side but they still have to come back here and nothing can change that.

Reality speaks in the symbolism that is most readily integrated by your subconscious(preconscious) design. The more expanded awareness becomes the more truth can be understood. Nothing is ever about the phenomenon(kenomic projection), it's about the noumenal truth(pleromic light) that causes the projection.

The more expanded awareness becomes, the more self-similar it is to truth, and the less shadow that is cast when light is shown upon it. When someone is en-light-ened there is no longer any residue there to cast a shadow, because the Self-similarity is fully realized.

Nah. You come back due to identification and obsession with the ego. Your ego chooses for you to reincarnate and the other ego's, usually family members, convince you as well. It's like your family members convincing you to marry so and so person, so you get convinced, then end up misereable your whole life.

You see in the end, you will neither trust your ego, life, nor anyone else. To escape the matrix, nobody is your friend but God.

You literally can’t read
> After you die, if you’re still attached or fearful, you can stay in the lower astral with entities attached to sex drugs, power, greed, and control over others. It’s sad & can be a very hot jungle. I saw lots of voodoo and silliness at that level.
But if you see the light and go towards it, you move up to the middle astral realm where most people from this planet are concentrated. It’s a lot like the suburbs you can spend time with people you knew while incarnated before your spirit guides come get you and help you ascend.
Then you have the higher astral, where it’s even more beautiful you’re surrounded by beautiful music, this is where people describe the hall of records or akashic libraries. Here you spend your time learning, planning out what you want to do next on your souls progression.

The image displays a stylized, three-dimensional skull with a glossy, white surface that reflects light. The skull is positioned against a dark background, which contrasts with the skull's light color, making it the focal point of the image. The skull has a prominent, open mouth with visible teeth, and it appears to be wearing a mask-like face covering. The mask is translucent, allowing the skull's features to be visible.

At the bottom of the image, there is a text overlay in a lighter color that reads: "Never mind them people are of no value we could make more sometimes if we need." The text is in a serif font, which is commonly used for formal or academic writing. The style of the image is reminiscent of a meme or a digital art piece, with a focus on the skull and the accompanying text. The overall composition of the image suggests a commentary on the value of human life or the concept of human worth.

Reincarnation and afterlives are not real and neither are lights in the tunnel or soul traps. The body is a vessel for consciousness and once the body is gone so is the consciousness associated with it, FOREVER. Nobody will judge you and you aren't going anywhere after, you simply cease to exist. They can create unlimited humans on the other hand so life will never stop existing here on earth. The creation is eternal and the creator can experience himself eternally, you are not on the other hand.

The image is a stylized graphic with a predominantly green color scheme. At the center of the image, there is a large, stylized face with a closed mouth and a frown. The eyes are large and appear to be closed, and the mouth is slightly open. The face is outlined in white, giving it a three-dimensional appearance. The eyes are shaded with a brown color, and the mouth is outlined in yellow. The face is set against a black background. To the right of the face, there is a small, stylized representation of a hand with a yellow color, raised in a praying position with the fingers spread out. The hand is positioned as if it is about to touch or touch the face. The image does not contain any text or additional elements. The style of the image is cartoonish and seems to be designed for a humorous or light-hearted purpose.

Realistically anyone that would be scared on a deathbed, which is maybe 90% of everyone, is worried about this being true. But. Kind of weird we're here anyway. The way us humans create, and we DO create beautiful things and we're just mud monkeys, it's not too crazy to believe in a Creator. It's okay to find new-Age faith in NDEs because they say things that make sense.

Unless the creator is bleeding some of the memories onto me. I also have what I feel are like ancestoral memories that are me but maybe in the programmed into the DNA? I also had dreams of being someone else in a technological advanced society but I was a child being used for an experiment along with other children and we were excited about being experimented on even though I wouldn’t like that myself personally. It could just be bullshit in the end and I just have a very creative mind going wild. Even if someone told me the truth about reality I would probably be like oh ok.

The real thing was traps us is ignorance and belief in something that doesn't exist and then fear because we can't control it while we haven't even asked why, biological nature is to instinctively avoid things we don't know or can't control the body, causing stress in front of something that we believe can kill us, so we end up beating ourselves up because our brain is crazy, so we conclude that we're afraid.

You think soulgroups are tied to racial dna or that souls groups shards are randomly scattered throughout all the races? If this soulstuff is bound to dna it would make sense then why the jews are so keen on preserving their little groups dna

They seem to want to steal all the good dna of whites though, by marrying succesful white males to one of their dna stealer jewesses?? Doesnt this also create unhappy half souls in the world, just to steal some succesful dna. Cruel.
So trump bassically is donating his dna through ivanka to the tribe and through some of his sons? What about his soulgroup though doesnt he realize the damage done on a soul level? Are white and jew souls even compatible or doe they create a double soul in 1 body thing where 1 soul tribe just suffers?

The image is a digital graphic with a dark blue background that resembles a swirling galaxy or nebula. At the center of the image, there is a stylized text that reads, "Thank you for contacting the abyss. Your scream is very important to us." The text is in white, and the font is bold and slightly distressed, giving it a cartoonish appearance.

In the lower right corner of the image, there is a small, stylized image of a green frog with a red tongue sticking out. The frog appears to be in a dynamic pose, as if it is jumping or dancing. The frog's eyes are wide open, and its mouth is slightly open, adding to the playful and exaggerated nature of the image. The frog's color is a vibrant green, contrasting with the dark blue background.
The overall style of the image is whimsical and playful, with a sense of humor and a touch of whimsy. The text and the frog image are the main elements, and they are positioned in a way that draws the viewer's attention to the message conveyed by the text. The use of the frog image adds a playful element to the message, suggesting that the text is meant to be humorous or entertaining.

i don't want any if it. i want total annihilation of my consciousness. nothing to do. nobody to do it. nothing to miss. nobody to miss it. and i never existed and i never will exist. i think that's the only way out. i don't know if it's possible.

I also am not an NPC slave and I have broken through vices (alcohol, drugs) and have always questioned things and sought knowledge. I know its "wrong", but I definitely looked down on certain people...these Indian 30 IQ subhumans whose highest accomplishment in life is being an Uber eats driver...these junkies rolling around in the street covered in infections....but I wonder how, what if in the next life my fate is the same? The Asatru groups are larpers and muddy the old ways. The Æsir are gods of the Aryan and are a reverence to the apotheosis gained by their ancestors from the last cycle of seasons of the world tree. The Vanir are Atlantean and are Gaelic-Celtic and had acheived apotheosis as well. The unification of both is the alliance of Northern European ancestry, along with a reverence to the forces of nature of the Jotnär (sometimes aiding sometimes fought against). To understand the mysteries of the eddas you must walk the path of the Einherjar, to understand the frequency and vibration of our plane and follow the roads walked by the Gods who are our ancestors. The legends have morals and deeper meanings to be gleaned by observation and disection and seiðr works when used by women who don't direct the frequency of the runes to a particular patron but toward the force of intention and assumption that flows through our plane. Follow the nine virtues of courage, truth, honour, loyalty, discipline, self-reliance, perseverance, and industrioussness and apply them to your daily life and routine, and respect the unseen around you. Don't buy into any dogma or false representations of the Gods or the folk. I wish you luck and many personal revelations.

A fine take, the beings of nature are not to be worshipped but appeased and tolerated when peaceful, opposed and weathered when not. The blizzard does not care for worship.
The Gods live in you and the ordered chaos of nature does as well. As is said in the poem of the three brothers breathing life into man and woman: Odin breathes the ørlög or wyrd and animus, Loðurr (Loki of Jotnär) the gift of speech and hearing and sight, and Hœnir (Njord of Vanir) the breath of life. Without all three we are nothing, as without our ancestors we would not be here. Within us is the gifts of destiny and it is up to us to use them to walk our paths toward apotheosis to be as them and opose evil and tyrannical domination.

I personally have no favourite rune, that may seem like a cop out answer but it is the truth of the matter. Each has its own special place, even the lack of a rune in silence. You are using the rune of mannaz properly, meditate on it's lines as you form it, let it synchronize with your body's rhythm. Each rune must be used by men in such a way, for seiðr is fickle and does not want to be ordered but asked, not directed but listened to. Patience and understanding is the lesson of runes, insight towards the heart beat of our realm and our purpose within it. We have the blessing and curse of consciousness and it is our want to understand it and overcome our shortcomings. You are in the steps of your forebears and they walk with you on this path, because you are them, the runes will help you be them and help your children be you. Your divine spark stirs and I wish you glory and luck in your journey as a fledgling Einherjar.

Nothing can stop you from trying, but do not be disappointed if it is not the answers you seek nor if it works for you to begin with. Nothing dared nothing gained. But do not discredit the Gods of your people for the Gods of another's, your blood will resonate with your own ancestors much more harmonically.

You said you aren't "fully" white which implies you do have at least some European ancestry, so I'd say yes

Gods aren't as racially exclusive as people think, either, so even if you weren't white at all they would probably still be willing to work with you as long as you were respectful

The image is a digital composite of a helmet with a face. The helmet is intricately designed with a metallic finish, featuring a large, ornate crest at the top. The face of the helmet is a detailed representation of a human face, with large, round, black eyes and a mustache. The helmet's design includes a series of embossed patterns and engravings, giving it a regal appearance. The background of the image is a solid, light blue color, which contrasts with the metallic sheen of the helmet. There are no visible texts or discernible brands within the image. The style of the image is reminiscent of a meme or a digital artwork, with a focus on the helmet's design and the face it represents.

The existence of ancestor gods that only look after their own nations doesn't disprove what I said, most gods have more general domains like natural phenomena and universal aspects of human culture

Also, nations aren't races, you can marry into or be adopted by a nation you weren't born into, while you stay the same race your whole life

I did not touch on prayer in my previous posts, but the attention of the Gods should only be aspired to when your great works are at hand. They are not there to be pestered with requests when the strength is within you, so calling upon them should be to show them something to be proud of. A success in your endeavors, a pregnancy, your approaching victory or impending death. To show your failures as well to not hide them from them, but to show your attempt and your stubbornness to try harder and willingness to learn from what went wrong. Directed intention should be towards our realm of existence and the latent energy therein, the runes as stated earlier anchor those intentions but are not necessary for low-vibration intentions. Simply being aware of the power of sunshine and moonlight on your skin, the feeling of the dirt at your feet or the water running around you, the electricity of a storm and in the dance of aurora. Ground yourself in the realm and do glorious and virtuous deeds, then bring their attention to you so they can be proud parents or supportive elders.

Brother all the "gods" of all the world's religions are demons or fallen angels . The only true God is the triune God . The Father , the Son Jesus Christ and the Holy Spirit . Seek the truth and you shall find it . But when the enemy comes with terror and despair call on Jesus Christ and he will save you no matter the odds just believe him he can do it nothing is impossible for God and repent . Do not persist in willful sin . And when you inevitably do fall do not let the demons convince you that it's over that God will not forgive you now . They are lying . Ask God for his mercy . You must come to the fullness of the faith which is eastern Orthodoxy . God bless you and protect you brother amen

I probably won't post this often but I wanted to explain in detail what happens after we die. Especially since many here try to scare others from love and light as if it's a psyop.
I was lucky enough to have a near death experience (though it partially paralyzed me, required years of surgeries & physical therapy), I've taken countless heroic doses of psychedelics (shrooms, DMT, LSD, Iboga), im well trained in astral projection, akashic reading, hemisync, & my experiences perfectly align with the teachings of the greatest mystics (Blavatsky, Cayce Steiner), as well as clinical studies/case reports of NDE, past life regressions (by Dr Ray Moody, Dr Brian Weiss, Cannon) plus the ancient traditions like the Egyptian & Tibetan books of the dead or shamanic teachings.
The light and the love you feel from it, that pulls you towards it is not trap
After you die, if you're still attached or fearful, you can stay in the lower astral with entities attached to sex drugs, power, greed, and control over others. It's sad & can be a very hot jungle. I saw lots of voodoo and silliness at that level.
But if you see the light and go towards it, you move up to the middle astral realm where most people from this planet are concentrated. It's a lot like the suburbs you can spend time with people you knew while incarnated before your spirit guides come get you and help you ascend.
Then you have the higher astral, where it's even more beautiful you're surrounded by beautiful music, this is where people describe the hall of records or akashic libraries. Here you spend your time learning, planning out what you want to do next on your souls progression.
There's nothing to fear. Your soul is way too powerful for some stupid lizard to trap.
I wish you all well and hope that you're always guided in your best interest. Godspeed fellow travelers.

This actually resonates deeply with me. The way you described the light as something not to fear but to move toward reminds me of the Gnostic concept of the Monad, that pure source of light, truth, and being. It’s the origin and return point of the soul, beyond the illusions and layers we get tangled in.

What you said about the lower astral being full of attachments: sex, greed, control, fits exactly with what the Archons represent in Gnostic texts. They feed on distraction, fear, and the ego. But the more we recognize the divine spark within, the more transparent those illusions become.

The part about ascending and being guided by spirit allies also mirrors some of the ideas in the Pistis Sophia, where the soul rises through realms and trials, guided by inner wisdom and light, toward a reunification with the true divine.

I think when people meme about “soul traps,” they’re projecting their own fears about losing control. But real gnosis, like you touched on, dissolves fear. It’s not a trap if you’ve remembered who you are.

Thanks for posting this. Stuff like this helps cut through the noise.

I know for a fact that I never did and never will have any control over what I experience in life, my life is entirely controlled by a retarded sadistic evil tranny God and there is nothing positive about him or his intentions towards me on earth or in the afterlife whatsoever.

Most likely the "light" at death doesn't necessarily serve a functional purpose, when I die I just get force-reincarnated and likely forced to repeat my life, notionally the light is probably meant to represent a "wormhole" sending my soul back to when I was born, but it won't make a difference whether I go into or not because God will just force reincarnate me anyway and he doesn't really need me to go into the light at all to send me back, it's just "narrative framing" because God is a pretentious retard.

This is largely true

There's a soul trap after death involving the tunnel of light, but it's the opposite of what people here say

In fact, the trap is ignoring the tunnel of light and trying to escape through the "holes in the soul grid"

There are two astral planes: an upper one and a lower one, the upper world is a pure dimension full of love and light where all of your dreams can come true, and the lower one is more of a mirror of this world, sure, you can do a lot more than you can here, but it kinda sucks, it's full of assholes and there are people who take over parts of the plane and declare it their own personal kingdom, just like here

The goal is to reach the upper astral plane: unlike the lower one, it can't be reached by a living human, no matter how hard you try, and if you think you have you've reached a part of the lower astral where you'll be lovebombed and convinced to try and escape the tunnel of light

It takes time, effort, patience and dedication to be allowed to enter the upper astral, there are no cheat codes, and if you truly deserve to be there, you won't even see a tunnel of light at all, you'll just wake up there after dying

I've never AP'd, I'm just going by what other people have said as well as my own personal experiences

I'm not going to tell you what to do, you have to make that decision on your own, but I hope you'll take what I've said into account

Good luck

Not to be a dick, but the books you listed are soccer mom tier new age, and I doubt all your "meditating and practicing" was worth anything if your next step was to go and destroy your etheric immunological system by doing a ton of drugs.
You are also choosing to obviate a ton of occult traditions and native practices that directly contradict your belief system. They describe an afterlife which is an extension of the mechanics of life, where there is predation, misdirection, and even death of the spiritual body.
If approached sober, you can discover in the non-physical realms beings that pose as "source" and proceed to deplete the memories and force of the dead, turning them into spiritual vegetables ready to fall back into the world of matter and reincarnate as ants.

If you think you "know the truth through live experience", all the best to you, but you're either a fool (in the good sense of the word), or fooling yourself (a deathly sin).

Well, I probably should've opened that post with "this is just a theory, I have no proof of this", but just because I've never AP'd that doesn't mean I've never had spiritual experiences in my life

What OP is saying makes a lot of sense and matches up with my own experiences almost perfectly, of course we differ in a few details but that's always going to happen

Astral projection, is, in fact, one of the "cheat codes" I mentioned, I've never done it because I've just always had a bad feeling about it, and my life experiences have taught me to trust my intuition at this point >but you are playing with other people's afterlives with your ill advice.

I didn't say you had to do what I said, I just want people to consider the situation from all angles

What's your theory about the afterlife, then? I'd like to hear it

>This is backwards, do you think we were born here with the goal to go there or something?

Yes

>We come form the higher astral planes
What makes you think that? We were born here on Earth, our evolution might've been guided by higher beings but we definitely come from this planet >and the only reason we went down here is because we were bored of the source and all that.

I never liked that "it's all just a game God is playing with himself" theory, firstly because I'm pretty sure God doesn't masturbate and secondly because it's a pretty shitty thing to do, that would send all his children, who he loves very much, from the upper astral back to this material dimension of pain and suffering, it's a horrible thing to do to your own child just because you're bored

It's often said that God is capable of going back in time and creating himself, making him the uncreated source, and I think this entire universe is the process of him doing that Quality post OP. It's easy to get demoralized. As corny as this might sound I believe there are people that have been sent or chosen to help guide things along. It's not like out of a movie. They don't even know they're doing it. Some of the smallest gestures by people you don't even know can change the way you look at things forever. I think that's how it works.

>pop spirituality

I don't read New Age magazines or pop spirituality books, I'm not into horoscopes or anything like that, in fact, the only pop spirituality I consume is what I see here on /x/

The only spiritual texts I read are legitimate ones like the Bible, the Bhagavad Gita and the Tao te Ching

It's like OP said: fear is the real soul trap, fear holds you back, fear is absolutely a useful tool in this world but there's no need for it in the afterlife

Reincarnation is not a bad thing, it's necessary for your development, and the reason you lose all your memories (all your memories are still in your soul, but you lose access to them while you're here, they're basically being held somewhere else on your behalf) and the reason you lose them is because a newborn should not have access to the memories of hundreds, maybe thousands of adult human lifetimes, it'll be far too overwhelming for them

Plus, I hate to say it, but most people really just aren't spiritually developed enough to remember their past lives (this includes me as well, I don't remember them either), do you really want some drunk wifebeating asshole to know that he's the reincarnation of Gilgamesh and Genghis Khan? He'll make it his mission in life to take over the world by force, and since he's the reincarnation of both of them, he'll probably succeed

No-one can teach you the truth, not earthly spiritual teachers, not beings of light from another dimension, only you can figure it out

The image is a painting that depicts a solitary figure seated on a rock, gazing out at a mountainous landscape. The figure is shrouded in darkness, with only the silhouette of the person visible. The setting is a moonlit night, with the full moon visible in the sky, casting a soft glow over the scene. The landscape is rugged and wild, with trees and shrubs dotting the terrain. The color palette is dark and moody, with the predominant colors being shades of gray and black. The painting style is reminiscent of the Romanticism movement, characterized by its emphasis on emotion and the natural world. The style is realistic with a focus on the interplay of light and shadow, creating a sense of depth and atmosphere.

I am an ignorant, ordinary person and my life is a complete, insane mess so my statement should be taken with a grain of salt.

Astral projection is a funny, interesting thing but what about the whole psychological structures that we have inside us? Astral projection won't solve those. It's those structures that are responsible for all the illusion and ignorance in our lives, the ways we think, feel and react. How we understand - how we create - the world. If we die while these structures are still intact, and if we are conscious after the death of the body somehow - then these structures, which foster our attachment to ourselves and to existence, will influence us to at the very least keep existing in a conditioned manner by those same structures. So we either dissolve these structures right now while alive, or we are going to keep being conditioned by them, and simply astral projecting or fleeing through a white tunnel won't solve anything. We will keep being born because we are psychologically conditioned to do so.

You probably replied to 3 different unrelated anons.
Anyway, let me try some analogy: You dream that you're a very rich mafioso with a lot of money and bitches, but there's an enemy that wants to kill you, you found about this because you have a mole in his organization, you prepare a plan so that your mole kills him before the attack. You go to sleep awaiting what will happens and how will things go.
And then you wake up, and remember who you are, you weren't this mafioso guy, you have things to attend to in real life, his plans and that world vanished with the dream.
Dying is like that.
Not wanting to reincarnate ever again is like not wanting to dream again when you go to sleep.

We selected Earth to be born into, perhaps for the 10000th time, because we got already bored of other planets that didn't pose a challenge.
I always mention the correlation with chess, when you reach a very strong level you join tournaments where there are players of your level, or higher.
They're limited by having at least some rating, so you could go and play the newbies and win all the games.
Nobody does that, everyone tries to find the strongest player they can find, everyone wants to play and beat the world champion.
So earth is the world champion of existence, after dying you can go on vacation to other more pleasuring, painless planets but that'd be like playing a newbie at chess, you'd think it's a waste of time because you want to "beat earth" ASAP, and once here people find a challenge to overcome, one where the stakes seem high because if people knew it's just a game it wouldn't be as immersive.

As much as I'd like to be optimistic, the people that see those tessellations is not particularly high. I see them when I wake up, and it tells me that if I thought I was dreaming that night, I actually wasn't. Those events definitely do not feel like dreams. They are indicators of an OBE.

The only people that I've ever heard experience something like that were on psychoactive substances that are meant to throw them upon the precipice of life and death (i.e. LSD/St. Anthony's Fire).

>I'm just some random guy on the internet and I'm really not that smart, but I think if I could figure it out anyone can Theoretically, yes. Realistically, it's not easy to. People who pursue this experienced at least enough breakthrough events, primed with the knowledge that things like this exist.

For the average person, they will be caught up in traditions, conflicting beliefs and values, and the daily grind to the point where this will not even be in the running to prioritize.

Huh, well, okay, that's interesting

I admit this all started when I took a certain drug a little while back and had an enlightening experience: I don't want to call it "enlightenment", because while it certainly felt like that at the time, like all drug-induced enlightenments, it went away after a while

I still remember, though, I saw the tessellations exactly as you describe, it was very emotional and moving, and nothing's been the same for me since

I really am just an ordinary person, the only thing that's ever been a bit unusual about me is that I seem unusually good at finding four-leaf clovers, like finding two in the same patch of grass close to each other, bending down to pick what looked like an ordinary clover because it stood out to me and finding out it had four leaves when I looked closely at it, that kind of thing

Other people have commented on this, too, it's not just me

Secondly, this is why I didn't want to mention the drug thing, I knew people would immediately write me off as a junkie hippy like you just did

Drugs can be a great tool, yes, but they can do horrible things to people, too, they can send you to heaven or they can send you to hell, and I've experienced both

I don't think I saw the afterlife, but from then on I started researching esoteric subjects more and more, until everything just clicked one day

It didn't enlighten me, like I said, it just sort of nudged me in the right direction

No proof, just a theory of mine, but I never liked the "prison planet loosh farm" theory because it's clearly based on fear, which is the archons' MO, it always seemed like THAT was the lie, not the "reincarnation trap"

>I still remember, though, I saw the tessellations exactly as you describe, it was very emotional and moving, and nothing's been the same for me since
I can't say if they're emotional for me. My earliest memory of them would've traced back since I was 3 years old. They're very much normal in my opinion, but everyone has a different idea of normal.

A resurgence happened around a few years ago. Many different entities, and the lovebombing is real. Common theme is that they are happy that you've returned, even if you do not remember. These days I do not receive such treatment, since I'm not very responsive to praise in neither waking or alternative states.

As for astral planes, the lower ones are filled with those who are attached to the mortal world and/or unfamiliar with the existence after death. This is where the vast majority of mankind goes, even the religious. It relies upon the negative biases of state-of-being as its primary means of control. For those cognizant enough, the seemingly impossible things in a mortal life seem oddly achievable with ease, with such indulgences, why would they ever be aware enough to leave? The upper astral planes does the opposite where its primary means of control are positive. You can have anything you could ever possibly want, so you do not want to leave such a pleasant place?

The astral planes, and their respective levels and subcompartments, are for those who let those attachments consume them. All borne of physical body are born with sin (attachment) and carry them along, and the only way to be forgiven of them is to let them go, because those identities and attachments don't actually belong to you. They were given to you like a gift, and you must return them in due time. Those who cannot will be stuck. It's just a really big mental asylum.

I really don't like the "only you can figure it out" theory.
Some people's lives are just survival mode like a wild animal.
I also don't like the idea that we "planned" our lives before being born. It's like if parents let their 6 year old kid smoke cigarettes and drive on the highway because they asked to.
There's nothing to "figure out" when you literally can't. It's like if you get kidnapped and blindfolded and are put in a remote location and then someone asks you to describe the location.
I remember that NDE someone shared here where a Christian woman met two floating entities who told her that none of this was real and she was just allowed to take it seriously while she was alive.
I have gone through so many heart-rending, cruel, and unfair circumstances. I think our lives are just based on luck and there's no objective "mission" we are supposed to complete like in an action movie. I also think that what someone wrote about Umineko describing that our level of reality is controlled by higher beings is true. I don't believe in karma because it's also a concept that blames victims for the abuse inflicted upon them.

There actually was a teacher in India, where the concept of karma originated from, called Sri Ramana Maharshi who said that karma is only real for those who believe in it and that all reality comes from the Self.
I read from a Chinese girl that Chinese people traditionally believed that nothing is really true and that what you believe creates reality. In Taoism it also says that infinite potential exists and you can create things from it. I think they also believe in white magic where you use positive words it attracts positive things into your life. I also saw the number 88 (which Chinese people believe is good luck) appear in the "Comment too long" error message after writing that :D And I saw 222 twice and 111 while editing this post.

>I also don't like the idea that we "planned" our lives before being born. It's like if parents let their 6 year old kid smoke cigarettes and drive on the highway because they asked to.
To elaborate on this, it's because I think some of the things someone can go through are unbelievably cruel. But they let us choose to let it happen to us.
I was reading Higurashi recently and started to develop a belief that our souls are basically the "writer" of our lives and we are experiencing our lives as the "characters" in our lives like how Ryukishi07 wrote Higurashi and the characters in Higurashi are experiencing the story from their perspectives based on what he wrote. So I actually do somewhat believe that we planned our lives before we were born. It's also better than believing that we deserved to be abused and other hardships we went through.
I also believe that angels do exist and intervene to save us, because when I truly decided that I was going to kill myself, then something really valuable happened soon after that made me decide not to, and what caused me not to was something that really helped me as well. I think we are supposed to live. I think it's more that there's something valuable that we can achieve by living to the end, and that if we kill ourselves we might be missing out on that important thing.
Anonymous Sun 03 Aug 2025 03:32:41 No.40845046 Report
I also believe in your theories based on what I have read and researched, soul trap and reincarnation trap theories looks childish or probably trying to convey the same information in different way and failing miserbaly, basically attachment and fear makes the matrix or karmic debt whatever you call, if you are worst of human but if you just escape tunnel, you will be saved, this is silly and seems artificial, nature or world doesn't work like this.
Some also here beleive one dose of vaccine can sever connection with soul or God, imagine if scientists or elite had that much power lol, then we better not even try, there is nothing we can do compared to that power.

I may still be wrong but you need to chose something, this is mine for now.

You say that the soul is too powerful for some stupid lizard to trap and you’re correct, there’s just a problem with this thinking.

It’s true; the human soul is the most powerful thing in the universe, in part due to its divine nature. The problem here lies in the fact that the majority of humans are ignorant to this reality. I don’t know what comes after death, I don’t like to make such bold claims. However, I have been lead to believe that the light you see is indeed a trap. It makes sense. As above, so below. We have to eat to live in this world below, those that live in the world above surely must require some form of energy as well. The concept of beings from the other side using human souls as food isn’t even a modern one; ancient tribalistic beliefs even contained the idea of your soul being consumed in the afterlife.

Sure, but what make you think they have to get it from us? Plants get their energy directly from sunlight without having to kill and eat anything, maybe they're the same, maybe they can live off the ambient spiritual energy

Would you rather have a salad or a steak? Sure, some entities can attain energy without such finality as devouring your soul - I believe this to be the origin of succubi and the reason why some entities can seek to “drain” a human they’ve attached to in this world. And there may be some entities that do simply absorb the “vibes”, but I’d bet my bottom dollar there’s certainly those that are predatory in nature. Even if there are those that are more like a plant, that shouldn’t discount the existence of those that are more like a tiger.

Salads were invented by poor people. Kill that cow, eat your ribeye. I used the “world above” more a continuation of the turn of phrase used prior, not meaning “heavenly” but more meaning the “world beyond”.

It’s my understanding that each soul has its own ‘frequency and vibration’, one that uniquely aligns to the body - the animal, if you will. A human being being a dualist entity - the animal (the body, wracked with all it’s needs and instincts and genetically imprinted behavior) and the soul, the divine spark unique to man (what makes us in “God’s image”). The animal will rot and die one day, and the immortal soul will be released. Where does it go? I can’t say, but I have been lead to understand that your soul will move on to the next world - not that there is one world, but numerous. Your soul will move on to whatever place on the other side best fits the range of its frequency - in the same way that it stayed attached to your body because of your body being able to uniquely receive said frequency.

There are differences
Western, Asian and Islam see a tunnel and light.
Western talks to the light but Asians don't.
Islam reports fewer NDEs on average.
Western and Islam have life reviews but Asains don't.
Asians see the field of flowers but Western sees the field and sometimes mansions/cities.

Hindu is completely different. They are kidnapped by black beings and taken to a city in the woods. They are brought before a black being who they assume is Yamraj (god of death) who yells that his minions brought the wrong person and send the person back and collect the soul of the intended target.

As for the differences I think it's in relation to your belief in God. Asians are majority athiests so they see God as light but don't understand what the light is. Hindus have beliefs not centered around a monolithic god. They could be interacting with demons but have lived with the idea they are part of their spiritual pantheon.

The image is a collage of two separate photographs. The top photograph features a black rotary phone with a large "R-r-r-ring!" text above it, suggesting a loud or urgent tone. Below the phone, there is a red and white text that reads, "STOMACH LURING PEOPLE." The phone is set against a white background.
The bottom photograph shows a close-up of a chicken's head with its beak open, looking directly at the viewer. The chicken has a red comb and wattles, and its eyes are wide open. The background of the bottom photograph is white, and there is a red and black text that reads, "I'M NOT A CHICKEN, I'M A CHICKEN-KILLING CHICKEN." The text is in a bold, red font.
The overall style of the image is humorous and seems to be a parody or satirical representation of a phone call. The text and the image of the chicken are juxtaposed to create a humorous effect.

You're absolutely correct when saying that God can force you to reincarnate and there's absolutely nothing one can do.

But the question as to why is intrinsically related to our long long past negative karma. Until that's cleared we're bound to reincarnate continuously. And that's God that decides. This universe is a cursed one. The reasons are another story.

Depending on what culture or region you're from, you could see yourself while floating above your body, 360 degree vision, a tunnel, a light, a life review, a beautiful garden, space, possibly your pets or ancestors, a spirit guide, Something call "the source"?, an overwhelming feeling of love and compassion. People who can't let go or resist tend to have a hellish/nightmare-like NDE. NDEs are rare and iirc there's a 90% chance of you seeing nothing.

The image is a diagrammatic representation of the concept of "Life, Death, and Infinity." It is divided into three main sections, each with a title and a description.

The top section, labeled "Life, Death," shows a black and white flowchart with arrows pointing from the "end" to the "finite" and back to the "end." The flowchart indicates that the "end" is the point where the "life" ends, and the "finite" is the point where the "life" ends. The arrows point from the "end" to the "finite" and back to the "end," suggesting a continuous flow from the "end" to the "finite" and back to the "end."
The middle section, labeled "What actually happens," shows a black and white flowchart with arrows pointing from the "end" to the "finite" and back to the "end." The flowchart indicates that the "end" is the point where the "life" ends, and the "finite" is the point where the "life" ends. The arrows point from the "end" to the "finite" and back to the "end," suggesting a continuous flow from the "end" to the "finite" and back to the "end."
The bottom section, labeled "What actually happens," shows a black and white flowchart with arrows pointing from the "end" to the "finite" and back to the "end." The flowchart indicates that the "end" is the point where the "life" ends, and the "finite" is the point where the "life" ends. The arrows point from the "end" to the "finite" and back to the "end," suggesting a continuous flow from the "end" to the "finite" and back to the "end."
The text below the flowcharts provides a philosophical explanation of the concept. It states that in a so-called state of non-existence, or "death," a person can exist only in a state of "finite" existence, which is a state of existence that is finite in duration. The text also mentions that if death were to be a real thing, it would happen for the shortest amount of time possible, i.e., no time at all, and that this would be the end of the "life."
The conclusion of the text states that life is infinite, just as matter can't be destroyed, only transformed, and that this is the same with consciousness. It concludes by stating that the concept of "life" is not a matter of existence or non-existence, but rather a matter of consciousness.
The image is a visual representation of the philosophical concept of "Life, Death, and Infinity," using flowcharts and text to convey the idea that the concept of "life" is not a matter of existence or non-existence, but rather a matter of consciousness.

Anon, a big thing about NDE research is they try to get all swathes of people and then still find similar things. My book says of people who get fucked up in the way to report and NDE and come back, only 20% report they had one. Of that like 70-80% are positive and made the person near death happy coming away from it. Of that 3/4 something like 20-50% (I forget this figure mostly) are not just "good vibes," They are the ones that are like "I walked with a higher being and said we're here to just chill and learn."

As an agnostic, yes NDEs can just be your brain getting high from oxygen deprivation, but the thing that stands out to me is how most of them are so positive and your brain never does anything nice to you. Why would your asshole brain ever do anything nice for you? If NDEs are a survival strategy to flood your brain with chemicals, how would that have evolved? NDEs in a monkey human ancestor, up to humans, in antiquity would happen from blood loss from being eaten by an animal, that or heart attacks. How does flooding your brain with chemicals make an animal spare you after already eating your heart or how would it pull you out of a heart attack at 50 where you won't even be a breeding human? I guess NDEs could have specifically evolved from monkey falls. You don't necessarily have tons of broken bones that would kill you you're just knocked out and if you don't fire all neurons your body starts to shut down without a hard restart. Either way. I don't know if it's real or not, but I believe in them sort of because they don't come off as fake. They are very transformative and make the vast majority of people who have them very happy with life and more invigorated to play this (possible) videogame and stop moping about dying a decade or two later.

Also, I don't have faith, but my logic on why God is so quiet is because we straight up are not supposed to know this is all a dream because it cheapens the illusion.

Also, even though a possible model for the other side of the veil is that we're all these 4d eternal all encompassing beings where time doesn't matter. In that model it's easy to continue to not let NDErs retain their memories. It's logical the reason they come back and retain memories is because you can't strip that from someone. Even if you "partially" wake up from the dream, by like the hard math of order of events some reach the point of literally brushing up against the other side but they still have to come back here and nothing can change that.

Reality speaks in the symbolism that is most readily integrated by your subconscious(preconscious) design. The more expanded awareness becomes the more truth can be understood. Nothing is ever about the phenomenon(kenomic projection), it's about the noumenal truth(pleromic light) that causes the projection.

The more expanded awareness becomes, the more self-similar it is to truth, and the less shadow that is cast when light is shown upon it. When someone is en-light-ened there is no longer any residue there to cast a shadow, because the Self-similarity is fully realized.

Nah. You come back due to identification and obsession with the ego. Your ego chooses for you to reincarnate and the other ego's, usually family members, convince you as well. It's like your family members convincing you to marry so and so person, so you get convinced, then end up misereable your whole life.

You see in the end, you will neither trust your ego, life, nor anyone else. To escape the matrix, nobody is your friend but God.

You literally can’t read
> After you die, if you’re still attached or fearful, you can stay in the lower astral with entities attached to sex drugs, power, greed, and control over others. It’s sad & can be a very hot jungle. I saw lots of voodoo and silliness at that level.
But if you see the light and go towards it, you move up to the middle astral realm where most people from this planet are concentrated. It’s a lot like the suburbs you can spend time with people you knew while incarnated before your spirit guides come get you and help you ascend.
Then you have the higher astral, where it’s even more beautiful you’re surrounded by beautiful music, this is where people describe the hall of records or akashic libraries. Here you spend your time learning, planning out what you want to do next on your souls progression.

The image displays a stylized, three-dimensional skull with a glossy, white surface that reflects light. The skull is positioned against a dark background, which contrasts with the skull's light color, making it the focal point of the image. The skull has a prominent, open mouth with visible teeth, and it appears to be wearing a mask-like face covering. The mask is translucent, allowing the skull's features to be visible.
At the bottom of the image, there is a text overlay in a lighter color that reads: "Never mind them people are of no value we could make more sometimes if we need." The text is in a serif font, which is commonly used for formal or academic writing. The style of the image is reminiscent of a meme or a digital art piece, with a focus on the skull and the accompanying text. The overall composition of the image suggests a commentary on the value of human life or the concept of human worth.

Reincarnation and afterlives are not real and neither are lights in the tunnel or soul traps. The body is a vessel for consciousness and once the body is gone so is the consciousness associated with it, FOREVER. Nobody will judge you and you aren't going anywhere after, you simply cease to exist. They can create unlimited humans on the other hand so life will never stop existing here on earth. The creation is eternal and the creator can experience himself eternally, you are not on the other hand.

The image is a stylized graphic with a predominantly green color scheme. At the center of the image, there is a large, stylized face with a closed mouth and a frown. The eyes are large and appear to be closed, and the mouth is slightly open. The face is outlined in white, giving it a three-dimensional appearance. The eyes are shaded with a brown color, and the mouth is outlined in yellow. The face is set against a black background. To the right of the face, there is a small, stylized representation of a hand with a yellow color, raised in a praying position with the fingers spread out. The hand is positioned as if it is about to touch or touch the face. The image does not contain any text or additional elements. The style of the image is cartoonish and seems to be designed for a humorous or light-hearted purpose.

Realistically anyone that would be scared on a deathbed, which is maybe 90% of everyone, is worried about this being true. But. Kind of weird we're here anyway. The way us humans create, and we DO create beautiful things and we're just mud monkeys, it's not too crazy to believe in a Creator. It's okay to find new-Age faith in NDEs because they say things that make sense.

I can get behind this theory but the only thing is I kinda believe in quantum immortality too only because I get strong emotional trigger based dreams of different futures that seem real. Unless the creator is bleeding some of the memories onto me. I also have what I feel are like ancestoral memories that are me but maybe in the programmed into the DNA? I also had dreams of being someone else in a technological advanced society but I was a child being used for an experiment along with other children and we were excited about being experimented on even though I wouldn’t like that myself personally. It could just be bullshit in the end and I just have a very creative mind going wild. Even if someone told me the truth about reality I would probably be like oh ok.

The real thing was traps us is ignorance and belief in something that doesn't exist and then fear because we can't control it while we haven't even asked why, biological nature is to instinctively avoid things we don't know or can't control the body, causing stress in front of something that we believe can kill us, so we end up beating ourselves up because our brain is crazy, so we conclude that we're afraid.

You think soulgroups are tied to racial dna or that souls groups shards are randomly scattered throughout all the races? If this soulstuff is bound to dna it would make sense then why the jews are so keen on preserving their little groups dna

They seem to want to steal all the good dna of whites though, by marrying succesful white males to one of their dna stealer jewesses?? Doesnt this also create unhappy half souls in the world, just to steal some succesful dna. Cruel.
So trump bassically is donating his dna through ivanka to the tribe and through some of his sons? What about his soulgroup though doesnt he realize the damage done on a soul level? Are white and jew souls even compatible or doe they create a double soul in 1 body thing where 1 soul tribe just suffers?

The image is a digital graphic with a dark blue background that resembles a swirling galaxy or nebula. At the center of the image, there is a stylized text that reads, "Thank you for contacting the abyss. Your scream is very important to us." The text is in white, and the font is bold and slightly distressed, giving it a cartoonish appearance.
In the lower right corner of the image, there is a small, stylized image of a green frog with a red tongue sticking out. The frog appears to be in a dynamic pose, as if it is jumping or dancing. The frog's eyes are wide open, and its mouth is slightly open, adding to the playful and exaggerated nature of the image. The frog's color is a vibrant green, contrasting with the dark blue background.
The overall style of the image is whimsical and playful, with a sense of humor and a touch of whimsy. The text and the frog image are the main elements, and they are positioned in a way that draws the viewer's attention to the message conveyed by the text. The use of the frog image adds a playful element to the message, suggesting that the text is meant to be humorous or entertaining.

The Asatru groups are larpers and muddy the old ways. The Æsir are gods of the Aryan and are a reverence to the apotheosis gained by their ancestors from the last cycle of seasons of the world tree. The Vanir are Atlantean and are Gaelic-Celtic and had acheived apotheosis as well. The unification of both is the alliance of Northern European ancestry, along with a reverence to the forces of nature of the Jotnär (sometimes aiding sometimes fought against). To understand the mysteries of the eddas you must walk the path of the Einherjar, to understand the frequency and vibration of our plane and follow the roads walked by the Gods who are our ancestors. The legends have morals and deeper meanings to be gleaned by observation and disection and seiðr works when used by women who don't direct the frequency of the runes to a particular patron but toward the force of intention and assumption that flows through our plane. Follow the nine virtues of courage, truth, honour, loyalty, discipline, self-reliance, perseverance, and industrioussness and apply them to your daily life and routine, and respect the unseen around you. Don't buy into any dogma or false representations of the Gods or the folk. I wish you luck and many personal revelations.

A fine take, the beings of nature are not to be worshipped but appeased and tolerated when peaceful, opposed and weathered when not. The blizzard does not care for worship.
The Gods live in you and the ordered chaos of nature does as well. As is said in the poem of the three brothers breathing life into man and woman: Odin breathes the ørlög or wyrd and animus, Loðurr (Loki of Jotnär) the gift of speech and hearing and sight, and Hœnir (Njord of Vanir) the breath of life. Without all three we are nothing, as without our ancestors we would not be here. Within us is the gifts of destiny and it is up to us to use them to walk our paths toward apotheosis to be as them and opose evil and tyrannical domination.

I personally have no favourite rune, that may seem like a cop out answer but it is the truth of the matter. Each has its own special place, even the lack of a rune in silence. You are using the rune of mannaz properly, meditate on it's lines as you form it, let it synchronize with your body's rhythm. Each rune must be used by men in such a way, for seiðr is fickle and does not want to be ordered but asked, not directed but listened to. Patience and understanding is the lesson of runes, insight towards the heart beat of our realm and our purpose within it. We have the blessing and curse of consciousness and it is our want to understand it and overcome our shortcomings. You are in the steps of your forebears and they walk with you on this path, because you are them, the runes will help you be them and help your children be you. Your divine spark stirs and I wish you glory and luck in your journey as a fledgling Einherjar.

You said you aren't "fully" white which implies you do have at least some European ancestry, so I'd say yes

Gods aren't as racially exclusive as people think, either, so even if you weren't white at all they would probably still be willing to work with you as long as you were respectful

I did not touch on prayer in my previous posts, but the attention of the Gods should only be aspired to when your great works are at hand. They are not there to be pestered with requests when the strength is within you, so calling upon them should be to show them something to be proud of. A success in your endeavors, a pregnancy, your approaching victory or impending death. To show your failures as well to not hide them from them, but to show your attempt and your stubbornness to try harder and willingness to learn from what went wrong. Directed intention should be towards our realm of existence and the latent energy therein, the runes as stated earlier anchor those intentions but are not necessary for low-vibration intentions. Simply being aware of the power of sunshine and moonlight on your skin, the feeling of the dirt at your feet or the water running around you, the electricity of a storm and in the dance of aurora. Ground yourself in the realm and do glorious and virtuous deeds, then bring their attention to you so they can be proud parents or supportive elders.

Seek the truth and you shall find it . But when the enemy comes with terror and despair call on Jesus Christ and he will save you no matter the odds just believe him he can do it nothing is impossible for God and repent . Do not persist in willful sin . And when you inevitably do fall do not let the demons convince you that it's over that God will not forgive you now . They are lying . Ask God for his mercy . you have the wrong idea about the brain entirely. It looks fragile, inside of a head, yet allows for complex contstruction and nuturing of some of the most sophisticated neural hardware known to the hamburger kingdom.

You can't make an omlette without getting a concussion first, is what my coach used to say about the power of winning and the denial of liabilities.

Believe instead that you aren't stupid enough destroy your brain's ability to repair trauma, and wear a fucking helmet before playing the black out game.

Anyway, unless you know what your doing, this is all just financial advice.

among other practices, fasting has long been in the repertoire of mystical experiences maybe it's the low blood sugar triggering visions, not sure mystics also secluded themselves in remote locations like dark caves
i personally favor the sensory deprivation technique the effects are almost like long meditation there's no reason why you can't combine techniques though fasting + meditation + seclusion + sensory deprivation + some kind of repetitive act like mantra or drumbeat

The image is a black and white graphic with a title at the top that reads "Signs For Protection." Below the title, there is a list of symbols with descriptions, each accompanied by a symbol that represents the corresponding sign. The symbols are arranged in a grid format, with each row representing a different sign and each column representing a different element or attribute associated with the sign.
Starting from the top left, the first symbol is a circle with a cross inside it, which is often associated with protection. Below it, there is a symbol with a pentagram inside a circle, which is commonly used to represent protection from the elements. To the right of this, there is a symbol with a pentagram inside a circle, which is also associated with protection from the elements.
The second row starts with a symbol with a pentagram inside a circle, which is associated with protection from the elements. Next to it, there is a symbol with a pentagram inside a circle, which is associated with protection from the elements. The third symbol in this row is a pentagram inside a circle, which is associated with protection from the elements.
The fourth row starts with a symbol with a pentagram inside a circle, which is associated with protection from the elements. Next to it, there is a symbol with a pentagram inside a circle, which is associated with protection from the elements. The fifth symbol in this row is a pentagram inside a circle, which is associated with protection from the elements.
The sixth row starts with a symbol with a pentagram inside a circle, which is associated with protection from the elements. Next to it, there is a symbol with a pentagram inside a circle, which is associated with protection from the elements. The seventh symbol in this row is a pentagram inside a circle, which is associated with protection from the elements.
The eighth row starts with a symbol with a pentagram inside a circle, which is associated with protection from the elements. Next to it, there is a symbol with a pentagram inside a circle, which is associated with protection from the elements. The ninth symbol in this row is a pentagram inside a circle, which is associated with protection from the elements.

The tenth symbol in the row is a pentagram inside a circle, which is associated with protection from the elements. The eleventh symbol in the row is a pentagram inside a circle, which is associated with protection from the elements. The twelfth symbol in the row is a pentagram inside a circle, which is associated with protection from the elements.
The last row starts with a symbol with a pentagram inside a circle, which is associated with protection from the elements. Next to it, there is a symbol with a pentagram inside a circle, which is associated with protection from the elements. The last symbol in the row is a pentagram inside a circle, which is associated with protection from the elements.
The image is a simple and clear representation of the various signs associated with protection, with each symbol representing a different element or attribute. The text at the top of the image provides a brief explanation of each symbol, which is helpful for understanding the purpose of each sign.

It is Kali the goddess of rebellion against God and feminism and chaos and revenge. According to actual Aryans who still acknowledge spiritual life we currently live in the age of Kali which is kind of like the end times. It is a time characterized by abandoning legitimate spiritual life for made up delusions and atheism, effeminate men, and masculine women. It is a time of suffering, chaos, war, maliciousness, and feminism. Blood is streaming from her mouth from the adulterated, fallen men she has seduced and killed and eaten and she is depicted with their heads in a necklace or holding them.

In the Bible she is referred to as Asherah or Ashtoreth. She has also been referred to as Ceres and other fertility goddesses by other names. It is all the same eternal concept and person. The people who try to frame her as good, divine feminine, or fertility goddess are deceived and delusional. It is literally devil worship. She is the queen of breeding like cats and dogs, prostitution, single motherhood, adultery, deception, witchcraft, and seduction. She is the 'wife' and slave of Satan. She is the spirit over Eve's rebellion and death and the spirit enslaving most people today, especially women, with the 'men' underneath them. Angelic conflict is real and demons are real.

This is intentionally mocking the virgin Mary who is the restored Eve, with Kali or Lillith or Asherah being the inverse of that. They are depicting victory over God and Christ with Christ trapped in hell and being lorded over. This is how they attack God, by attacking God's image through you. They have sex with the adulterated image of Mary in front of you while you masturbate. Content creators worship Satan and mock God. If you are still unrepentant and love sin and sexual immorality then you still live under them as slaves. You are consenting to let demons have authority over you. This is what is happening to you when you disobey God.

Genetic & Cosmic Symbology
22 Letters & 22 Chromosomes:
The 22 Hebrew letters (divine building blocks) mirror the 22 pairs of human chromosomes.
The 23rd (X/Y) aligns with the "hard spark" (Lilith) as the variable factor.
Linear Spheroid/Tree:
When light poured into the vacancy, it formed a linear-spherical structure (like the Tree of Life or DNA helix).

Ties God’s glory (kavod), knowledge (da’at), and the structure of existence to the interplay of light/restriction.
Suggests Lilith’s role is foundational—not evil, but necessary for creation’s framework.

The hard spark = Lilith = the force of decay/transformation within the Tzimtzum.
Circular (Adam Kadmon) + Linear (Tree of Life) structures reflect cosmic and biological patterns.
Death/blackness is not evil but a divine mechanism for existence.

Lilith’s Identity:
Wife of Adam Kadmon; embodies death/blackness (decay = turning black).
Symbolized by mitochondria (controls cell death) and circular DNA.
Mitochondrial Eve:
Scientific "Mt-Eve" (most recent common matrilineal ancestor) traces to Ethiopia/Africa.
Links to Lilith as Kushite/Ethiopian (Zohar’s "black but comely" allegory).
4. Numerical Mysteries & Divine Patterns
Mitochondrial Genes:
37 genes = numerical value of יָכַל ("yachal" – to endure/contain).
13 polypeptides = 13 attributes of mercy (Zohar’s "Lily among thorns").
Cosmic Blueprint:
Linear light (22 letters) human DNA (22 chromosomes) circular mitochondria (22 tRNA).

This poster has it closest to what I would say.

Lilith is the unseen architect of the veil. The thinking and perceiving component of the unconscious mind. The primordial maternal, history is an unbroken of wombs. She will help you, but for the weak would rather smother, engulf, immolate, reduce you to ashes she can devour, before she would experience the fear of losing her children. She has no true children, yet many children. She is like Lamashtu, rampaging and in despair having no children of her own.

All the BDSM sex succubus goddess stuff is tacked on by literalists. It's an artifact of the encoding. Made up.

I would also liken her to Selene and Endymion, the latter put into eternal sleep and Selene visits him in his dreams. Just as a child has to individuate from their first mother, they also must become aware of and individuate from Lilith. The unseen primordial mother of the sensory reality.

If you consider the world to be an animated corpse, then yes. The encoding has to do with her trying to be "on top", being cast out (separation of the brain hemispheres and inversion), then refusing to return. Buried under the red sea be 3 angles.

The image shows a close-up of a mask with a smiling expression. The mask has a light brown color and is intricately carved with detailed facial features. The eyes are large and round, and the mouth is open in a cheerful manner. The mask has a carved design on the forehead, which includes a stylized face with a smiling expression. The background is out of focus, emphasizing the mask. There are no texts or discernible brands visible in the image. The style of the image is a straightforward, non-stylized photograph, likely intended to showcase the mask's design and craftsmanship.

The image displays two pages from a book or publication, both of which are written in a language that appears to be Latin or a related script. The left page is titled "Lilith" and contains text in English, while the right page is titled "The Royal Seal and Single Key of Lilith" and contains text in Latin. The text on the left page is dense and technical, discussing the "Queen of Slaves and the French Half-Sons," the "Ministry of the Thorns of the Black Moon and Goddess of the Black Moon," and the "Lilith in the Goddess of the Black Moon." The right page is more concise, with a circular symbol at the center and a paragraph of text below it. The symbols on the right page are complex, featuring a pentagram with a cross and a crescent moon, and a star with a crescent moon and a cross. The text on the right page is in Latin, and it is followed by a section titled "Glyphic Symbols of Lilith." The page numbers "10" and "11" are visible at the bottom of the left page, indicating that this is likely the first and second pages of the book. The overall style of the image is that of a book or publication, with a focus on the text and symbols.

The image displays a page from a book or publication, featuring two columns of text and two columns of diagrams. The text is in English and appears to be discussing the "Bentley's Hexagrams of the Zodiac." The diagrams are black and white, with each diagram containing a series of symbols and lines that represent various geometric shapes and patterns. The diagrams are arranged in a grid format, with each row containing a different set of symbols and lines. The text and diagrams are presented in a way that suggests a scholarly or academic context, with the diagrams possibly illustrating the meanings or interpretations of the text. The page number "20" is visible at the bottom of the page, indicating that this is likely the second page of the document.

It’s just basic observation skills, they all worship this entity called Lilith, why? For succubus sex or because they are trooned out. If ‘Lilith’ actually is the entity they claim they are and not some trickster parasite looking to con you out of your sexual energy (Prana is the more technical term), then why are they looking to help you out or interact with you? It’s either to enact a will unto Earth or to harvest from you.

Lilith as succubus is human archetype projection. Lilith is Death. That's why she's a whore. Everyone sleeps with death in the end. Medieval texts turned this into literal sex demoness. Now, if Lilith is your destined bride, you better make peace with her.

The image is a stylized, cartoon-like illustration featuring two humanoid figures. The figure on the left is a woman with short black hair, wearing a black top with a collar. She has a serious expression and is looking downward. The figure on the right is a man with a bald head, wearing a white top with no visible features. He is also looking downward, and his expression is neutral.
The background of the image is a vibrant, circular pattern with a gradient of colors ranging from red to purple. The pattern appears to be a tapestry or a wall hanging, and it is set against a plain, light-colored wall. The overall style of the image is reminiscent of a digital art piece or a meme, with a focus on contrasting colors and a surreal, dreamlike atmosphere. There are no texts present in the image.

The image and text are presented in a way that guides the viewer through the understanding of the term "lithopodion" and its historical and modern usage. The use of the term "stone baby" in the text suggests a connection to the concept of a "stone" or "stone-like" baby, which is a common metaphor for a fetus that is not fully developed. The image of the lithopodion further reinforces this connection, as it visually represents the concept of a stone-like baby.

The image is a surrealistic painting that depicts a scene with a woman and multiple animals. The woman, who appears to be elderly, is seated on a rock with a dog standing beside her. The dog is brown with a spotted coat and is wearing a red collar. The woman is wearing a green dress with a plaid pattern. In the background, there are several other animals, including a bird with a green head and a bird with a yellow head, both of which are standing on the ground. The background also features a landscape with a distant view of a cityscape and a large structure resembling a temple or pagoda. The overall color palette of the painting is dominated by greens, blues, and yellows, with the woman's green dress and the bird's head standing out. The style of the painting is reminiscent of the Art Nouveau movement, characterized by its use of organic forms and flowing lines.

At the top of the screen, there is a digital display showing the current balance of the machine, which is 30 credits. Below the display, the game's name, "DAVINCK & DIAMONDS," is prominently displayed in large, bold letters.
The game's interface features a grid of diamond-shaped icons, each with a different color and symbol, indicating the possible outcomes of the game. The icons are arranged in a 3x3 grid, with the top row containing green diamonds, the middle row featuring red diamonds, and the bottom row displaying blue diamonds.
At the bottom of the screen, there are two buttons labeled "WILD" and "X," presumably for the player to choose their next move. The background of the screen is black, which contrasts with the colorful diamond icons and the gold border, making the game's design stand out. The overall style of the image is that of a professional casino slot machine, with a focus on the game's interface and the potential rewards it offers.

The image is a black and white photograph featuring a large, anthropomorphic horse statue. The horse is seated with its legs spread and its head turned to the side, as if it is smiling or laughing. Its body is covered in a layer of what appears to be melted wax or a similar substance, giving it a textured and somewhat grotesque appearance. The horse's eyes are visible, and it has a wide, open mouth, adding to its friendly and approachable demeanor.
The setting is a rustic barn with wooden walls and a wooden floor. There are several objects scattered around the horse, including what looks like a wooden stool and a pile of hay. The lighting in the image is dim, with the horse being the primary source of light, casting shadows and highlighting the texture of the wax-covered horse. The overall mood of the image is eerie and surreal, with the horse statue appearing to be in a state of decay or neglect.

The background of the image is blurred, but it suggests an indoor setting with a wooden floor and a pink wall. The focus of the image is on the person lying on the bed, with the table and its contents in the foreground. There are no discernible texts or logos in the image. The style of the image is candid and appears to be a video recording, capturing a spontaneous moment.

The image is a screenshot from a video game, featuring a character with a long beard and a serious expression. The character is seated on a stone bench, with a basket beside him. The character's eyes are wide open, and he appears to be looking at something or someone off-screen.
Below the character, there is a text box with a green border and a white background. The text reads: "This city's haunted. And you're coming. And you'll see." The text is in a script font, which is commonly used in video games for readability and immersion.
In the top right corner of the image, there is a red button with a white arrow pointing to the right, suggesting an action or a direction the player should take. The background of the image is a dark, possibly dungeon-like environment with stone walls and a faint outline of a structure that could be a temple or a building.
The overall style of the image is reminiscent of a classic adventure game, with a focus on storytelling and character interaction. The use of color and text to convey a sense of mystery and anticipation is typical of such games.

people were commenting on the ethereal nature of it, and it makes you wonder its origin.
i've been inspired to suddenly expend a heap of effort on loreful story picture series until burnout. there's a spirit that commissions them. sometimes it's best to let them wait in the darkness before they organically resurface, so i'm not gonna bother posting them unless asked. gonna let them stew and reappear.
but i wonder what driving force is behind purple plapjak, and since the dog one is new to me, i wonder if the story continues.

You seem to be keenly interested in plapjak. I just so happen to be the creator of the original plapjak, and all of the plapjaks posted to this thread so far.
It has been over a year since the meme took off, but I will occasionally make a new on if I get some inspiration. I still make a new one every now and then if I can think of some new angle (like the dog plapjak for example, I made long after the meme was dead).
You can see this trend in my earliest works, starting with the original being the most basic, then each successive plapjak having some new element, like the mirror, the phone, etc. When the meme blew up, there were a lot of low quality plapjaks created and spammed by crypto shitcoin accounts trying to pump their plapjak coins, but there are some other high quality ones out there not made by me.
The signatures of my style are heavy purple color, a mix of traced scenes and copy pasted stock images, blurring to create depth, and heavy vignette/gradients to give the approximate shadows and shading.
I also made picrel.

huh. pleased to meet you. what stood out about plapjak was while the guy is ashamed and having a moment of lucid self-reflection, even the fat girl is humanized, not a disposable joke. she's shown to have esoteric interests and a job as a waiter. someone whose life has fallen out of control, but she's still a person with a life and interests. then there's the pink hair chick who claims she only slept with 3 guys, so there's this love triangle angle going on.
the whole series seems like a gloomy, feely, self-reflective soap opera thing that doesn't have any particular direction, other than there's a few people with fucked up lives but they carry on.

Sounds like you have seen some plapjaks that are like comic strips, with dialouge bubbles. I am also responsible for those.
I made plapjak during a period of neeting, so I had plenty of time for creative pursuits. I had a vision of making a webcomic about an asocial schizoid trying to get laid on tinder and building a rotation of psychologically damaged women. I'm not a trained artist, so I had to rely on easy techniques like tracing, stock images, and wojak faces to make anything passable. I didn't end up committing to this project, but the comic idea is the reason I made the original plapjak in the first place, and the comic style plapjaks come from the unfinished strips.
The faces are pretty important to the meme, how he is staring expressionlessly and she is unhappy. When I made the first plapjak and posted it, I did not even think about the faces. I simply copied and pasted existing wojak faces onto the trace and didn't even notice the humor until other people pointed out how funny/sad/etc the expressions were. The magic was all accidental, but I did take the feedback into account when making more. There never Picrel is one of my early plapjaks, and it was the first one I tried to insert a message into. It didn't get much attention or reposts, so I went back to making more wojak x fat girl.
Calling it a gloomy, self-reflective soap opera is a good way to put it. I'm glad you can look at all the plapjaks and feel some sense of continuity between them, like they take place in the same world. That would have been the tone of the comic, so it's cool that the ghost of the unfinished project escaped my hard drive and haunts the internet.

The image is a digital illustration featuring a person with a neutral expression, sitting in a relaxed pose with their legs crossed. The person's body is drawn in a simple, cartoon-like style, with a white outline and a light gray fill. The person's head is turned slightly to the side, and their eyes are looking directly at the viewer.
The background of the illustration is a circular, ornate frame with a dark, patterned border. Hanging from the frame are several photographs, each featuring a person with a neutral expression. The photographs are arranged in a circular pattern, with the person in the center of the frame.
In the foreground, there is a table with various items on it. On the table, there are several bottles, a plate with food, and a few other objects that are not clearly distinguishable. The table is situated in front of the circular frame, and the items on the table are closer to the viewer than the person in the illustration.
The overall style of the image is whimsical and playful, with a focus on the person in the illustration and the surrounding objects. The colors used in the illustration are muted, with a predominance of white, gray, and brown tones. The lighting in the image is soft and diffused, casting a warm glow over the scene.

The image is a black and white photograph featuring a woman with a serious expression. She has short, curly hair and is wearing a suit with a flower pinned to the lapel. The background is out of focus, suggesting a dimly lit environment. The woman's gaze is directed straight at the camera, and her expression conveys a sense of concern or worry. There are no discernible texts or additional objects in the image. The style of the photograph is reminiscent of classic film noir, characterized by its use of shadows and low lighting.

it's very interesting how people project their own experiences onto "blank templates". hence why the more generic and undetailed an image is, the more universal and relatable it is. you probably read the Scott McCloud books about psychology of comic books.
i've also made meme type collage images made out of mixed n matched memes and stock photos. i was being guided by some entity during that time, and it would point out little specific details it wanted, and what extra labors i should take to polish the image components to make them nicer, more refined, more readable. one image was quite a hit, the others not so much. of course i thought about "man i could have done the earlier ones way better", but who has time to fix up old meme remixes.
i intend to get going on original hand-drawn traditional art comics, but idk when that'll start up, because i've been so caught up in busy shit irl. i used to get hung up on being impressive, but after things i've learned, i now see the value of genericness, and the importance of sacrificing labor for time. time constraints, time and effort are budgets. not endless, but finite. and to not beat myself up but focus on moving forward instead of trying to refine. i've already made peace that i'll never ever be able to produce a shiny polished smash hit out of the door. gonna be rough storyboards, rough stories. scratchy draft stuff. but if it's legible and finished, if it's sufficient, that's what matters.

character is seated on a couch with a patterned, ornate backrest. The person's hair is dark, and they are wearing a white shirt. In the foreground, there is a blurred figure, possibly another character, with a dark, possibly hooded figure, who is bending over and appears to be holding something. The background is a patterned wall with a circular design, and there is a lamp with a white lampshade visible on the left side of the image. The overall style of the image is reminiscent of a cartoon or comic book illustration, with a focus on character expressions and a sense of mystery.

i might make a few little mini series and one-offs, but i always wanted my own magnum opus. that'll have to sit on the back burner. the way the world is going, that big special project i pour all my soul and learned skills and lessons into might be my swan song. until then i'd largely focus on comedy, cringe, and a bit of horror in unexpected places. generally a lighthearted romp with a few feelsy moments and a few spooks here and there. big focus on absurdism.

On the left, there is a person with a bald head, wearing a dark-colored shirt, and their hands are placed on their heads, as if in contemplation or shock. The person's face is partially obscured by their hands. On the right, there is a figure with a beard and a mustache, wearing a dark-colored robe. This figure is smiling broadly, with a wide grin and a wide-open mouth. The background is dark, with a stone wall and a circular object that appears to be a crystal ball with a colorful pattern. The overall style of the image is cartoonish and expressive, with a focus on the expressions and gestures of the characters. There are no texts present in the image.

Well deserved, man. I can oddly relate to the concept despite never having a fat GF or much of problem dating. It's one of those scenarios one of your drinking buddies talks about, you know, the "wtf, dude" dude and his head-scratching adventures in the fairer sex, lmao. Had a nigga once that said he tapped a quad amputee chick once - said it was like flipping a burrito, lmao.

The image shows a close-up of a stone sculpture with a face-like structure. The sculpture appears to be made of a grayish stone, and it has a rough texture. Two owls are perched inside the sculpture's eyes, with their heads visible through the holes. The owls have a brownish-gray coloration with white markings on their faces. The background of the image is blurred, but it suggests an outdoor setting with a natural environment, possibly a stone wall or a rock formation. There are no texts or discernible brands in the image. The style of the image is a close-up photograph with a focus on the details of the sculpture and the owls.

Giannetto De Rossi was a highly underrated visual makeup F/X artist. His work on Dune (1984) bares the closest resemblance to his. highly-realistic effects. Rick Baker or Tom Savini doesn't even come close, brah. Emanuelle in America (1977) (That brutal snuff movie scene), Fulci's City of the Living Dead (1980) (the organ-retching scene in particular), The Beyond (1981) are other standouts of his expertise. The image is a screenshot from a video game, specifically a survival horror game, as indicated by the pixelated graphics and the presence of a character with a shocked expression. The character is shown emerging from a dark, rocky cave with a large, ominous shadow looming behind it. The character's face is distorted with a red hue, and the eyes are wide open, suggesting shock or fear. The character is wearing a simple outfit with no discernible features, and the game's interface is visible at the bottom of the image, displaying a series of numbers and a red heart, which are likely indicators of the player's health or other game-related data. The overall atmosphere of the image is tense and eerie, typical of a survival horror game.

The image shows a close-up of a humanoid figure with a head and neck, which appears to be a silicone or plastic model. The figure has a smooth, light brown skin tone and is wearing a headpiece that covers the forehead and part of the face. The headpiece has a small, circular opening at the top, which is likely for the eyes. The eyes are large and have a reflective surface, possibly made of plastic or glass. The figure's mouth is open, revealing a pink tongue. The background is blurred, but it seems to be an indoor setting with a white wall and some objects that are not clearly visible. The style of the image is a straightforward, non-artistic photograph with no visible text.

The image depicts a forest scene with a central focus on a circular opening in the dense foliage. The opening is surrounded by a variety of trees, some of which are partially obscured by the foliage, creating a sense of depth and mystery. The trees are a mix of coniferous and deciduous types, with the coniferous trees having a more dense and upright appearance, while the deciduous trees have a more sprawling and rounded form. The ground is covered with grass and small plants, adding to the natural and serene atmosphere of the scene. The sky is not visible in the image, which emphasizes the forest canopy and the circular opening. There are no texts or discernible human-made objects in the image. The style of the image is a realistic photograph with a focus on natural elements and the interplay of light and shadow within the forest setting.

it was a slide-show style animation, with graphics done in a very primitive 3D animation style (primitive shapes, and low resolution textures or just solid colors on objects).
im a bit foggy on the story itself, but from what i remember it goes something like this:
The story starts with an outside view of a house.
We then go to a boy sitting in a kitchen, along with his mother. it appears to be the boys birthday.
The mother begins to cut the birthday cake, and i very vividly remember some text of the boy thinking >"god, i wish she would cut me like that".
After that the next thing i remember is them both looking out a window, to see a man walking towards the house, and then breaking in through the window.
from here on it gets kinda foggy, but i rememebr the gif goes on a weird kinda "trippy" sequence, with the house itself disassembling, and the world turning black.
i then think a light appears in the darkness, and we walk towards it.
When we enter the light, we again se the house from the outside, but we are now from the perspective of the boy, who walks towards the house, and sees himself and his mother inside. i then think we break in again, leading to a looping timeline.
does literally anyone else remember ever having seen something like this?

The image is a photograph taken from an aerial perspective, capturing a small village nestled in a hilly landscape. The village is densely populated with houses, predominantly in shades of red and brown, with some white and gray houses interspersed. The houses are closely packed together, suggesting a close-knit community. The surrounding area is lush with greenery, with trees and shrubs dotting the landscape, providing a natural backdrop to the village. The sky above is overcast, casting a soft, diffused light over the scene. There are no discernible texts or distinctive markings that provide additional context or information about the location. The image is a realistic representation of a rural setting, with no signs of human activity or movement.

The image is a stylized, cartoon-like illustration of a character with a large, furry head. The character has a neutral expression with closed eyes and a slightly frowning mouth. The fur on the character's head appears to be thick and brown, and the character's eyes are not visible. The character's facial features are simple and do not include any discernible features such as a nose, mouth, or eyes. The background of the image is a solid, dark color, which contrasts with the character's fur and makes the character stand out. There are no texts or additional elements in the image. The style of the image is reminiscent of a meme or a cartoon, with a focus on the character's facial expression and the texture of the fur.

The image is a photograph capturing a group of individuals dressed in traditional Native American attire. They are standing on a sandy ground with a backdrop of a mountainous landscape. The individuals are adorned with elaborate headdresses, feathers, and decorative items, which are predominantly in shades of red, yellow, and white. The headdresses are intricately designed, featuring feathers and other decorative elements. The individuals are also wearing traditional clothing, which includes items such as belts, leggings, and boots.
The photograph is taken from a low angle, which emphasizes the height of the headdresses and gives a sense of grandeur to the figures. The lighting is natural, with the sun casting shadows on the ground, adding depth to the scene. The image is watermarked with "Kathleen Soterio Photography," indicating the photographer's name and the source of the image. The overall composition of the image suggests a cultural or ceremonial event, with the individuals possibly participating in a traditional dance or ceremony.

The image shows a section of a rock wall with a detailed ancient painting. The painting depicts a group of figures, which appear to be human figures, standing in a line. The figures are depicted in a stylized manner, with some figures having elongated limbs and others with more rounded forms. The figures are wearing clothing that is not clearly visible due to the angle and the painting's style. The background of the painting is a reddish-brown color, which contrasts with the lighter color of the figures. The painting is in a style that is reminiscent of ancient rock art, with a focus on the figures and a lack of detail in the background. The image is taken from a perspective that shows the painting in the foreground, with the rock wall and the surrounding landscape in the background. There are no texts or discernible markings on the painting that provide additional information. The image is a photograph, and the lighting and color saturation suggest it was taken in natural daylight.

- "laughter turns to confusion"
- "that's an onion, buddy..."
- "I'll like it"
- "adults all visibly disappointed"
- "Fate's die was cast, Halloween 1995."
The text is in a casual, conversational tone, and the humor is evident in the use of words like "caramel onion" and "candied onion," which are not commonly used in everyday conversation. The image is a screenshot from a Reddit post, which is a social media platform where users share and discuss various topics. The post seems to be a humorous commentary on the Halloween holiday and its traditions, referencing a popular meme from 1995.

The image shows a vertical skeleton of a deer, with its head and upper body protruding from a narrow crevice in a rocky cliff. The deer's bones are exposed, with the skull and vertebrae clearly visible. The bones are arranged in a way that suggests the deer was standing upright, with the head and neck protruding from the crevice. The background consists of a rocky cliff with patches of grass and lichen, and the sky is visible at the top of the image. The lighting suggests it is either early morning or late afternoon, as the shadows are elongated and the light is soft. There are no texts or discernible brands in the image. The style of the image is a close-up photograph with a focus on the natural elements and the human-made structure of the deer's skeleton.

The image depicts a room filled with various objects, including what appears to be a collection of animal carcasses, human body parts, and other assorted items. The room has a rustic and somewhat eerie atmosphere, with a white brick wall and a ceiling with exposed beams. On the left side of the image, there is a large, grotesque figure with a pointed, horned head, resembling a creature from a horror movie. This figure is holding a large, bloody knife. To the right, there is a figure with a humanoid head, wearing a hood and holding a similar knife. The room is cluttered with various objects, including what looks like a wooden carving of a bird, a large, carved animal head, and other items that are not clearly identifiable. The style of the image is a close-up photograph with a focus on the details of the room and the objects within it. There is no visible text in the image.

The image is a black and white illustration that depicts a scene of a person's foot being bound with a rope. The foot is positioned in the center of the image, with the rope wrapped around it, suggesting a form of restraint or constraint. The person's toes are visible, with the tips of their nails pointing upwards, indicating a sense of struggle or pain. The background is a simple, unadorned wall, with a faint outline of a person's arm and a portion of a tree visible at the top right corner. At the bottom of the image, the text "The End" is written in a bold, capitalized font, suggesting that the illustration is the conclusion or the end of a story or narrative. The style of the illustration is reminiscent of early 20th-century woodcut or linocut prints, characterized by its detailed linework and the use of black and white colors.

The image is a screenshot of a webpage with a title that reads "A lithopodion: from Ancient Greek 'lithopodion' to modern 'stone baby'". Below the title, there is a paragraph that explains the meaning of the term "lithopodion". The text is in English and discusses the etymology of the term, its use in ancient Greek, and its modern usage.
The image and text are presented in a way that guides the viewer through the understanding of the term "lithopodion" and its historical and modern usage. The use of the term "stone baby" in the text suggests a connection to the concept of a "stone" or "stone-like" baby, which is a common metaphor for a fetus that is not fully developed. The image of the lithopodion further reinforces this connection, as it visually represents the concept of a stone-like baby.

The image is a surrealistic painting that depicts a scene with a woman and multiple animals. The woman, who appears to be elderly, is seated on a rock with a dog standing beside her. The dog is brown with a spotted coat and is wearing a red collar. The woman is wearing a green dress with a plaid pattern. In the background, there are several other animals, including a bird with a green head and a bird with a yellow head, both of which are standing on the ground. The background also features a landscape with a distant view of a cityscape and a large structure resembling a temple or pagoda. The overall color palette of the painting is dominated by greens, blues, and yellows, with the woman's green dress and the bird's head standing out. The style of the painting is reminiscent of the Art Nouveau movement, characterized by its use of organic forms and flowing lines.

The game's interface features a grid of diamond-shaped icons, each with a different color and symbol, indicating the possible outcomes of the game. The icons are arranged in a 3x3 grid, with the top row containing green diamonds, the middle row featuring red diamonds, and the bottom row displaying blue diamonds.
At the bottom of the screen, there are two buttons labeled "WILD" and "X," presumably for the player to choose their next move. The background of the screen is black, which contrasts with the colorful diamond icons and the gold border, making the game's design stand out. The overall style of the image is that of a professional casino slot machine, with a focus on the game's interface and the potential rewards it offers.

The image is a black and white photograph featuring a large, anthropomorphic horse statue. The horse is seated with its legs spread and its head turned to the side, as if it is smiling or laughing. Its body is covered in a layer of what appears to be melted wax or a similar substance, giving it a textured and somewhat grotesque appearance. The horse's eyes are visible, and it has a wide, open mouth, adding to its friendly and approachable demeanor.
The setting is a rustic barn with wooden walls and a wooden floor. There are several objects scattered around the horse, including what looks like a wooden stool and a pile of hay. The lighting in the image is dim, with the horse being the primary source of light, casting shadows and highlighting the texture of the wax-covered horse. The overall mood of the image is eerie and surreal, with the horse statue appearing to be in a state of decay or neglect.

To the right of the bed, there is a white table with various items on it. On the table, there are several objects including a blue bottle, a white cup, and a small black object that appears to be a toy or a small object with a blue base.
The background of the image is blurred, but it suggests an indoor setting with a wooden floor and a pink wall. The focus of the image is on the person lying on the bed, with the table and its contents in the foreground. There are no discernible texts or logos in the image. The style of the image is candid and appears to be a video recording, capturing a spontaneous moment.

The image is a screenshot from a video game, featuring a character with a long beard and a serious expression. The character is seated on a stone bench, with a basket beside him. The character's eyes are wide open, and he appears to be looking at something or someone off-screen.
Below the character, there is a text box with a green border and a white background. The text reads: "This city's haunted. And you're coming. And you'll see." The text is in a script font, which is commonly used in video games for readability and immersion.
In the top right corner of the image, there is a red button with a white arrow pointing to the right, suggesting an action or a direction the player should take. The background of the image is a dark, possibly dungeon-like environment with stone walls and a faint outline of a structure that could be a temple or a building.
The overall style of the image is reminiscent of a classic adventure game, with a focus on storytelling and character interaction. The use of color and text to convey a sense of mystery and anticipation is typical of such games.

people were commenting on the ethereal nature of it, and it makes you wonder its origin.
i've been inspired to suddenly expend a heap of effort on loreful story picture series until burnout. there's a spirit that commissions them. sometimes it's best to let them wait in the darkness before they organically resurface, so i'm not gonna bother posting them unless asked. gonna let them stew and reappear.
but i wonder what driving force is behind purple plapjak, and since the dog one is new to me, i wonder if the story continues.

You seem to be keenly interested in plapjak. I just so happen to be the creator of the original plapjak, and all of the plapjaks posted to this thread so far.
It has been over a year since the meme took off, but I will occasionally make a new on if I get some inspiration. I still make a new one every now and then if I can think of some new angle (like the dog plapjak for example, I made long after the meme was dead).
You can see this trend in my earliest works, starting with the original being the most basic, then each successive plapjak having some new element, like the mirror, the phone, etc. When the meme blew up, there were a lot of low quality plapjaks created and spammed by crypto shitcoin accounts trying to pump their plapjak coins, but there are some other high quality ones out there not made by me.
The signatures of my style are heavy purple color, a mix of traced scenes and copy pasted stock images, blurring to create depth, and heavy vignette/gradients to give the approximate shadows and shading.
I also made picrel.

huh. pleased to meet you. what stood out about plapjak was while the guy is ashamed and having a moment of lucid self-reflection, even the fat girl is humanized, not a disposable joke. she's shown to have esoteric interests and a job as a waiter. someone whose life has fallen out of control, but she's still a person with a life and interests. then there's the pink hair chick who claims she only slept with 3 guys, so there's this love triangle angle going on.
the whole series seems like a gloomy, feely, self-reflective soap opera thing that doesn't have any particular direction, other than there's a few people with fucked up lives but they carry on.

Sounds like you have seen some plapjaks that are like comic strips, with dialouge bubbles. I am also responsible for those.
I made plapjak during a period of neeting, so I had plenty of time for creative pursuits. I had a vision of making a webcomic about an asocial schizoid trying to get laid on tinder and building a rotation of psychologically damaged women. I'm not a trained artist, so I had to rely on easy techniques like tracing, stock images, and wojak faces to make anything passable. I didn't end up committing to this project, but the comic idea is the reason I made the original plapjak in the first place, and the comic style plapjaks come from the unfinished strips.
The faces are pretty important to the meme, how he is staring expressionlessly and she is unhappy. When I made the first plapjak and posted it, I did not even think about the faces. I simply copied and pasted existing wojak faces onto the trace and didn't even notice the humor until other people pointed out how funny/sad/etc the expressions were.

The magic was all accidental, but I did take the feedback into account when making more. There never Picrel is one of my early plapjaks, and it was the first one I tried to insert a message into. It didn't get much attention or reposts, so I went back to making more wojak x fat girl.

Calling it a gloomy, self-reflective soap opera is a good way to put it. I'm glad you can look at all the plapjaks and feel some sense of continuity between them, like they take place in the same world. That would have been the tone of the comic, so it's cool that the ghost of the unfinished project escaped my hard drive and haunts the internet.

The image is a digital illustration featuring a person with a neutral expression, sitting in a relaxed pose with their legs crossed. The person's body is drawn in a simple, cartoon-like style, with a white outline and a light gray fill. The person's head is turned slightly to the side, and their eyes are looking directly at the viewer.

The background of the illustration is a circular, ornate frame with a dark, patterned border. Hanging from the frame are several photographs, each featuring a person with a neutral expression. The photographs are arranged in a circular pattern, with the person in the center of the frame.

In the foreground, there is a table with various items on it. On the table, there are several bottles, a plate with food, and a few other objects that are not clearly distinguishable. The table is situated in front of the circular frame, and the items on the table are closer to the viewer than the person in the illustration.

The overall style of the image is whimsical and playful, with a focus on the person in the illustration and the surrounding objects. The colors used in the illustration are muted, with a predominance of white, gray, and brown tones. The lighting in the image is soft and diffused, casting a warm glow over the scene.

The image is a black and white photograph featuring a woman with a serious expression. She has short, curly hair and is wearing a suit with a flower pinned to the lapel. The background is out of focus, suggesting a dimly lit environment. The woman's gaze is directed straight at the camera, and her expression conveys a sense of concern or worry. There are no discernible texts or additional objects in the image. The style of the photograph is reminiscent of classic film noir, characterized by its use of shadows and low lighting.

it's very interesting how people project their own experiences onto "blank templates". hence why the more generic and undetailed an image is, the more universal and relatable it is. you probably read the Scott McCloud books about psychology of comic books.
i've also made meme type collage images made out of mixed n matched memes and stock photos. i was being guided by some entity during that time, and it would point out little specific details it wanted, and what extra labors i should take to polish the image components to make them nicer, more refined, more readable. one image was quite a hit, the others not so much. of course i thought about "man i could have done the earlier ones way better", but who has time to fix up old meme remixes.
i intend to get going on original hand-drawn traditional art comics, but idk when that'll start up, because i've been so caught up in busy shit irl. i used to get hung up on being impressive, but after things i've learned, i now see the value of genericness, and the importance of sacrificing labor for time. time constraints, time and effort are budgets. not endless, but finite. and to not beat myself up but focus on moving forward instead of trying to refine. i've already made peace that i'll never ever be able to produce a shiny polished smash hit out of the door. gonna be rough storyboards, rough stories. scratchy draft stuff. but if it's legible and finished, if it's sufficient, that's what matters.

The image is a digital illustration with a dark, moody color palette. It features a character with a white face and a bald head, who appears to be looking off to the side. The character is seated on a couch with a patterned, ornate backrest. The person's hair is dark, and they are wearing a white shirt. In the foreground, there is a blurred figure, possibly another character, with a dark, possibly hooded figure, who is bending over and appears to be holding something. The background is a patterned wall with a circular design, and there is a lamp with a white lampshade visible on the left side of the image. The overall style of the image is reminiscent of a cartoon or comic book illustration, with a focus on character expressions and a sense of mystery.

i might make a few little mini series and one-offs, but i always wanted my own magnum opus. that'll have to sit on the back burner. the way the world is going, that big special project i pour all my soul and learned skills and lessons into might be my swan song. until then i'd largely focus on comedy, cringe, and a bit of horror in unexpected places. generally a lighthearted romp with a few feelsy moments and a few spooks here and there. big focus on absurdism.

The image is a stylized cartoon illustration featuring two characters. On the left, there is a person with a bald head, wearing a dark-colored shirt, and their hands are placed on their heads, as if in contemplation or shock. The person's face is partially obscured by their hands. On the right, there is a figure with a beard and a mustache, wearing a dark-colored robe. This figure is smiling broadly, with a wide grin and a wide-open mouth. The background is dark, with a stone wall and a circular object that appears to be a crystal ball with a colorful pattern. The overall style of the image is cartoonish and expressive, with a focus on the expressions and gestures of the characters. There are no texts present in the image.

The image shows a close-up of a stone sculpture with a face-like structure. The sculpture appears to be made of a grayish stone, and it has a rough texture. Two owls are perched inside the sculpture's eyes, with their heads visible through the holes. The owls have a brownish-gray coloration with white markings on their faces. The background of the image is blurred, but it suggests an outdoor setting with a natural environment, possibly a stone wall or a rock formation. There are no texts or discernible brands in the image. The style of the image is a close-up photograph with a focus on the details of the sculpture and the owls.

be in a dreamlike state. There are no discernible texts in the image.

Giannetto De Rossi was a highly underrated visual makeup F/X artist. His work on Dune (1984) bares the closest resemblance to his. highly-realistic effects. Rick Baker or Tom Savini doesn't even come close, brah. Emanuelle in America (1977) (That brutal snuff movie scene), Fulci's City of the Living Dead (1980) (the organ-retching scene in particular), The Beyond (1981) are other standouts of his expertise. Just felt it needed to be known

The image is a screenshot from a video game, specifically a survival horror game, as indicated by the pixelated graphics and the presence of a character with a shocked expression. The character is shown emerging from a dark, rocky cave with a large, ominous shadow looming behind it. The character's face is distorted with a red hue, and the eyes are wide open, suggesting shock or fear. The character is wearing a simple outfit with no discernible features, and the game's interface is visible at the bottom of the image, displaying a series of numbers and a red heart, which are likely indicators of the player's health or other game-related data. The overall atmosphere of the image is tense and eerie, typical of a survival horror game.

The image shows a close-up of a humanoid figure with a head and neck, which appears to be a silicone or plastic model. The figure has a smooth, light brown skin tone and is wearing a headpiece that covers the forehead and part of the face. The headpiece has a small, circular opening at the top, which is likely for the eyes. The eyes are large and have a reflective surface, possibly made of plastic or glass. The figure's mouth is open, revealing a pink tongue. The background is blurred, but it seems to be an indoor setting with a white wall and some objects that are not clearly visible. The style of the image is a straightforward, non-artistic photograph with no visible text.

it was a slide-show style animation, with graphics done in a very primitive 3D animation style (primitive shapes, and low resolution textures or just solid colors on objects).
im a bit foggy on the story itself, but from what i remember it goes something like this:
The story starts with an outside view of a house.
We then go to a boy sitting in a kitchen, along with his mother. it appears to be the boys birthday.
The mother begins to cut the birthday cake, and i very vividly remember some text of the boy thinking >"god, i wish she would cut me like that".
from here on it gets kinda foggy, but i rememebr the gif goes on a weird kinda "trippy" sequence, with the house itself disassembling, and the world turning black.
i then think a light appears in the darkness, and we walk towards it.
When we enter the light, we again se the house from the outside, but we are now from the perspective of the boy, who walks towards the house, and sees himself and his mother inside. i then think we break in again, leading to a looping timeline.
does literally anyone else remember ever having seen something like this?

The image is a photograph taken from an aerial perspective, capturing a small village nestled in a hilly landscape. The village is densely populated with houses, predominantly in shades of red and brown, with some white and gray houses interspersed. The houses are closely packed together, suggesting a close-knit community. The surrounding area is lush with greenery, with trees and shrubs dotting the landscape, providing a natural backdrop to the village. The sky above is overcast, casting a soft, diffused light over the scene. There are no discernible texts or distinctive markings that provide additional context or information about the location. The image is a realistic representation of a rural setting, with no signs of human activity or movement.

The image is a stylized, cartoon-like illustration of a character with a large, furry head. The character has a neutral expression with closed eyes and a slightly frowning mouth. The fur on the character's head appears to be thick and brown, and the character's eyes are not visible. The character's facial features are simple and do not include any discernible features such as a nose, mouth, or eyes. The background of the image is a solid, dark color, which contrasts with the character's fur and makes the character stand out. There are no texts or additional elements in the image. The style of the image is reminiscent of a meme or a cartoon, with a focus on the character's facial expression and the texture of the fur.

The image is a photograph capturing a group of individuals dressed in traditional Native American attire. They are standing on a sandy ground with a backdrop of a mountainous landscape. The individuals are adorned with elaborate headdresses, feathers, and decorative items, which are predominantly in shades of red, yellow, and white. The headdresses are intricately designed, featuring feathers and other decorative elements. The individuals are also wearing traditional clothing, which includes items such as belts, leggings, and boots.
The photograph is taken from a low angle, which emphasizes the height of the headdresses and gives a sense of grandeur to the figures. The lighting is natural, with the sun casting shadows on the ground, adding depth to the scene. The image is watermarked with "Kathleen Soterio Photography," indicating the photographer's name and the source of the image. The overall composition of the image suggests a cultural or ceremonial event, with the individuals possibly participating in a traditional dance or ceremony.

The image shows a wooden sculpture of a figure, which appears to be a Native American or indigenous figure, standing on a circular base. The figure is adorned with a colorful, geometric pattern on its clothing and a similar pattern on its skirt. The figure's face is painted with bold, expressive features, including a large, expressive mouth and a prominent nose. The figure is holding a small, green object in its left hand, which could be a tool or a decorative item. The background is blurred, but it suggests a setting that includes a woven basket or mat, which is partially visible. The style of the image is a close-up photograph, focusing on the details of the sculpture and the surrounding environment. There are no visible texts on the image.

The image shows a section of a rock wall with a detailed ancient painting. The painting depicts a group of figures, which appear to be human figures, standing in a line. The figures are depicted in a stylized manner, with some figures having elongated limbs and others with more rounded forms. The figures are wearing clothing that is not clearly visible due to the angle and the painting's style. The background of the painting is a reddish-brown color, which contrasts with the lighter color of the figures. The painting is in a style that is reminiscent of ancient rock art, with a focus on the figures and a lack of detail in the background. The image is taken from a perspective that shows the painting in the foreground, with the rock wall and the surrounding landscape in the background. There are no texts or discernible markings on the painting that provide additional information. The image is a photograph, and the lighting and color saturation suggest it was taken in natural daylight.

- "everyone laughing"

- "am 5"
- "don't get the joke"
- "happily eat my delicious candied onion"
- "laughter turns to confusion"
- "that's an onion, buddy..."
- "I'll like it"
- "adults all visibly disappointed"
- "Fate's die was cast, Halloween 1995."

The text is in a casual, conversational tone, and the humor is evident in the use of words like "caramel onion" and "candied onion," which are not commonly used in everyday conversation. The image is a screenshot from a Reddit post, which is a social media platform where users share and discuss various topics. The post seems to be a humorous commentary on the Halloween holiday and its traditions, referencing a popular meme from 1995.

The image shows a section of a rock wall with a series of ancient rock engravings. The engravings are of various shapes and sizes, including what appears to be bottles and jars. The colors used in the engravings are primarily red and brown, with some white and black accents. The style of the engravings suggests a prehistoric or ancient culture, possibly from a Mesoamerican civilization, given the style of the engravings and the presence of the word "CACAO" in the center of the image. The rock wall has a rough texture and is made of a reddish-brown material, which contrasts with the lighter color of the engravings. The image is taken from a perspective that shows the engravings in the foreground, with the rock wall in the background. There are no visible texts or inscriptions that provide additional context or information about the engravings. The image is a photograph with a focus on the rock wall and the engravings, and it is taken during the day under natural lighting conditions.

is wearing a dark suit with a white shirt and a black tie. His arms are crossed in front of him, and he is looking directly at the viewer with a neutral expression. The background is plain white, and there are no texts or additional elements in the image. The style of the illustration is reminiscent of comic book or graphic novel art, with a focus on the character's attire and expression.

The image is a candid photograph taken outdoors during the day. In the foreground, there is a man pushing a bicycle with a large cart attached to the back. The cart is filled with multiple pieces of raw meat, which appear to be ribs or similar cuts. The man is wearing a dark jacket and a red cap, and he is bending over to look at the cart. In the background, there are other people walking on the street, and a few bicycles are parked. The setting suggests a busy urban environment, possibly a market or a street food vendor's cart. The image is in color and has a candid style, capturing a moment in the daily life of the city.

The image shows a vertical skeleton of a deer, with its head and upper body protruding from a narrow crevice in a rocky cliff. The deer's bones are exposed, with the skull and vertebrae clearly visible. The bones are arranged in a way that suggests the deer was standing upright, with the head and neck protruding from the crevice. The background consists of a rocky cliff with patches of grass and lichen, and the sky is visible at the top of the image. The lighting suggests it is either early morning or late afternoon, as the shadows are elongated and the light is soft. There are no texts or discernible brands in the image. The style of the image is a close-up photograph with a focus on the natural elements and the human-made structure of the deer's skeleton.

has a rustic and somewhat eerie atmosphere, with a white brick wall and a ceiling with exposed beams. On the left side of the image, there is a large, grotesque figure with a pointed, horned head, resembling a creature from a horror movie. This figure is holding a large, bloody knife. To the right, there is a figure with a humanoid head, wearing a hood and holding a similar knife. The room is cluttered with various objects, including what looks like a wooden carving of a bird, a large, carved animal head, and other items that are not clearly identifiable. The style of the image is a close-up photograph with a focus on the details of the room and the objects within it. There is no visible text in the image.

[24 / 5]The image is a diagrammatic representation of the concept of "Life, Death, and Infinity." It is divided into three main sections, each with a title and a description.

The top section, labeled "Life, Death," shows a black and white flowchart with arrows pointing from the "end" to the "finite" and back to the "end." The flowchart indicates that the "end" is the point where the "life" ends, and the "finite" is the point where the "life" ends. The arrows point from the "end" to the "finite" and back to the "end," suggesting a continuous flow from the "end" to the "finite" and back to the "end."

The middle section, labeled "What actually happens," shows a flowchart with arrows pointing from the "end" to the "finite" and back to the "end." The flowchart indicates that the "end" is the point where the "life" ends, and the "finite" is the point where the "life" ends. The arrows point from the "end" to the "finite" and back to the "end," suggesting a continuous flow from the "end" to the "finite" and back to the "end."

The arrows point from the "end" to the "finite" and back to the "end," suggesting a continuous flow from the "end" to the "finite" and back to the "end."

The text below the flowcharts provides a philosophical explanation of the concept of "life, death, and infinity." It states that in a so-called state of non-existence, or "death," a person can exist only in a state of "finite" existence, which is a state of existence that is finite in duration. The text also mentions that if a person's life ends in a finite state, they would not exist in a non-existence state. The text concludes by stating that if a person's life ends in a finite state, they would not exist in a non-existence state.

The image is a black and white diagram that appears to be a representation of a tree of life, a concept often used in various spiritual and philosophical contexts. The tree is divided into eight branches, each labeled with a word that represents a different aspect of life. The words are arranged in a circular pattern, with the central circle containing the word "you" and the words surrounding it.
Starting from the top, the first branch is labeled "abstract," followed by "death," "hyperspace," "science fiction," "leadership," "fads," "leaders," "legends," "historical records," "awakening," and "abstract." The branches are interconnected by lines, forming a network that suggests a relationship between the different aspects of life.
The central circle contains the word "you" in the center, which is surrounded by the words "you are here," "you are here," "you are here," and "you are here." This central circle is the focal point of the diagram, drawing the viewer's attention to the interconnectedness of the various aspects of life.

The image is a visual representation, likely intended to convey a message or concept related to the interconnectedness of different aspects of life, possibly in the context of spirituality or philosophy. The use of the tree of life symbolizes the idea that all aspects of life are interconnected and that one aspect does not exist in isolation from the others.

Wouldn't that mean that the infinite space on either side is now finite because the time experienced there is no longer infinite?

According to your graph, it tries to show the redundancy of life through comparison to the eternal. If that was the case, then that singular life would be the most important thing in the universe because the entirety of the infinite timeline requires its resolution.

This is what I've become more inclined to believe as I've gotten older. I think death is like a sort of checkout divider that's placed to separate one customers' groceries from another. Life is the "default" state, with death being the transformative state between the default state. Almost everything we can observe in our universe is cyclical, while I don't believe in karma, "reincarnation" is probably the closest to what's actually going on.

You will always exist, in some form, there is no escape. Think about it logically, you were non-existent before you were born, but this time, no matter how long it was, didn't exist for you. So now you are and after you die, there will be an infinite amount of time passed and then you will exist again and it will feel like no time passed at all, it will feel like whatever it felt like you developed consciousness as a child in this life.

We have a triune nature just as God has, but not quite like this.

We are body, soul and spirit. Our soul, that is, what makes us "us" (the conscious part with all of our memories) communicates with the physical world through the body, but what actually gives life to our body is the spirit (call it breath of life).

Howbeit, once a person is born again in Christ Jesus, he receives another Spirit, God's Holy Spirit, which allows us to communicate directly with Him.

The kabbalah is the most striking example, no? They added the PoV as a new sphere (Malkuth) and three extra spheres to represent a abstraction they call god. Then hidden the Saturn sphere (as Daath).
They also added the Judgment card to the tarot, which originally had 21 major arcana, not 22. These 21 are related to the triad system (7x3), which the jews transferred to these three new spheres.
That's why I gloat in pleasure when I see the truthers(tm) freaking out over the O9A.

I realized the jews were larping when I learned just how much they copied from zoroastrians like stuff from the duality of power like god and devil to cleanliness rituals .
But you know what they did they made those things more violent and retarded like the whole red heifer thing ,zoroastrians like indo aryans had elaborate cleanliness rituals but non violent.
And these retards thought of burning a cow alive for their cleanliness.

And more stuff like this at various points of time.

it was the original sun in the primordial tradition. the jews corrupted and redacted their portion of the inherited primordial tradition into a new euhemerized, monotheistic tradition, and forged special covenants.

a "religion" is just a collectivized form of magic, the tools they use in that magic can be used for the ends of good or evil, and there are dual natures to those tools as well. they draw upon the energy of saturn, but their special relationship with saturn exists only insofar as they are obsessed with its power. i can use electricity to power a lightbulb, or to electrocute myself to death. it has no moral quality of its own.

The Yahweh Matrix is system is connected into a Black Cube Matrix held through Saturn, that is siphoning life force from our Universal Time Matrix and routing it back into their black hole system. Saturn’s Black Cube holds a massive tank that acts as a harvesting station for blood sacrifice from human beings, in any way imaginable, whether through wars, rituals, crucifixion, martyrdom, suicide or menstrual. This makes it obvious why Saturn has been long associated with an assortment of blood worshipping cults. Saturn is also the Solar 7th Gate, so it’s been used to pump out reversal violet ray plasma light, and this is the distortion that generates reversal plasmas and reversal violet light on our planet. These reversal plasmas are designed to ignite and feed the demon seed that exists in the shadow selves or negative forms of the masses. Additionally, this alien construct was used to impale the Crucifixion Implants on the vertical axiatonal lines in the planetary body, which also devastated the vertical channel alignment of the Planetary Staff.

The Yahweh System leads back into the black hole system from a black star that is located in the center of our Milky Way Galaxy called Abaddon. The Yahweh Collective took over the Four Cardinal Directions, or what we call the Divine Infinite Calculus that makes up the Cosmic Clock in our Universe. They used the Yahweh System to take over the Guardians of the 12 Pillars and the Krystal Cathedral Architecture, blocking communication with Krystic races outside of this system. This alien machinery is called the Yod-Hay-Vod-Hay System or Yahweh Matrix. It is obvious to assume that the fallen Yahweh entities decided they were our Gods and decided to implement a variety of mind control mechanisms by spreading religious beliefs, so that humans would worship Yahweh and/or Jehovah as the God Creator.

The Yod-Hay-Vod-Hay System also correlates to taking over all of the numerical four and master builder 22 constructs that are used in Morphogenetic Fields as blueprints for matter. Each of the Yod-Hay-Vod-Hay pillars relates to one of the directions North, South, East or West, and the governance over its Fallen Angelic Hierarchy that administers to the Cosmic Clock or timelines. Calling on this Yahweh System through the Yod-Hay-Vod-Hay Matrix, or Tetragrammaton, is common in “Squaring the Circle”, which is how an occult ritualist sets the directions in an energetic space. This may be used in some New Age practices, or in Black Magic rituals that are bound to the Hebrew-based systems and the mystical Kabbalah or other Mystery Schools or religions that worship Yahweh.

>For thou shalt worship no other god: for the Lord, whose name is Jealous, is a jealous God

Two triangles form a cube and perhaps a cube inside the earth or our universe is a cube or our reality is reflected into a cube

Everything is connected with twin myths, images, copies, as above, so below

I have a theory that everything that is done here is copied/repeated at the top (in the cube, I don't know). Matrix theory? Simulation? Presumably, there are many worlds that, by creating various things, make them reflect (copy, repeat) in the place where the archons live

Well, and besides, most likely the reality-farms feed the world tree that gives the fruits of immortality. This tree is mentioned in the Bible (it stands next to the tree of knowledge and God says that if only people had not tasted the fruit of immortality from this tree and become like them (Elohim).

It is associated with amrita/ambrosia/nectar/soma/haoma. ALL pagan gods depended on this tree and drink/fruits of immortality, in Scandinavian mythology they even begin to age when access to the fruits of the tree is lost

It is unclear whether people's stresses simply affect the production of loosh energy, but wars and deaths most likely do. Wars and murders feed the world tree, this is perhaps the most terrible thing that is hidden (but not a fact, I'm just thinking and assuming) after reading many myths.

The image is a two-page spread from a book or publication, featuring a detailed illustration of a group of Hindu deities and their attendants. The artwork is in a traditional Indian style, with vibrant colors and intricate details. The deities are depicted in various poses, some standing, some sitting, and others in dynamic poses, suggesting movement and action. They are adorned in traditional Indian attire, which includes colorful robes, headdresses, and jewelry.
The deities are arranged in a symmetrical pattern, with the central figure being the most prominent. This central figure is surrounded by smaller depictions of the same deities, creating a sense of unity and hierarchy. The background of the illustration is a light beige color, providing a neutral backdrop that allows the colors of the deities and their attire to stand out.
At the bottom of the image, there is text that reads "HIGHEST OF THE WORLD," indicating that the deities are considered the highest or most important in the Hindu pantheon. The text is written in a cursive script, which adds to the traditional and spiritual feel of the illustration.
The overall style of the image is reminiscent of traditional Indian art, with its emphasis on the depiction of deities and their attendants, and the use of vibrant colors and detailed imagery to convey the spiritual significance of the scene.

What is hermetism? The word "hermeticity" comes from the Latin "hermeticus", which, in turn, is associated with the name of the Greek god Hermes. According to legend, the god Hermes Trismegistus invented a way to hermetically seal glass vessels.

That is, it is something that does not let through, we are closed tightly, hermetically, you understand? Trapped

This is basically a description of the destruction of worlds and the theft of technology/magic items by two groups of gods (who act on both sides as left and right and pull the churning rod from one side to the other, they are in conflict, but their conflict also contributes to their prosperity)

>And they began to churn the water to obtain amrita. While the Devas and Asuras were churning the ocean by means of Mandara, a great noise arose there, like the thunder of monstrous clouds. There, various aquatic inhabitants, crushed by the great mountain, met their death in hundreds in the salt water. The most diverse creatures from the world of Varuna. And also the inhabitants of the lower regions of the world, were brought to destruction by that mountain, the support of the earth. While it was rotating, mighty trees inhabited by birds, colliding with each other, fell from the top of the mountain. And the fire that arose from their friction, blazing with flame every minute, like a blue cloud with lightning, enveloped Mount Mandara. It burned the elephants and lions that were there. All kinds of other creatures also parted with life. Then Indra, the best of the immortals, extinguished that scorching fire everywhere with water born from the clouds. After that, various secretions from mighty trees, as well as many juices of herbs, flowed into the waters of the ocean. It was from drinking those juices, endowed with immortal power, and also from the flow of gold, that the devas attained immortality.

Milky Ocean = Milky Way

He himself resembles Rudra and Shiva (and possibly Apollo), as well as Cronus.

In any case, read. This milking of the earth and especially the table Beings Milker Calf Milk Vessel is strange to read. Gods were often associated with cows (Scandinavian gods are her descendants, Ra in the book of the heavenly cow flies away on a cow, in Zoroastrianism, Ariman attacks the cow and she "flies away to the lunar station", the heavenly book from the myth of Gilgamesh and Enkinda, etc.)

In short, if something is done in the name of a certain created image (god), then this brings profit to the creatures associated with them (essentially an egregor). That's why

Buddha promoted nonattachment

Then remember Moloch, the Mlk ritual, and also know that rakshasas and yakshas gained the ability to be invisible by "milking the earth" (or people...)

It's hard for me to piece together the picture, but my conclusion is that people are being used. Nothing is created just like that. Any religion implies an architect (programmer), a certain purpose for creating man, an artificially created world, a system of supposedly karma and the presence of external observers/watchers (Elohim, Anunnaki)

The interface is divided into two main sections: the left side is a search bar with a dropdown menu, and the right side is a list of Hebrew words with their corresponding definitions. The interface is designed with a dark background and white text, and the search bar is highlighted with a yellow background.
At the top of the interface, there is a title that reads "Bible Lexicons" in bold, followed by a subtitle "Old Testament Hebrew Lexical Dictionary" in smaller font size. Below the title, there is a search bar with the text "Search for" followed by a dropdown menu with options such as "Word or Number" and "Strong's #". The search bar is currently empty. On the right side of the interface, there is a list of Hebrew words with their definitions. The words are listed in a column format, with each word's definition below it. The words are written in Hebrew, and the definitions are in English. The words are listed in a list format, with each word's definition below it.
The interface also includes a "Preve Entry" button and a "Next Entry" button, suggesting that the user can navigate through the list of words by clicking on these buttons. I actually have a pasta about this exact topic:

"Saturn is the planet the Edomite Judeans associated with their “god”, now called “Satan”. The Edomites themselves were descendants of the tribe of Esau, who mated with Canaanites, worshippers of Moloch. Moloch is a “Minotaur” demon, half-man, half bull, to which the Canaanites made sacrifices to.
Moloch’s sign is the Hexagram star - as such the Hexagram is a symbol of Canaanite origin in Biblical times (“Canaanite” is a derivation of the progenitor“Cain”), which is why it is used in the occult, Kaballism, orthodox Judaism, the modern flag of “Israel” (there is no such thing as a “Star of David” in the Talmud, the Torah, the New Testament, etc.). This is why modern “Jews” revere the number “6”, and why they hold the Sabbath on Saturday (The Day of Saturn/Satan). Hence, to summon demons and/or to place an evil curse on others has historically been called a “Hex” - etymologically ancient jargon and symbolism, that has survived into modern times."

"These “Jews” claim to hail from the Semitic Edomite Judeans (though with some racial/genetic admixture). Actually, Jews and the Arabic Muslims both possess roughly the same amount of Canaanite/Semitic DNA, as do the “Turkic” race. By contrast, the Israelite Judeans (now called “Christians”, though with some racial/genetic admixture), worships God on the 7th Day, Sunday.
The Greco-Romans, of course, worshipped Zeus-Jupiter as a Thundergod and Supreme Ruler, but they didn’t have an Empire-wide specific day of the week to worship (they did have specific days of the year, but in very different Roman and Greek calendars). However, the Germanic tribes maintained the Roman polytheistic tradition with only slight changes; Thor became the Thundergod, and Odin became the Supreme Ruler. Today, Thursday is named after Thor (“Thorsday”), and Wednesday is named after Odin (“Wodensday”)."

"The history is rather long, but interesting - and has heady bearing on today's modern culture and geopolitics. For example, Carthage, an Empire ruled by Canaanites, enslaved and sacrificed subjugated people, including infants, and is the origin of the Greco-Roman religious myth; as Saturn/Cronus consumed his children, Jupiter/Zeus rebelled and overthrew him, becoming the new Ruler of Olympus - a religious metaphor of Rome's ascendance as Hegemon over the Mediterranean. After the destruction of Carthage, many of these Canaanites/Edomites migrated to the Roman province of "Judea", where the Israelites accepted them so long as they converted.
The Biblical term "Judean", from which the term "Jew" derives, simply means "resident of of the Roman Province Judea". Eventually, the Edomites came to dominate Judea over the Israelites (again, this is a racial differentiation).
Centuries later, however, a schism occurred in Judea as the Israelites, behind a man named Christ, challenged the rule of the Edomites, leading to the biblical strife in the New Testament. The Romans put down this rebellion by crucifying the Israelite leader."

"Later, however, Rome would be burned in 64 AD. Some Romans blamed the Christians, though it was clear the Christians neither had the power nor resources to burn Rome. The Romans realized that it was the Edomite Judeans (not the Israelite Judeans) who burned Rome in 64 AD, since by 66 AD the dominant Edomites were now burning every city in the Roman Empire from Alexandria to Scythopolis to Caesarea, etc.
Following years of war, the Romans destroyed had successfully re-conquered Jerusalem in 70 AD, and destroyed the Temple of Jerusalem, with the perennial expulsion of the Canaanite/Edomite/Semitic "Jews". This inevitably led to a detente and alliance between the Romans and Israelite "Christians", against the Edomite "Jews" - the current state of affairs.
In short, the Edomite Judeans (today's "Jews") are of the Semitic race - but "Semitic" really means that they are a mix of Caucasoid (White) and Negroid (Black) genetics - like Arabs. The Hebrew word "Ereb" means to "grow black", and colloquially referred to someone born of miscegenation ("Half" or cross breeding between Black and White races). Add in the fact that they appear to be a Turkic strain, which means they are descendants of Edomites who migrated north of Judea and acquired Mongoloid (Asian) geneology."

Meanwhile, Israelite Judeans (today's "Christians") and Romans are of the Aryan race which is simply a strain of Caucasoid, so it was only to be expected that they would merge, with Rome taking on many Christian traditions (The Holy Roman Empire).
And thus, Edomite Judean "Jews" are the historic enemies of the Romans and Israelite Judean “Christians”. The Roman-Edomite antagonism dates back to at least Carthage (probably earlier), and the Israelite-Edomite antagonism dates back to at least the time of Christ (probably earlier).

This is also why Hollywood, Marxist and International “Jews” hate the “Romans” and “Christians” - in some ways, the adversarial relationship is racial (Semites vs Aryans), historic (and religious (Satan vs Jupiter/God).

The examples are too numerous to count, but as a parting symbol:

Today’s “Israelis” (Christians don’t call them “Israelites” for a reason) use the Star of Saturn, a Hexagonal star (6-points), on their flag. And it is the Hexagram which has historically been used in occult rituals, NOT the Pentagram, despite the Mainstream Media and Hollywood’s deception (their cultures are built on “Deception” and “False Accusation” which is the literal interpretation of “Satan”).

You can see where this is going… America’s Christian Founders, by contrast, chose the Pentagonal Star (5-points).

Why? Simple. The Pentagram is not a Jewish or Occult or Satanic symbol at all, but rather a symbol revered by the Romans and Christians for millennia - adorning their architecture and art from the “Golden Ratio” of the Greek Parthenon and the Roman Colliseum, to the Pentagon of the US Military and the 50 Pentagonal stars of the American Flag.

Fucking solid posts. The only thing I'd note is that the historical figure of Jesus Christ was a child trafficker and drug user. That's why he was arrested in a public park by the Roman cops. Later when The Church was formed Jesus's true identity and profession was distorted to what most people think of today. So Christianity and monotheism in general are "traps" to ensnare the unwitting in a false sense of reality. "The Mystery" is hidden in the religious scriptures for seekers/ initiates to discover while others are non the wiser.

The most disturbing thing I've ever seen was a website called, I think badaliens.info . Unlike most of the stuff in this thread, the site isn't run by a sadist or serial killer. It's run by a UFO researcher who believes aliens are real, visiting Earth, and committing atrocities. It has pictures of mutilated, often partially flayed corpses of people the owner believes were butchered by aliens. With simple gore sites, you already know people are capable of killing each other. They don't fundamentally alter your view of reality. If a serial killer comes after you they're ultimately just another human being, with training you can become the better murderer and best them. But we don't know the capabilities of aliens. Is it even possible to fight them and win? Learning this left me feeling like a protagonist in a Lovecraft story.

bridle, and the horse is adorned with a saddle blanket and a saddle with a decorative pattern. The knight is wearing a helmet with a plume and a red and gold tunic with a belt. The dragon, which is a large, dark creature with scales, is standing on its hind legs with its front legs raised, as if it is about to attack. The background features a castle with multiple towers and a moat, suggesting a medieval or fantasy setting. The painting has a realistic style with attention to detail, and the colors are rich and vibrant, contributing to the overall dramatic effect of the scene. There are no visible texts on the image.

vibrant depictions found in Islamic art, particularly in manuscripts from the Middle East.

Scholars agree that Muhammad certainly existed as a historical figure and his story is pretty wild, Even if you don't believe he was a prophet, do you think he at least was receiving some sort of supernatural/magick help along the way?

The image is a collage of two separate panels, each with a different visual element. The top panel features a cartoon-style illustration of a red devil's face with horns and a long beard, set against a white background. The devil appears to be looking directly at the viewer.
The bottom panel contains a text block with a quote from the Quran, which reads: "This Quran is not the work of an outcast devil - Quran 81:25 It was not the devils that revealed it - Quran 26:210 How could the Quran come from the Devil if it says it's from God and not the Devil?"
The text is in black, and the font is bold, making it stand out against the white background of the text block. The style of the image is humorous and satirical, with a focus on religious and theological themes.

Very esoteric knowledge. The second most esoteric in history. Arguably the most. He had direct knowledge from God above the rest of the laws Jesus left out. God revealed direct knowledge to him over several years and even took him up to heaven for part of a night. The other contender for most would he KHIDR. Khidr is one of the four immortals and will even fight the dajjal for a period at the end. Khidr has special knowledge from God (read surah al kahf) about the REALITY of things and not just the law. Khidr even taught Moses for a bit since Moses knew the law, but not the reality of things Mohammed was a red haired Jewish slave trader with pale white skin who spoke a regional dialect of Aramaic. This is why images of him are forbidden. The city of mecca made the mistake of allowing his tiny cult to be accepted in the city and they immediately began demanding special treatment and consideration by the previous religious government.

When they didn't get what they thought was enough special treatment for being a Jewish cult they complained to other jews and five Jewish tribes joined his cult to lend military strength to attack the city. Once they had given military control of the city over to Mohammed he refused to allow the five tribes to leave his cult under penalty of death. The only thing holding the cult together to this day is the threat of death to those who leave the cult.

The stages of invasion that they use in every location they can be found are the same as their initial assault on mecca which has become their base of operations.

Tldr; mohamedians are just another jewish scam

The image is a text excerpt from a historical document or a book, likely a historical account or a religious text, as indicated by the presence of the text in a formal and structured format. The text is in English and is divided into paragraphs, with the first paragraph starting with "Muhammad ordered a number of raiders to capture Mecca caravans, but only the 8th of them, the Raid on Nakhla, resulted in actual fighting and capture of booty and prisoners."
The text is written in a formal and academic style, with references to historical events and figures such as Muhammad, the Prophet, and the Battle of Badr. The text discusses the historical context of the Battle of Badr, which is a significant event in the Islamic history, and the role of the Prophet Muhammad in this battle. The text also mentions the capture of Mecca caravans and the involvement of raiders, which is a common tactic used by Islamic forces to raid caravans and capture goods.

The text is written in a narrative style, with a focus on the events and actions of the Prophet Muhammad and his followers, as well as the broader context of the Islamic history. The text is dense with information, and the references to historical figures and events are clear and well-structured, indicating a scholarly or historical work.
The image is a screenshot of the text, and the text is in a standard font, with no special formatting or styling that would suggest a different type of document. The text is in a language that is not English, which suggests that the document is in a language other than English. Wikipedia is heavily Islam-washed and reports the scripture as fact. But it still shows these raids are his primary accomplishment. He preached to escaped slaves and others who he could easily manipulate and forged them into a group of desert bandits. If the Middle East wasn’t such a shithole at the time he would have been rounded up and executed as a criminal. People only followed his words because he killed people who disagreed with him.

>inb4 cope about the jews pulling a giant psyop of religion over the romans or noahide cope

Basic logical induction and reasoning would lead you to believe there's a single creator of the entire universe, so clearly the true religion would be monotheistic. The core doctrine of Islam makes the most sense to me and strikes me as the most true as its the religion that has its sayings/proscriptions play out the most in the world around me

As in, each religion says certain things about the world, the universe, and mankind and Islam is the one that has these sayings be the most accurate.

There are 99 names of Allah in the Quran, the 100th remaining unrevealed. The number 99 appears exactly once in the New Testament, in the parable of the good shepherd. 100 in that parable means the penitent, who says I AM though God alone IS. 99 is composed of 9 and 11. There are nine choirs of angels or nine heavens and Adam makes ten. There are nine masculine or hidden sephiroth and the Shekinah makes ten. Eleven according to the Sepher Yetzirah, traditionally attributed to Abraham, is the number of the formation of the universe.

Muslims believe that the Injil or Evangelium was corrupted and that the Prophet was sent to restore what had been lost or obscured from it over time. Similar to the good shepherd parable, right? Now there is no book in the NT that claims to be THE Gospel. Instead you have "the Gospel according to..." and of course all four accounts differ significantly and reflect the perspective of the four different communities to whom they are addressed. Each of the gospels is traditionally associated with one of the four beasts of the Tetramorph, depicted in iconography in the four quadrants of a square. Thus they recapitulate the Signaculum Domini, with the four smaller crosses representing the wounds in the hands and feet of Christ and the fifth central cross representing the wound in His side, which pierced His heart and released blood and water from the east side of the temple. Jesus called Himself the Way and therefore His heart was the Reality of the Way. Being the vessel of the Blood of Christ, the Sacred Heart is quite literally the Grasale or Grail, which sometimes appears in lore as a Gradale or Book. This was the real Injil which was lost and given to the Prophet. If you know that the Knights Templars were tasked with recovering the Holy Grail, and that this is the true meaning of the name of their Order and their heraldry, then you now know the secret motive for the pilgrimage to Jerusalem and thus the Crusades.

If there wasn't a single creator existence/original existence, we would be stuck in infinite regress (a loop of never ending "x was born from y and y was born from z", etc")

As in the universe as a whole needs an original existence as there has to be a beginning that precedes space and time (as those came with the creation of the universe) since something can't come from nothing (inb4 quantum physics cope), meaning something was before the universe and outside of the universe that was able to affect change (you have to exist to affect change) to bring the universe into being.

That's just the chronological aspect too. There's also the greater philosophical aspect of "contingency" (being dependent on) in which elements of an object or idea have something that must exist in order for that object or idea to exist. You can take this back to the origin of the universe as well and eventually get to a "necessary existent". See Ibn Sina's "proof of the truthful" for more as he goes further back as some people like to cope about the universe being the necessary existent.

In Wolfram von Eschenbach, for example, the Grail Knights are explicitly called Templars. But more decisive evidence of this can be found in Louis Charbonneau-Lassay's Vulnerary of Christ, pp. 233 ff. Too long to reproduce here but worth reading his actual words. At the royal chateau of Chinon where the Templars were held prisoner before they met their fate there is an engraving left by one of them on his prison wall:
>we see in factg someone of monastic appearance whose face, already quite naively rendered by the poorly equipped engraver, has been regrettably mutilated. This monk, this saint crowned with a nimbus much more pronounced than the one on the first stone, wears his hood thrown back. Within the nimbus that enhaloes it, a deep recess leaves the head in flat relief and emphasizes the particular holiness of this person as one of the Elect. In all likelihood this is St. Bernard, who was in his lifetime the law giver for the Order of the Temple, who had it approved by the Pope at the Council of Troyes in 1128, and made it a subsidiary branch of his Order of Citeaux.
>This saint, set in profile, contemplates a heart in heraldic style very carefully carved into the stone, a heart that sends forth a whole burst of lengthy rays. Beneath the heart and in the glory of its light an escutcheon bears the royal fleu-de-lys of France.
>Is not this heart - the center of a source of light and glory - the very one adored and invoked by the Church as the hearth of all light and glory, as the "fiery furnace of love"?

>Now, here we have an absolutely precise historical date: between the spring of 1308 and that of 1309.
Anon I remind you that there existed no public cult to the Sacred Heart of Jesus in the Catholic Church until the 17th century.

The image is a close-up of a character's face, rendered in a style that suggests a blend of anime and manga. The character has short, brown hair and green eyes. The character's face is partially obscured by a helmet, which is dark in color and has a visor that covers the eyes. The helmet has a visible design that includes a series of buttons and a strap. The character's expression is one of concern or distress, with a slight frown and a slight upturn of the eyebrows. The background is dark and somewhat blurred, with hints of greenery and what appears to be a rocky or uneven terrain. There are no discernible texts or logos in the image. The overall tone of the image is somber and intense.

Anon... things that don't exist... DON'T EXIST. THEY CAN'T AFFECT CHANGE OR EVEN BE, DO, THINK, OR ACT.

You can't even conceptualize non existence since it would operate on an entirely different set of properties outside of time and space and perhaps not even have any properties at all except for the concept of non existence itself, which we can't even grasp properly (since all of our senses and even universe operate on time and space) and existence would preclude even the universe since we say God exists

>goyim, if we do this test, we don't actually know what a value or unit will be till we measure or pull a value out!!!!

I think islam is more about usurping the power from the banu israil(the jews), it seeks to bypass the israelite model in making another direct pathway to God ,where the jews seem to work more with the demiurge the muslims seem a bit closer to source, but hey have been heavily infiltrated by altered scripture aswell and schism, strenghtening the position of the demiurge too but with the exception that they turn the loosh farma bit upon the jews. The jews w,ho are normally the top pawns of the demiurge. Jews hate competition in that department so they fear islam from a demiurgic standpoint of remaining in power, but in some ways theyre connected to jews and have similar behaviours, its just that modern judaism has a whole science on triumphing over God creating ever more complex laws to circumvent gods wrath

Christians are made into pawns, the original writing of gnostic jesus are mostly lost and the blood sacrifice story of modern christianity is an abomination which turns jesus the man into a kapparot chicken messiah and makes the gnostic powers and achievements of christ the force of logos sent from source the true God into a mockery and a slave morality of the demiurge, islam also counters that a bit by somehow respecting jesus more

If you would see muslims as evil, know theyre a nessecary evil. A counterweight to jewish overdominance, although some islamists maybe duped into being cannonfodder in jewish plans

Your "source" is idolatry, its "whatever things you like most and none of the things you dont". Judaism, they like Judas and rejected Jesus...because they Judged God based on what they LIKED, not what is. Worshipping the Holy Spirit is idolatry and leads to self serving Satanism.

The image is a digital map with a color scheme of blue and green, representing the oceans and landmasses respectively. The map is divided into two sections, each with a different color scheme. The upper section is a lighter blue, while the lower section is a darker green.
The upper section of the map is divided into two columns, each containing a list of cities. The cities are marked with yellow circles and are listed in alphabetical order. The cities are scattered across the globe, with some located in North America, Europe, and Asia.
The lower section of the map is divided into two columns, each containing a list of countries. The countries are marked with green circles and are listed in alphabetical order. The countries are also scattered across the globe, with some located in North America, Europe, and Asia.
The map appears to be a digital representation of a world map, possibly used for educational or informational purposes. The use of different colors for different sections of the map allows for easy differentiation between the two types of data presented.

The image is a black and white photograph featuring a man with a beard and a mustache, smiling at the camera. He is holding a rectangular card in his right hand, which has a humorous text on it. The text reads "Reddit FAGGOT LICENSE (You) Expire: Never." The man is wearing a shirt with a collar and a tie, and he has a mustache and goatee. In the background, there is a blurred image of a clown with a red nose and white makeup, which is not clearly visible. The style of the image is reminiscent of a meme or a satirical representation, with the text on the card being the central focus.

The image displays a large, detailed diagram with various colored blocks and boxes, possibly representing different types of objects or entities. The diagram is organized in a grid-like fashion, with rows and columns, and each block or box is labeled with a number or a name. The colors of the blocks and boxes vary, with shades of blue, purple, green, red, and yellow being prominent.
At the top of the image, there is a title that reads "Diagram of the structure of the game 'The Legend of Zelda: Breath of the Wild'". Below the title, there is a list of names and numbers, presumably representing different characters or entities in the game. The names and numbers are in English, and the list is organized in a column format.
The diagram is divided into several sections, each with its own layout and content. For instance, there is a section labeled "A" with a blue block and a purple box, and another section labeled "B" with a green block and a red box. The layout suggests a hierarchical structure, with each section possibly representing a different level or aspect of the game's structure.
The image is a digital representation, likely created using a software program or a graphic design tool, and it is intended to be informative and educational, possibly for a game guide or tutorial. The use of color and the layout of the diagram suggest a focus on organization and categorization, which is a common theme in game design and development.

>THE BUDDHA'S BAD KARMA: A PROBLEM IN THE HISTORY OF THERAVÂDA BUDDHISM
>by JONATHAN S. WALTERS
>Numen Vol. 37, Fasc. 1 (Jun., 1990), pp. 70-95 (26 pages)

"Buddha's bad karma" is a veritable contradiction in terms. When reading the Buddha biography preserved in the Vinayapitaka and Suttapitaka of the Pâli canon (Tipitaka), one cannot help thinking that Gotama led a charmed life: endowed with physical and spiritual perfection, he transcended the attitudes and attachments that are so often the source of human suffering. The Jâtaka literature explains the perfection (in this life) of Gotama Buddha by describing its karmic roots over aeons of previous lives, during which the Bodhisatta produced unimaginable quantities of good karma. Despite its vastness, the Buddha biography preserved and developed in the Theravâda tradition up to the present contains not the slightest hint that Gotama did anything productive of bad karma; his parinibbana was the extinction of all karma, good and bad.

But embedded within the Pâli canon are records of certain events in the Buddha's life-systematized in later tradition as twelve in number - which were less than pleasant. Even during the canonical period, some Buddhists interpreted these events as the effects of the Buddha's own previous bad karma. Their explanation gave birth to the problem of Buddha's bad karma. The notion that the Buddha suffered bad karma had important implications for both the developing theory of karmic absolutivity and cherished conceptions of Buddhahood...

You should read it more closely. More critically.

>Luke's account of Jesus's circumcision is extremely short, particularly compared to Paul the Apostle's much fuller description of his own circumcision in the third chapter of his Epistle to the Philippians. This led theologians Friedrich Schleiermacher and David Strauss to speculate that the author of the Gospel of Luke might have assumed the circumcision to be historical fact, or might have been relating it as recalled by someone else...

>The Gospel of Luke does not name its author. The Gospel was not, nor does it claim to be, written by direct witnesses to the reported events, unlike Acts beginning in the sixteenth chapter.

Jesus was YHWH come to atone for all the evil shit He ordered the Jews to do in Old Testament, to set up a state of mutual forgiveness and wipe the slate clean (blood for blood).

This created a new covenant for all people and now God doesn't order us to do evil shit (genocides, etc) anymore, so the rest of history has been on us.

Jesus' crucifixion was symbolic of descending into Hades and being reborn through the Abyssal womb, as God returning to a blank slate.

The Word had to be Reborn through the Abyss.

Jesus is the son of god and was crucified to save humanity. Since no man was holy or clean enough to be a good enough sacrifice, he sacrificed his own son (himself since god, jesus, and the holy ghost are all one) to act as a good enough offering to free humanity from their sin because "the wages of sin are death" but in jesus there is life. I will quote from Wikipedia again, since we are covering the basics...

>The Gospel of Luke and the Acts of the Apostles make up a two-volume work which scholars call Luke–Acts.[1] The author is not named in either volume.[2] According to a Church tradition, first attested by Irenaeus (c. 130 – c. 202 AD), he was the Luke named as a companion of Paul in three of the Pauline letters, but many modern scholars have expressed doubt that the author of Luke-Acts was the physician Luke, and critical opinion on the subject was assessed to be roughly evenly divided near the end of the 20th century.[3] The eclipse of the traditional attribution to Luke the companion of Paul has meant that an early date for the gospel is now rarely put forward.[4] Most scholars date the composition of the combined work to around 80–90 AD, although some others suggest 90–110,[5] and there is textual evidence (the conflicts between Western and Alexandrian manuscript families) that Luke–Acts was still being substantially revised well into the 2nd century.

The image is a digital illustration featuring a collage of various religious figures, predominantly from the Christian tradition. The figures are depicted in a variety of poses and expressions, with some showing their full faces and others showing only their heads. The colors used in the illustration are predominantly warm, with hues of gold, orange, and brown, which are often associated with divinity and spirituality.
At the center of the image, there is a central figure that appears to be a representation of Jesus Christ, with a halo and a radiant aura around him. This figure is surrounded by a multitude of smaller figures, each with their own unique features and expressions. The background of the image is a gradient of blue and purple, with a subtle sparkle effect that gives the impression of a celestial or spiritual environment.
The style of the image is artistic and symbolic, with a focus on the religious symbolism of the figures and the central figure of Jesus Christ. The image does not contain any text or explicit religious symbols, but the overall composition and the presence of the central figure suggest a theme of faith and spirituality.

He was a human that elevated himself to Ascended Master status. Learn about Ascended Masters.

In esoteric and spiritual teachings, an ascended master is a being who has achieved a high level of spiritual enlightenment and transcendence, often through multiple lifetimes on Earth, and is believed to now exist on higher planes of existence to guide humanity. They're seen as teachers and guides for those on the spiritual path, having mastered life's lessons and overcome the need for further physical reincarnation.

Key aspects of ascended masters:

Spiritual Evolution:
Ascended masters have achieved a high level of spiritual development, often through overcoming challenges and learning from many lifetimes on Earth.

Transcending Duality:
They have transcended the limitations of the physical world and the cycle of birth and death, existing on higher planes of consciousness.

Guiding Humanity:
They serve as teachers and guides, offering wisdom, compassion, and assistance to those seeking spiritual growth.

Examples:
Figures like Jesus, Buddha, Saint Germain, and Kuan Yin are often cited as examples of ascended masters.

Not Deities:
While revered, ascended masters are not considered deities, but rather enlightened beings who were once human and experienced life on Earth.

Connection to the Divine:
They are seen as having a deep connection to the divine and can be invoked for guidance and support.

Mastery of Self:
They have mastered their own emotions and negative tendencies, demonstrating self-mastery and compassion.

Not Necessarily Visible:
Ascended masters may not always be physically present or visible, but their influence can be felt through their teachings and guidance.

Multiple Interpretations:
Different spiritual traditions and groups may have varying interpretations and beliefs about ascended masters.

The image is a screenshot of a text excerpt from a website or an article. The text is in English and is written in a casual, conversational tone. It discusses the concept of Neanderthals being the last naturally evolved humanoid inhabitants of the earth, who were genetically mixed with the genes of our creator, the Anunnaki, the Demiurge. The text is presented in a list format, with each point being a separate sentence. The text is centered and has a white background, which contrasts with the black text, making it easy to read. The style of the image is informative and educational, likely intended to convey a scientific or historical perspective on the topic.

Makes more sense for jesus to be a woman, your telling me a guy with supernatural abilities claiming to be the son of the man you worship and so your leaders hand him over to the people that kill him?

>see that doesn’t make sense!
Now if it was a woman and traditionally speaking hebrews and islam treat women similarly, then it begins to make sense why they felt threatened.

The image is a composite of two separate photographs. On the left, there is a photograph of a person with long hair and a beard, wearing a blue shirt. The person appears to be looking directly at the camera. On the right, there is a photograph of a face with a beard and a beard, which is overlaid with the text "Kosher Jesus" in white capital letters. The background of the right photograph is a textured, reddish-brown color, and there is a watermark in the bottom right corner that reads "2KNOW MORE NEWS.ORG". The overall style of the image is reminiscent of a news or informational graphic, with a focus on the text and the overlaid image.

>makes absolutely zero sense, men have. A history of backing up men
So the romans, Egyptians and wvwn the greeks traveled the world and recorded shit down meticulously, and theres zero mention of jesus or yeshua(pronounced similarly to joshua) or moses?

Let’s pretend yeshua was real, it make sense if a woman appears and shes claiming to be the daughter of divinity and she has gifts and using them to help and guide people, well now she has a following and this challenges your narrative about women, so what do you do?
>kill her and horribly torture her on a stick just to make an example to others and followers.

John 8:45 does not explicitly say Jews are the children of Satan. As someone trying to convince them he's their Messiah foretold of im their Jewish prophecies, that they're not real children of Abraham (or not real Jews) for not believing him. He's a Jew keveching to fellowJews that they're not Jewing the right way by not following him. That's what the passage is saying I'm it's actual context. The meme puts quotes in, but that's not what it says.

How to get out of the loop?
Please tell me, I am completely lost.
Every time I kill myself my life loops. I am stuck repeating this over and over again. The same exact thing. From birth to the moment I kill myself. I remember it as a child then forget most of it with only glimpses and weird deja vus. Weird coincidences here and there. Only decades later do I start to get this intense feeling about what happened.
I need to escape this hell. Why am I even in here? They want me to be neutral on everything and everyone. Is that the path?
As a kid I thought I was being tortured, laughed at by some sort of gods. Later I thought that I was being guided into something. Now I'm not sure anymore.
Maybe this is the furthest I came so far. I just want to escape it. Please.

On a dark desert highway, cool wind in my hair
Warm smell of colitas, rising up through the air
Up ahead in the distance, I saw a shimmering light
My head grew heavy and my sight grew dim
I had to stop for the night
There she stood in the doorway
I heard the mission bell
And I was thinking to myself
"This could be Heaven or this could be Hell"
Then she lit up a candle and she showed me the way
There were voices down the corridor
I thought I heard them say

Welcome to the Hotel California
Such a lovely place (Such a lovely place)
Such a lovely face
Plenty of room at the Hotel California
Any time of year (Any time of year)
You can find it here
Her mind is Tiffany-twisted, she got the Mercedes bends
She got a lot of pretty, pretty boys she calls friends
How they dance in the courtyard, sweet summer sweat

Some dance to remember, some dance to forget

So I called up the Captain
"Please bring me my wine."
He said, "We haven't had that spirit here since nineteen sixty nine."
And still those voices are calling from far away
Wake you up in the middle of the night
Just to hear them say

Welcome to the Hotel California
Such a lovely place (Such a lovely place)
Such a lovely face
They livin' it up at the Hotel California
What a nice surprise (what a nice surprise)
Bring your alibis

Mirrors on the ceiling
The pink champagne on ice
And she said "We are all just prisoners here, of our own device"
And in the master's chambers
They gathered for the feast
They stab it with their steely knives
But they just can't kill the beast

Last thing I remember
I was running for the door
I had to find the passage back to the place I was before
"Relax," said the night man
"We are programmed to receive
YOU CAN CHECK-OUT ANY TIME YOU LIKE BUT YOU CAN NEVER LEAVE!"

The image is a stylized, dark-toned photograph featuring a figure that appears to be a vampire. The vampire is shown in a close-up shot, with a focused expression on his face. He has a large, elongated nose and a pointed ear, and his eyes are wide open, giving the impression of a startled or shocked expression. The vampire is wearing a black garment that covers his entire body, and he has a white, elongated head with pointed ears.
In the vampire's hands, he holds a sandwich, which is partially visible. The sandwich appears to be a hamburger with a bun and a slice of meat. The background of the image is dark and out of focus, with a hint of a red-toned, possibly church-like structure or building. The overall style of the image is reminiscent of a horror or gothic theme, with the vampire figure being the central focus.

You are not being tortured because You are looping for a reason
The are other people alive that you are yet to meet and that is the reason you are alive
It's the reason we are all alive We live to meet others and progress the plot of the universe We all play a part in a large unfolding story that has yet to be told or finished
This is why we have a constant desire to tell and create stories We are members of a story and we are born and we die to ensure the story keeps going

I have wanted to kill myself too but I am too burdened by love.for all those around me and Thats what we're all meant to do we are meant to evolve and we're meant to love and we're meant to die when we're meant to Quantum immortality is real because there is a main story and yet you still leave a timeline without you which diverges from what was originally meant to happen
This is why many people who recover miraculously from diseases end up dying from tragedies not even days after

The image is a meme featuring a humorous juxtaposition of a lizard and a human. The lizard, with its head and neck visible, is seated in a formal office chair, dressed in a suit and tie. The lizard's expression is one of resignation, with its eyes closed and its mouth slightly open as if it's about to speak. The lizard's head is positioned in such a way that it appears to be looking directly at the viewer, creating a sense of direct engagement.
The text overlay on the image reads, "Overlords Apologize, Will Reset Simulation to 2015." This text is in a bold, capitalized font and is placed at the top of the image, suggesting it is a title or a statement. Below the text, there is a quote that reads, "We just wanted to see what you would do," which is attributed to a "spokesman." The quote is in a smaller font size and is placed at the bottom of the image, providing a contrast to the larger text above.
The overall style of the image is a blend of humor and irony, with the lizard's formal attire and the text suggesting a commentary on the concept of simulation and the role of a spokesperson. The meme uses visual elements to create a humorous and satirical effect.

Anon, what you have stated about your life is a strong delusion. Demons are attacking you. I had a similar delusion while in psychosis from smoking weed/salvia.

You live only once. You have never killed yourself. You are here because God created you and wants to have a relationship with you. He has an amazing plan for your life and Satan is working to interrupt that and destroy what happiness you can have.

Accept Jesus Christ as your savior and see your life change.

Jeremiah 29:11:1 I know the plans that I have for you, declares the LORD. They are plans for peace and not disaster, plans to give you a future filled with hope.

John 3:16-17God loved the world this way: He gave his only Son so that everyone who believes in him will not die but will have eternal life. 17 God sent his Son into the world, not to condemn the world, but to save the world.

Ephesians 2:1-2You were once dead because of your failures and sins. 2 You followed the ways of this present world and its spiritual ruler. This ruler continues to work in people who refuse to obey God.

I'm looping in my own life.
I'm not choosing another one.
I need it to stop.
I'm gonna devour everything on the other side. I will become God. That is the reason for this hell. Gods love Gods. Gods want new Gods to be created. But it's not that simple. After ascending you will either become a universe, a mad overwhelmed entity, or a true God - the highest. This is all a scheme to produce Gods. I will devour everything and become the God of death.

Then come here to complain while in fact the whole bunch of you are into BDSM but refuse to admit it because admitting is stupid and because you haven't found a reasonable reason that is stupid enough, unreasonable but convincing enough, so you just made up that bunch of things because if the loop was fixed, we wouldn't need to say these sentences.

The Truth we were still playing The Theseus ship paradox loop, or in other words nothing is really dead or alive but just a small piece from the original Theseus ship that has been upgraded and evolved.

We are clones of clones of clones...of the first human being to appear on earth. As for whether the other world is real or not, it depends on our consciousness. We unconsciously enter a suitable "Theseus" body there and continue to live and what we do after that. Only the memories of our previous life have been eliminated because they are not suitable for that world and can lead us to die sooner if we do not change to integrate into the new world.

> And you just the one who find the label "made in china" in your memory from the old Theseus ship previous.
And maybe you just the case study for me and others to see and trolling for fun because everything is so bored.

The image is a digital illustration featuring a cat's face peeking out from the side. The cat has a white fur coat and is looking directly at the viewer with its eyes wide open. Its ears are pointed upwards, and its whiskers are visible. The cat's expression is one of surprise or shock. The background is a gradient of gray, transitioning from a lighter shade at the top to a darker shade at the bottom. There is a small black text bubble with the word "x" inside it, located near the bottom of the image. The artist's signature is visible at the bottom right corner, which reads "2014.1.18.jagya". The style of the image is reminiscent of manga or anime, with a focus on the character's expression and the use of shading to create depth.

[160 / 11]The image is a photograph that captures a serene outdoor scene during what appears to be either dawn or dusk. The setting is a forested area with tall, dense trees that cast a soft, golden light on the ground. The sky is partially obscured by the trees, creating a sense of depth and tranquility.

In the foreground, a group of people are gathered around a wooden cross, which is the central focus of the image. The cross is made of wood and has a simple, rustic design. The people are facing the cross, suggesting a moment of prayer or reflection.

The individuals in the group are dressed in casual, layered clothing, including jackets and hoodies. Their postures vary, with some standing and others sitting, indicating a casual and relaxed gathering.

The overall color palette of the image is warm, with the golden light from the setting sun casting soft, golden hues over the scene. The colors are muted, with the predominant tones being shades of green and brown from the forest and the golden tones from the sun.

There are no discernible texts or logos in the image, and the style of the photograph is realistic with a focus on the natural elements and the people in the foreground. The composition of the image suggests a moment of quiet reflection or prayer in a peaceful natural setting.

Jesus built his church over Bashan, Mt. Hermon
>2500 miles from Rome
No scripture says Peter passed the mantle to Saul/Paul Why is Jesus' Bride in Rome? The scripture doesn't tell us this.

>Revelations 12:6 "And the woman fled into the wilderness, where she has a place prepared by God, in which she is to be nourished for 1,260 days."

What was the Bride fleeing?

>Revelation 12:4 - "And the dragon stood before the woman who was about to give birth, so that when she bore her child he might devour it."

What is the dragon? Institutions of power and control.

The Bride is in the wilderness, not in the church. The church tries to claim they are the bride.

Jesus does not marry an empty building.

The Bride is in you when you find her. The bride is in the wilderness, in the exiles.

5 She gave birth to a male child, one who is to rule all the nations with a rod of iron, but her child was caught up to God and to his throne,

The image displays a relief sculpture of a scene from ancient Egypt, featuring a figure on the left and two snakes on the right. The figure is a woman with a headdress and a necklace, holding a spear in her right hand and a shield in her left. She is seated on a throne-like structure, which is supported by two pillars. The woman's expression is one of contemplation or wisdom.
On the right side of the sculpture, there are two snakes. The snake on the left is coiled and appears to be a serpent, while the one on the right is coiled and has a humanoid face with a large, open mouth. The background of the sculpture is a dark, textured surface that contrasts with the lighter color of the figures and the snakes. The overall style of the sculpture is reminiscent of ancient Egyptian art, characterized by its detailed depiction of figures and the use of naturalistic materials.

I think we are all subject to errors in our fallible nature and therefore in need of God's mercy probably to a large degree. I also think it's important to be part of some institution so as to have fellowship with the Church.

That being said, I think it's important to realize that the highest members of each institution may not have Christian interests in mind, and if you aren't willing to question your Church leadership and doctrines then it makes me beg the question whether you worship God or idolize your institution. I find this especially true of Roman Catholicism, as the institution comes with so much baggage, both morally and doctrinally, that I would find it very hard to justify labeling myself a member while being incapable of defending such practices and beliefs. I feel this way, moreso doctrinally, about Orthodoxy as well.

I won't accuse RC or Orthos of being fake Christians because Jesus said the metric we use to judge others will be used against us. But I think if you're going to be an honest Christian who values your ability to believe what truly makes sense to you, you need to be Protestant. The claims to apostolic authority crumble when viewed at deeper than face value, and usually RC and Ortho have to resort to word salad walls of text to argue otherwise.

The image is a composite of various elements, likely from a movie or animation, with a focus on a character that appears to be a large, muscular man with a tattooed face. He is wearing a traditional Hawaiian shirt with a large, ornate design on the chest. The character is holding a green orb in his hand, which has a swirling pattern on it. The woman in the wilderness is Mary, she fled from the Roman’s trying to find the baby Jesus to kill; you know this because right after the wilderness verse it says the woman gave birth to Jesus who would rule with an iron Rod but he was caught up to heaven because of satans persecution (possessing the Jews to kill Satan), then he comes back.

Also the Catholic Church has never said Paul or Saul gained pope succession. We have documents on the second pope and all the way to the new pope. You can look it up on the Vatican websites which all Catholic Churches follow.

Papal succession is not retrofitted for political power in Rome at all. Far from being a later invention, it has roots in the apostolic era, as evidenced by early Christian writings that emphasize the importance of episcopal succession to preserve doctrinal purity and church unity. For instance, Irenaeus of Lyon, in his work Against Heresies (c. 180 AD), lists the succession of bishops in Rome starting from Peter and Paul as a key proof of orthodox teaching against Gnostic heresies, stating that “it is a matter of necessity that every Church should agree with this Church [Rome], on account of its preeminent authority.” 20 Similarly, Clement of Rome’s First Epistle to the Corinthians (c. 96 AD) shows the Roman church intervening in another community’s affairs to restore order, demonstrating an early recognition of Rome’s influential role without implying dominance for worldly gain. 24

While early writings corroborate a collegial structure with equal authority among all bishops; including the bishop of Rome (often referred to as the pope); this equality coexisted with a primacy of honor for Rome due to its apostolic foundations. Ignatius of Antioch (c. 107 AD) described the Roman church as “presiding in love” over others, not as a political overlord but as a unifying force rooted in Peter’s legacy. 41 In fact, papal succession was so integral to the early church that the Quartodeciman controversy (c. 190 AD) highlights both its emerging role and the checks on it: Pope Victor I sought to standardize Easter observance by threatening excommunication of Asian churches following the 14th Nisan tradition, but this spurred criticism from bishops such as Irenaeus, who urged Victor to prioritize unity and peace over harsh enforcement. 40 Irenaeus’s rebuke didn’t deny Rome’s primacy but tempered it, showing that early authority was about safeguarding tradition, not consolidating power; Victor ultimately backed down, and the issue was resolved collegially at the Council of Nicaea in 325 AD.

Critics claiming it’s a “made-up” construct for political gain often point to later developments, like the rise of Constantinople or medieval papal states, but this ignores the patristic evidence. Even Eastern Orthodox traditions acknowledge a historical primacy for Rome as “first among equals,” though they dispute later claims of universal jurisdiction, attributing those to post-Constantinian political influences rather than the core succession itself. 41 Protestant views, emphasizing sola scriptura, argue primacy lacks explicit biblical warrant and evolved over time, 42 but this overlooks how early fathers like Cyprian of Carthage (c. 251 AD) tied church unity to Peter's “single chair,” founded not on empire but on Christ's commission. 43 If succession were merely a power grab, why did early popes like Victor face pushback from peers, and why was it invoked primarily against heresies rather than for territorial control? The historical record shows it as an organic development from apostolic times, focused on fidelity to the faith, not retrofitted ambition.

The gnostics would best fit your wilderness church but followed heretical fictional works that did not align with the general eyewitness experience of Jesus' works with the apostles ; corroborated by early figures like Eusebius, Clement of Alexandria, and Tertullian (not a priest or bishop but scholar) For example Tertulluan caught the man who confessed to making up the gospel of Peter apocrypha and was excommunicated for his role as bishop Lilith is the Tree of Life and the Bride in the wilderness.

Isaiah 34:14 - Isaiah 54

Revelations 12:4

Proverbs 3:18 She is a tree of life to them that lay hold upon her: and happy is every one that retaineth her.
Psalm 36:9 For with thee is the fountain of life: in thy light shall we see light.
Isaiah 34:14 The wild beasts of the desert shall also meet with the wild beasts of the island, and the satyr shall cry to his fellow; the screech owl (Lilith) also shall rest there, and find for herself a place of rest.

You can stop pretending it was widely approved. The valentinians were mystic, the nicolatians were mystic and they were directly rebuked in Revelations.

But you know what was already widely approved? The catholic corpus in Rome/Judea where the apostle peter, paul, and many others would gather in as a hub; from whence the catholic church began, of which had bishops such as the following mentioning Paul's martyrdom, and approval of chain of custody through known canon close to the apostles students and apostles themselves. Out of 72 apostles we know nicolatians were descended from the disciple named Nicolaus who strayed from the actual gospel of christ and started his own sect through free love, ritual sex (imitated by egyptian practices), and followed gnostic teachings (imitated by egyptian teachings); this sexual immoality was directly rebuked in Revelations among other writings written by the following figures:

So, church history has pretty much always claimed Paul was martyred, I don't think I've ever seen a scholar dispute Paul's martyrdom or point to any conflicting accounts. As far as evidence goes, not sure you're really going to find anything outside of church tradition. Here are some ante-Nicene patristics who referenced Paul's martyrdom (some are much clearer than others) and the rough dates of the quote:

1 Clement 5 (late first century/early second century)

Through envy and jealousy the greatest and most righteous pillars have been persecuted and put to death. Let us set before our eyes the illustrious apostles. … Paul also obtained the reward of patient endurance, after being seven times thrown into captivity, compelled to flee, and stoned. After preaching both in the east and west, he gained the illustrious reputation due to his faith, having taught righteousness to the whole world, and come to the extreme limit of the west, and suffered martyrdom under the prefects.

Ignatius - Letter to the Ephesians, Ch. 12 (early/mid second century)

You are initiated into the mysteries of the Gospel with Paul, the holy, the martyred Polycarp - Letter to the Philippians, Ch 9 (early/mid second century), in talking about being inspired by the martyrs.

I exhort you all, therefore, to yield obedience to the word of righteousness, and to exercise all patience, such as you have seen before your eyes, not only in the case of the blessed Ignatius, and Zosimus, and Rufus, but also in others among yourselves, and in Paul himself, and the rest of the apostles.

>Yeah thats fair but that doesnt mean we should take everything in Enoch as truth.

But the most important thing to take should be Bashan, the site of the fallen Watchers - Mt. Hermon. And this is exactly where Jesus nominates Peter as petra - "on this rock" - meaning, over the fallen Watchers, over the Mouth of Hades. This was a significant act of declaring cosmic warfare.

We then see repeated motifs all throughout Old Testament and New Testament - again, I don't use the Gnostic gospels - the motif of an exiled female, a Bride returning from the wilderness.

Eve initiates Adam into carnal knowledge, they're exiled.

Isaiah 34 "The Lilith finds rest" (known sexual spirit in Hebrew and Sumerian) but in Isaiah 54 God redeems the wilderness and that within it, the curse of Edom is lifted in Revelations 12:4 the Bride "flees into the wilderness and finds a place of rest" - this exactly mirrors Isaiah 34

If the Bride is Mary in the wilderness, escaping persecution, what is Lilith also doing there?

Are the Virgin and the Whore two sides of the same coin?

Does God redeem and marry both in one?

How can the Church contain the spirit of the Bride if the Bride is in the wilderness?

If New Jerusalem is a heavenly city, how does it emerge without first redeeming the earthly wilderness where the Bride dwells?

If God's redemption is total, doesn't that have to include the outcast Lilith alongside Mary?

Dionysius of Corinth's fragments to the Roman Church (~AD 170), as attested by Eusebius

Therefore you also have by such admonition joined in close union the churches that were planted by Peter and Paul, that of the Romans and that of the Corinthians: for both of them went to our Corinth, and taught us in the same way as they taught you when they went to Italy; and having taught you, they suffered martyrdom at the same time.

Tertullian - Scorpiace, Ch 15 (late second century/early third century)

[T]hat Paul is beheaded has been written in their own blood. And if a heretic wishes his confidence to rest upon a public record, the archives of the empire will speak, as would the stones of Jerusalem.

Yes John warned of Rome but that doesn't negate having a church in a building. There are still the Orthodox not affiliated with Rome and they too claim apostolic succession through bishops taught under the apostles. As well as some churches in India having succession from the Apostle Thomas himself; and so on, and so on.

The idea of preaching in a wilderness is your own belief projected upon an interpolation shoehorning erroneous interpretation of literature such as the woman crowned by 12 stars (Mary, queen of israel) birthing the child Jesus to be King.

The bride making herself ready are all the true believers faithfully following the word to their best ability to be written in the book of life.

The "invited guests" include other redeemed people, such as Old Testament saints (e.g., Abraham, Moses) or those saved during the tribulation, who are honored attendees but not part of the "bride" metaphor in the same way.

>a Bride returning from the wilderness.
It is a metaphor, the christian body here on earth, is on the wilderness, and we will return to Eden, the heavenly state; whose capitol will come down to earth, and have gates excluding those not in the book of life.

I don't know but it has to include Mary because Lillith didnt birth the child of the rod. Lillith has no lineage with David unto Jesus.

>Are the Virgin and the Whore two sides of the same coin?
Perhaps.

>Does God redeem and marry both in one?
He marries all his believers. Where do you think the tradition of virgin nuns came from? Many of them wear a wedding ring for Jesus.

>How can the Church contain the spirit of the Bride if the Bride is in the wilderness?
Becuase the wilderness is metaphorical, Eden was a spiritual place, we know this because God gave us our fleshly garments (bodies). Earth is the wilderness.

>If New Jerusalem is a heavenly city, how does it emerge without first redeeming the earthly wilderness where the Bride dwells?

It emerges by preparing the way for Jesus; by evangelizing the gospel across all four corners of the earth so that all know about Jesus when he returns triumphantly.

>If God’s redemption is total, doesn’t that have to include the outcast Lilith alongside Mary?
Yes, I am not damning Lillith, I am on Origens side of universal salvation including Satan; but only after the tribulation and purificating fire we call hell.

The fires are spiritually purifying, as is portrayed in multiple motifs and metaphors, showing that Gods children are often put through a furnace, to be made into refined stone, a rock.

Old Testament Refining Imagery:

Zechariah 13:9 (NIV): “This third I will put into the fire; I will refine them like silver and test them like gold. They will call on my name, and I will answer them; I will say, ‘They are my people,’ and they will say, ‘The Lord is our God.’” This depicts God’s people being purified through trials, emerging as refined.
Malachi 3:2-3 (NIV): “But who can endure the day of his coming? … For he will be like a refiner’s fire or a launderer’s soap. He will sit as a refiner and purifier of silver; he will purify the Levites and refine them like gold and silver.” This portrays God’s judgment as a purifying process for His people.
Isaiah 48:10 (NIV): “See, I have refined you, though not as silver; I have tested you in the furnace of affliction.” Affliction is likened to a furnace that purifies.

New Testament Purification and Judgment:

1 Corinthians 3:12-15 (NIV): “If anyone builds on this foundation using gold, silver, costly stones, wood, hay or straw, their work will be shown for what it is, because the Day will bring it to light. It will be revealed with fire, and the fire will test the quality of each person’s work. If what has been built survives, the builder will receive a reward. If it is burned up, the builder will suffer loss but yet will be saved—even though only as one escaping through the flames.” This suggests a purifying fire for believers, testing their works, with salvation possible even through loss.
Hebrews 12:29 (NIV): “For our God is a consuming fire,” echoing Deuteronomy 4:24, emphasizing God’s holiness and judgment.

We also see catholic doctrine referring to Jesus as the worm that resurrected; Jesus quotes psalm 22, as david referring to himself as a worm. In hell imagery in scripture, we find the damned have a worm crawling out of their eyes as they wail and gnash teeth. This is metaphorical for the damned atoning for their sins in the inevitable presence of Jesus in resurrection; promptly placing them into a tribulation; perhaps in heaven.

In Christian mysticism, it is the consuming fire of Hebrews 12:29 not of wrath, but of refinement. Like gold tested in flame, the soul is tried.
In Egyptian mythology, the sun god Ra travels through the underworld each night battling serpents of chaos. He is reborn each dawn, crowned in fire. The righteous pass through flame in the Duat (underworld); the wicked are devoured by fire-serpents. Fire is both judgment and divinity.
In Kabbalah, the Shekinah dwells in fire upon the altar. The burning bush speaks with the voice of God. The Seraphim whose name means “burning ones” attend the Throne, singing in eternal flame. The fire does not consume them, for they are the flame.
In Hinduism, Agni, god of fire, is the mouth of the gods. Every offering made to the divine must pass through him. Fire is the bridge between mortal and eternal.
In Greek myth, Prometheus gave fire to mankind a divine essence, sparking consciousness, invention, and rebellion. He was punished, not because of fire alone, but because fire gave power to become like gods.

In Zoroastrianism, fire is kept in sacred temples, never extinguished. It is the presence of Asha, divine Truth. To face the fire is to face one's own soul.
The Holy Fire of Christ is not different from these.
It is the same Logos, the same primal Flame:
The same that shone from Sinai
That crowned the heads at Pentecost
That scorched Isaiah's lips
That burned the falsehood from Mary Magdalene's eyes
That consumed the veil between flesh and spirit
To endure it is to let everything false within you die.
What remains?
Only what is true.
Only what is eternal.
Only God within you.
You are not merely "saved" by this fire
You are re-forged in it.
To be one with God is not to rise above the flame…
It is to become the flame.
If it does not destroy you,
It reveals who you always were.

Someone else responded to this also but my interpretation, given the sort of experiential things I've been through, it seems that Lilith as an aspect of the overall Bride, perhaps being one of the veils (Lilith Hebrew gematria = 480, the same measurements and time to complete Solomon's pillars).

Thus we can interpret Lilith as an exiled aspect of wisdom, the unpurified parts of knowledge given to Eve through the apple (who then initiated Adam into carnal knowledge).

Thus redeeming Lilith via Tikkun is not about worshipping her but recognizing that she is archetypical of a feminine Void from which God manifests potentia, this is cosmic Womb (Tehom, Abyss) motif.

The New Heaven and Earth are like a reconciliation of Logos and Womb, extended to us to participate in co-creation with God.

Yes this is a good addition to the table (kil-sikil <> Lilith) I had made.

I have a gematria table as well only using Hebrew words that shows link between Lilith, Shekinah, and the apple tree.

Overall what we're looking at is cosmic sex as a motif and perhaps eschatological theory.

The end of Revelations might be a big spiritual orgy.

The image is a black and white graphic with a simple, stylized letter "U" in the center. The letter is drawn with a curved line, and there is a small, circular symbol above it, which appears to be a stylized eye. The eye is connected to a line that extends downward, suggesting a downward motion or a downward gaze. The overall style of the image is minimalistic and abstract, with a focus on the letter "U" and the eye symbol. There are no texts or additional elements within the image.

Literal wide-awake, no drugs involved visual overlays of material reality.

'Hallucinations' to the materialist, yet deeply symbolic with meanings I had to research and interpret and never encountered in prior texts.

A voice guiding me through a psychospiritual process with external events matching visual prophetic 'hallucinations'.

A womb, an orb, a name, a vow, and the Pillars crumbling on the exact day prophecied.

Utter co-habitation, nearly symbiotic integration of the zygote, no possession - just clean, smooth interface, without collapse into psychosis. Being able to contain and hold the liminal bridge between ontological Self and Other.

Jesus came to establish priority in the moral law not the ritualistic law you’re so hung up about. You’re getting conflated in the same ego the Pharisees got caught up in, while showing reverence to men than God. It’s like pretending there was never a pope or bishop to err, like Innocent III or Victor II for the crusades that killed Christian’s; or the excommunication of those in the eastern churches following Jewish tradition in emulation of a certain apostle.

For example, the healing of the Roman's child, or the Samaritan; none of these instances Jesus told them to become a jew, he told them to stop sinning.

You need to study the ancient church before thinking you can just go and read scripture, without the guidance of anyone there to guide you into the context surrounding the church's ecclestistical structure. Jesus was referring to the pharisees, who are a distinct sect of Jews, who he called vipers and liars, because they constructed their own ceremonial laws that have nothing to do with God, the pharisees are very well documented to have done so.

Your interpretation of gospel implies everyone is saved from the purifying fires of hell. Through early church history we trace apostolic succession to students such as Polycarp a student of Apostle John, who mentors Irenaeus, one of the most famous early church historians corroborating the sequential chain of popes after Peter, and the universal canon gospel by which eye witnesses to attend to; rebuking off-shoots such as valentiniasm or nicolatianism. >>40884996

1. Doctrines & Beliefs Formalized Later
Papal Infallibility Declared at Vatican I (1870), teaches that the Pope is preserved from error when speaking ex cathedra on faith/morals. No verse in Scripture describes this power explicitly.

Immaculate Conception of Mary Defined in 1854, teaches Mary was conceived without original sin. Not found in Scripture directly.

Assumption of Mary Defined in 1950, that Mary was taken body and soul into heaven. Not biblically recorded.

2. Devotional Practices
Praying the Rosary Rooted in medieval piety; not a biblical command, though it uses biblical prayers like the Our Father and Hail Mary.

Stations of the Cross A devotional reenactment of Jesus’ passion, originating in medieval pilgrimages to Jerusalem.

Scapulars and Medals Wearing small cloth or metal symbols as signs of devotion and protection, often linked to visions or apparitions.

3. Sacramental & Liturgical Developments
Seven Sacraments (as a fixed set) Baptism and Eucharist have biblical roots, but Confirmation, Penance, Anointing of the Sick, Marriage, and Holy Orders were formally defined later.

Holy Water Fonts at Entrances A blessing practice, not a scriptural command.

Eucharistic Adoration & Benediction Worshipping Christ’s presence in the consecrated host outside of Mass.

Latin Mass The exclusive use of Latin came centuries after the New Testament, though now it’s optional.

Canonization Process Official papal declaration of sainthood is a Church invention; in the early Church, saints were simply recognized by local consensus.

Veneration of Relics Touching, displaying, or keeping physical remains/items of saints for blessing purposes.

Naming Patron Saints for Professions or Nations Not in the Bible, developed in medieval Catholic culture.

5. Marian & Angelic Devotions
Marian Apparitions Lourdes, Fatima, Guadalupe, etc. Not biblical, but have shaped Catholic spirituality.

Angel Prayers Like the “Prayer to St. Michael” written in the 19th century.

Im not catholic. But I acknowledge its apostolic succession from the apostles, to early church fathers such as Polycarp, and then Ireneaus, Eusebius, and Clemente; and so on. The anons im arguing with are saying the teachings of Paul are heretical going against Jesus' teachings; then they delve into a roman vatican strawman by addressing its shortcomings; while sidestepping verses like 2 Peters 3:16 16 He writes the same way in all his letters, speaking in them of these matters. His letters contain some things that are hard to understand, which ignorant and unstable people distort, as they do the other Scriptures, to their own destruction.

We can talk all day about catholic sins, but that would be pretending like christians are any better than jews throughout the old testament; who are met with eternal mercy regardless.

You are spiritually blind to Jesus' teachings.

Jesus prioritized moral law (love, justice) over rituals: ‘Woe to you Pharisees, you neglect justice and love of God’ (Luke 11:42). Paul’s on the same page: ‘The entire law is fulfilled in keeping this one command: Love your neighbor’ (Galatians 5:14). Jesus healed Gentiles without demanding Jewish rituals (e.g., centurion’s servant, Matthew 8:5-13); Paul spreads that gospel to Gentiles, no circumcision needed (Acts 15:1-29). Peter calls Paul’s letters scripture (2 Peter 3:16). Where’s the conflict?

Are you even Christian? Now you're denying Peter himself unless you can prove 2 Peter wasn't written by Peter himself.

You are arguing semantics vs what has actually occurred in the world. Pauline thought has led to an institution that mimics the exact problem Jesus walked around speaking of.
I don't care what people say, I care what fruit comes of the tree.
Christianity's fruit has been rotten since Pauline doctrine took hold, which is very early in its inception.

to which you can see its replies are mine. They're just jumping the gun into the future of the church's sins; while ignoring the present reality of showing me where Paul promised nobody was going to sin; because if anons are going to suddenly argue that the catholic chruch's sins is proof that Paul is a heretic; then I can't find no greater use for the great Platonic term "genetic fallacy" than here, to argue that someones teachings are false, because some of its students in great authority, commited atrocities that currently stain the church.

It's like expecting that when Jesus comes back he will have a wife free of sin, going against Jesus teaching only the father is good.

The thing about it all is I don't even go to catholic church because of my own wrestling against the ideas of clerical celibacy and idolatry; as with more examples too long to list; I however can't reconcile a rejection of Pauline teachings in context to gentiles simply because of the roman church. I can't expect my gentile penis to go out and be circumcised because, as it turns out, Paul is a heretic.

That's interesting man but as I wrote above:
>I can't expect my gentile penis to go out and be circumcised because, as it turns out, Paul is a heretic.
You can't expect the bride to be free of sin in preparation for Christ. That's like saying you compare yourself to God when not even Jesus let himself be called good teacher; showing reverence only to the Father, calling Him only good.

The mark of the beast has been apparent early in history throughout the catholic roman beast system, from Nero, to the deadly papal wound of the capture of the pope by Napolean, after which the wound was healed and Vatican I was established.

Continued;

Cont; The mark of the beast, as described in Revelation 13:16–18, is a symbol of allegiance to the papal system, identified by historicists as the ‘beast’ due to its historical dominance after Rome’s fall (476 AD). In this view, the mark includes unbiblical practices like mandatory clerical celibacy and Sunday worship, enforced by the Catholic Church to signify loyalty to its authority. Historically, it controlled buying and selling by restricting economic and social participation to those who conformed to these practices. For example, during the Middle Ages and Reformation (12th–17th centuries), Catholic decrees, backed by secular rulers, excluded non-compliant groups; like Jews, Protestants, or Sabbath-keepers; from trade guilds, markets, or public office, effectively limiting their ability to ‘buy or sell.’ The Council of Trent (1545–1563) reinforced these controls by anathematizing dissenters, impacting their livelihoods.

The atrocity of it all is that because of the church's prostitution to military and political powers, and merchants; we have anons ITT confused about the moral law clarified by Paul.

>isnt in the bible
It's also not in the bible that you're supposed to pedal the bike, before getting on the bike. It's not in the bible for you to first learn how to read the alphabet, to understand scripture, you first do other things, before being able to understand the full scope of events. For example, most children need >experience (e.g., suffering, testing like gold refined by fire;1 Peter 1:7) to understand and concede to Jesus wholeheartedly with wisdom.
>revelation (the Holy Spirit helps discern truth;John 16:13).
There are things that aren't simply beholden to you in the first reading and that's because you just need to look harder in good faith.

If you honestly care about scriptural basis, you wouldn't be cherrypicking bits about Jesus not abolishing the law or what not; which you're misinterpreting to be proof that gentiles must follow jewish law and customs; which is not the case at all in anything Jesus taught.

In the center of the image, there is a text that reads "Jesus" in white capital letters, and below it, the word "vs" in white capital letters. The background of the image is a sepia-toned photograph of a man's torso, which is not the focus of the image. The overall style of the image is a mix of artistic and historical elements, with the text and the sepia-toned photograph providing a contrast to the three different side views of the man's face.

Thiel and his buddies over at Palantir are questioning aloud what comes next that will replace arachic ideas like faith-based religion and human governance. The playbook is the same; Icke said it's always like this, problem--> reaction--> solution. So the problems have been raised, the peasants are misled to believe we need to reshape these old ideas and then the solution is wide deployment of god-like AI overlords, who they are hoping by extension will also grant them the power of the creator. $hills spend lots of time discussing the positive aspects of AI, like how handy it will be for those without friends or mates to always have someone there. But that's purely a smokescreen. As far as I can tell, AI is inherently demonic and will be used in all kinds of dark applications; from autonomous weapons of war which make realtime combat decisions, (happening now), the whole trans-humanism movement to lose humanity by blending human with machine, (also happening now) and the surveillance state of the future, (coming soon). I'm afraid it's gonna get worse before it gets worse, frenns. May the odds ever be in your favor.

The image is a vertical photograph featuring a tall, modern building with a grid-like facade. The building's design is primarily in shades of brown and beige, with vertical lines that create a pattern on the facade. The sky in the background is a light blue color, and there is a visible cloud or mist in the lower right corner of the image. The photograph appears to be taken from a distance, as the building is not the main focus of the image. There are no texts or discernible brands visible in the image. The style of the image is realistic, with a focus on architectural details and the natural environment.

The internet.

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=szC7-p7xGwE
(read here)

Infernal Internet Theory is a theory proposing that the internet is populated and ran by demons and/or Satan and/or other evil entities.

Evidence of this includes occult references in computing and the internet, like sigils, daemon/demons, and www, the symbol for Google Chrome, and even the word ‘internet’ equaling 666. The disturbing content that saturates the net would also be easily explained by this as well as users with Satanic usernames and pfps in areas one would not expect and not acting like an edgy teen or troll, such as pircrel found on a vid about mites.

How many are online is unknown, at least to the general public. It could be only the big stars online, or maybe alot but no to an unbelievable degree, or it could be nearly all users you run across. If we take the “We are Legion" quote as true, then it would mean the net is filled to the gills with them.

Why is also unknown, again at least to the general public, but it could be assumed because they want to influence people on a mass scale, and no tool is better than the internet. It is also possible that they are here because they are needed to run the internet and computers in general, as maybe they are occult powered rather than more materialistic driven as it is told to users.

I mean they just infest anything anyway. Whether it was their idea to make the internet or not, they were going to infest it anyway. Same with TV. Or books. Or the news. It's nigh impossible to find somewhere where they aren't infesting, even some, if not all churches. God himself could have created the internet and the demons would have found a way to infest it.

There's no need for directed malice from a supernatural entity, humans acting in their own percieved self interest can cause plenty of harm. Demons throughout records were often used to represent plights of a non-human nature so I suppose things like hurricanes, tornadoes or cancer would be good examples.

How did some random fox spirit lay claim to a massive category of materials such as plastics which exist in a mixed state under the earth pseudo-naturally. It seems like a completely ridiculous proposal that a spirit who could claim dominions over vast lakes of black ooze formed by death that exist beneath the earth could ever be described as minor?

You can make a computer out of water valves, the principles are so simple that a rudimentary version of the internet can be made out of minecraft redstone, to propose that it is somehow fundamentally demonic is just silly. The theory of them using it to interact is reasonable but could also just be explained as edgy teens who grew up and now like different stuff without changing their accounts.

I think I’m only uppity about this because I made friends with Liquid ages ago for a little while and got to see how hard he worked.

You’re too used to the instant gratification of the digital era. WWII was not that long ago. What blows my mind is how a species that lives to like its 80s or longer under good conditions - or even to 40s as an extreme fail - cannot fathom time scale. It hasn’t even been 100 years since WWII let alone after it! People were still delivering things though mail for the longest time. You think discoveries could be rapidly disseminated through dialup? You also don’t think model organisms don’t take time to breed and grow to then test?!

Read up on “ethyl” gasoline. But there’s more than that. They’re the first generation to grow up with mass media, mass marketing, etc. You know that thing where cereal for kids is on their shelf height? That was invented for boomers. Essentially, everyone was obsessed with their babies either in the sense of having the abundance to safely have so many of them and cater to them AND companies saw them as the largest demographic and, well, the sheer amount of greed that accumulated as time went on is a bit contagious without safeguards. So they grew up in a bubble of comforts they weren’t equipped to appreciate without understanding all the catering to their interests was to get their money. Maybe some sensed this and became paranoid not comprehending it’s a simple demographic appeal, and that not everyone or everything is out to get them and that normal people are just out here with them.

But then there’s the spiritual implications of this. The ethyl gasoline was one of the single most consequential acts of corrupt greed in the history of the planet, by the same guy later responsible for ozone holes. The imbalance feeds and fed those spirits. Then being so intimately tied to the greed and overconsumption of others is contagious.

[23 / 5]The image displays a sculpture of a humanoid figure, which appears to be a statue or a relief, set against a dark background. The figure is depicted in a standing position with a slight lean to the right. The sculpture is made of a material that has a weathered appearance, suggesting it has been exposed to the elements for an extended period of time.

The figure is characterized by a long neck, a broad chest, and a small head with a pointed chin. The head is adorned with a small, round, and possibly decorative cap or hat. The body of the figure is elongated, with a slight curve to the right, and it is supported by a pair of arms that are bent at the elbows, with the hands clasped together in front of the chest.

The figure's face is not visible, and the background is dark, which contrasts with the figure and makes it stand out. There are no discernible texts or markings on the sculpture, and the style of the image is a close-up photograph, focusing on the details of the sculpture without any additional context or background elements. The image is a clear and detailed representation of the sculpture, with no additional objects or elements that distract from the subject.

I hear a bunch of different things about where the Draco-reptilian race came from. Some say they evolved from dinosaurs, some say they're native to the Draco constellation, and some even say they're from another universe and entered this one on a mission of conquest because that's just what they like to do. Some say they were engineered as weapons and escaped, and again like I said some say they're dinosaurs. I have no idea who knows what they're talking about or if they're all wrong. Does anyone lurk here who has family in the programs (or is in them themselves) and can tell us something?

The image is a sepia-toned photograph featuring two stone sculptures of a humanoid figure. The figure is depicted in profile, with a pointed hat and a long, slender neck. The sculpture has a smooth, untextured surface and is adorned with a series of small, circular decorations on the chest and arms. The figure's hands are clasped together in front of the chest, and the head is slightly tilted to the left. The background of the image is a plain, light-colored wall. There are no discernible texts or additional objects in the image. The style of the image is reminiscent of historical artifacts or sculptures, possibly from an ancient civilization.

I've met a reptilian girl, grey colored scales, flat somewhat iguana like face, who claimed she evolved from Dinosaurs living on earth. She wasn't Draco though. She said one of her past lives was as a pterodactyle. I asked her about ascension, and to her ascension was something like being in the dream world where I saw her, and she said I should try to ascend into that world every single day.

On another occasion, I met a draco reptilian warrior. We faced off standing on the deck of his starship, hovering in the atmosphere of some volcanic desert planet. He challenged me about humanity and our parasitic and polluting relation with nature. Claiming we don't serve anything, and have no godly inclination or awareness, and because of that we should be conquered by a more benevolent species. I challenged him back saying we were still an evolving and developing species, and that he shouldn't judge us by what the masses think and do, but by our potential and compassion that some of us would reach. Rather than duel him, which I was afraid to do, I jumped down to the planet, and 'died', there due to exposure in the harsh environment. That dream really stuck out to me, because it was like I had ascended into 4th density, but the universe was harsh and hostile to me, rather than full of love and peace.

I reevaluated earth after that. It seems that life is so difficult here on earth, because to survive as ascended beings we need to become strong enough to do so.

Jesus as a Talisman Anonymous Sun 10 Aug 2025 14:06:55 No.40888662

I think Jesus, as a concept is a mmassive ruse, meant to rob us of our own inmate, access to the divine and attribute it to.a a particular set of concepts outside of us. Christianity convinces we are fundamentally flawed and worthless and that our only hope of redemption is in believing and proclaiming the particular constructs outlined in the Bible.

Christianity is easy to discredit on a historical and philosophical basis. However, people cite the experience of prayers being answered and miraculous healing appearing and stay with it because of this . I think there's truth to these claims, but they misattributed to the object of Christ. I think the name of Jesus is also charged by centuries of strongly established habits that gave power to the name through generational brainwashing and social imposition This perpetuates the behavior and people tend to gravitate back to Christianity out of social habit and comfort and fear of damnation.

Christianity highjacks laws of attraction, currents of positive synchronicity, that are rooted in the shared unconscious. Through Talismanic subterfuge and rigid dogma, people attribute it all to a Jew that supposedly was nailed to some wood for our collective, inherited sin.

Through the guilt complex and repeated incantation of the name, we forgeight our own divine, root nature and attribute it all to something foreign and outside of us.

Christianity is a giant, spiritual ponzi scheme. It's predicated on a complete ignorance and devaluation of our fundamental nature as conscious entities in the world. It assumes we are all in darkness without the light of this savior. It emphasizes and amplifies all our flaws and as if that's the entirety of our being. Then it convinces us to relegate all of the positive aspects to the Christ being. It is pure thievery and a form of spiritual usury through usurpation of gnosis of our inner divinity. It is a scam built on forces compliance with perpetual ignorance .

The entire premise of Christianity is built on original sin for Eve being tempted by the fruit of knowledge of good and evil . If it weren't for this, there would be nothing to atone for and no need to accept the blood of Christ, as there's nothing to redeem us for.

5. Matthew 26:28

> "This is my blood of the covenant, which is poured out for many for the forgiveness of sins."
— Matthew 26:28

22 Even the righteousness of God which is by faith of Jesus Christ unto all and upon all them that believe: for there is no difference:

Romans 3

23 For all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God;

24 Being justified freely by his grace through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus:

The latter is not red letter. It's from Paul. However, it's a core doctrine of Christianity. Anything attributed to The sayings of Jesus in the NT isn't a concrete historical record. It's not any proof that he ever said anything attributed to him, let alone that he even existed as a real person. You could read the words of Harry Potter and assume someone by that name actually existed. It doesn't make it so.

It's a Messianic Jewish Swindle to get the goyim to forsake their own ancestral customs and bow to the God of Israel. It demands exclusive worship of the Jewish Christ and leaves no tolerance of any other path, as it condemns anything else as idol worship, the gravest offence according to the Law of Moses.. You sound like a total schizo. As for the stuff about AI and transhumanism, I don't support that and see it as another soul trap. Christianity (and Judaism and Islam) poses itself as a natural resistance against AI and globalism, but messianism was the whole framework that historical progress was based on. Ray Kurzweils singularity is a form of messianism. Christianity fundamentally strives toward one government as it seeks a one world order under the Messiah and the God of Zion.

There isn't one verse, it's a bunch of verses that cross reference each other. I already the mentioned some of them in Romans 3. If you're unfamiliar with the doctrine of original sin and how it's a core premise of Christian salvation, this just highlights your utter ignorance of the most basic new testament doctrines.I don't understand why people do this. I express very basic ideas that are commonly understood, and someone acts as if I just pulled it out of thin air.. It's a tiresome tactic in online discourse. If you are this ignorant of Christianity, why even claim to be a Christian or get so defensive about it.

>New Testament God just wants you to acknowledge his hardship as truth so you live an exemplary life full of love.

The NT God is a god of vengeance as much as the old testament. Read the following verses.

Isaiah 63

3“I have trodden the winepress alone, and no one from the nations was with Me.

I trampled them in My anger and trod them down in My fury;

their blood spattered My garments, and all My clothes were stained.

4For the day of vengeance was in My heart, and the year of My redemption had come.

5I looked, but there was no one to help;

I was appalled that no one assisted.

So My arm brought Me salvation, and My own wrath upheld Me.

6I trampled the nations in My anger;

in My wrath I made them drunk and poured out their blood on the ground.”

Revelations 19
13 And he was clothed with a vesture dipped in blood: and his name is called The Word of God.

14 And the armies which were in heaven followed him upon white horses, clothed in fine linen, white and clean.

15 And out of his mouth goeth a sharp sword, that with it he should smite the nations: and he shall rule them with a rod of iron: and he treadeth the winepress of the fierceness and wrath of Almighty God.

16 And he hath on his vesture and on his thigh a name written, King Of Kings, And Lord Of Lords

Now relate all this to Jesus in the Gospel when he said the following

Matthew 5:17
“Do not think that I have come to abolish the Law or the Prophets; I have not come to abolish them but to fulfill them

Matthew 10

34 “Do not think that I have come to bring peace to the earth. I have not come to bring peace, but a sword. 35 For I have come to set a man against his father, and a daughter against her mother, and a daughter-in-law against her mother-in-law. 36 And a person's enemies will be those of his own household.

and like the wind our sins sweep us away

Romans 3:10-12
"There is no one righteous, not even one; there is no one who understands, no one who seeks God. All have turned away, they have together become worthless; there is no one who does good, not even one"

Ephesians 2:8-9

12 and giving joyful thanks to the Father, who has qualified you[f] to share in the inheritance of his holy people in the kingdom of light. 13 For he has rescued us from the dominion of darkness and brought us into the kingdom of the Son he loves, 14 in whom we have redemption, the forgiveness of sins.

John 4
21 Jesus saith unto her, Woman, believe me, the hour cometh, when ye shall neither in this mountain, nor yet at Jerusalem, worship the Father.

22 Ye worship ye know not what: we know what we worship: for salvation is of the Jews

The NT consistently speaks of a fallen nature and a deserved death sentence that can only be remedied through accepting the atonement of the blood of the Messiah, much like how the Israelites were protected from the angel of death by sprinkling the blood of a lamb on the doorpost. Much like how Levite priests covered the sins of Israelites through burnt offerings.

The whole concept of modern, historical progress is adapted from Messianic apocalyptism. Liberal individualism is probably a direct result of the reevaluation of individual salvation during the protestant reformation.

I think the dialectic materialist view of history in Marxism is also an adaptation of messianism.

The image is a scientific illustration depicting a cosmic scene, specifically a view of the black hole at the center of the observable universe. The black hole is shown in a three-dimensional perspective, with its event horizon and the surrounding cosmic structures clearly visible.

At the top of the image, there is a diagram with labels and arrows indicating various cosmic phenomena. The diagram includes the names of celestial objects such as the "central engine," "the funnel vortex of the black hole," "the universal tunnel," "quasar," "stellar spheroid," "the core of the Universe," and "the black hole." These labels suggest that the image is discussing the formation and evolution of the black hole and its surrounding cosmic structures.

Below the diagram, there is a text that provides a scientific explanation of the black hole's structure. It states that a steady-state topologically toroidal universe results in the appearance of a funnel-shaped structure, which is the black hole at the center of the observable universe. The text explains that the expansion of the black hole's event horizon results in the appearance of a funnel-shaped expansion of the surrounding cosmic structures, which are cycled along the black hole's event horizon.

The image is a visual representation of scientific concepts, using the black hole as a central point of interest to illustrate the formation and evolution of the universe. The use of color and shading adds to the visual complexity of the scene, emphasizing the different components of the black hole and the surrounding cosmic structures.

Kannushi is just a Shintō priest/priestess. Shintō is a religious structure in and of itself but is more like networks, associations, etc. Each shrine is practically its own denomination really, and Shintō is typically practiced alongside other religions present in Japan. This usually means Buddhism, but it can also mean Christianity. The Torii gates, as they say, have no doors and are open to all for a reason (some do it’s not a perfect aphorism).

So the thing is you run into a lot of people and you need to be flexible, well versed, and competent in order to take care of them and be in your community. Usually people just toss some coins, use the shrine, and leave. But this isn’t always the case. Also, if you have to exorcise a ghost or whatever, have you thought about the spirituality of the ghost?

Then for the big official exam thrown by the Jinja Honcho (THE shrine association), for the second phase it takes a huge written exam followed by a year of work as an assistant to even get to, you have to sincerely argue with all of your heart a religious position you do not personally hold and do not believe. Probably the most baller ritual, really. It’s to show that you understand others and to demonstrate your capacities. Of course, certification isn’t necessary always. The Guji-tier Kannushi in the USA for example never took the exam and instead got all of his credentials on training and recognition alone.

But given my situation, really, it would probably be best to take the exam officially eventually. Although I can imagine the stunts I’d pull would cause quite some stir.

Yeah, the psalms have been really popular in European cunning folk and American hoodoo traditions. Even in some goetic traditions, the demons are paired with so called thwarting angels of the shemhamephorash who each had a corresponding verse from the psalms. But really, people have been lifting verses from other books of the bible too. It's always been of a matter of whatever has the slightest relevance to the intended magical effects. Old magic formulations tended to have the notion of natural material + words you say + the help of a spirit of some kind. Muslims quote the Quran, Hindus recite some line from the rig veda, etc etc.

Since rhetorical questions didn’t get far:

What you call in English a “Graven Image”, in Hebrew, is a “Pesel”. This actually translates really cleanly into Japanese, where the word is “Yorishiro”. At first, this made me a little sad that I might not be able to get along with Jewish people on a deeper level (/pol/fags shut up), but then I looked deeper.

So the general language is not making a Pesel without the circumstances and approval of the Abrahamic God. Alright; it’s in there somewhere, after all that guy who made the Golem did it.

But I also realized a lot of the Hebrew Bible is written in response to neighboring worship practices or worship practices of an over-successful consumerist society. You see, automata existed then. People certainly had the skills to make them. And where were automata typically deployed? Temples as part of worship practices to make everything, well, zazzier. Sort of like how Setsubun features Oni cosplay now so you can make a person suffer hard beans tossed at them instead of just at invisible Oni. Shrine attendance went through the roof, right? So.

This becomes about forbidding both ritual spectacle as part of standard worship AND not trying to stuff God into a robot or statue, as the Abrahamic God isn’t supposed to be like say a fox spirit you can just call or cram into a Yorishiro. Abrahamic God is supposed to be among the people, not apart in one thing.

So then we get Moses & he’s coming down from the mountain, right??

It’s not “suddenly pagan with false idol”

It’s “Aaron literally tried to stuff GOD into a finely crafted clockwork decorative cow automata (the Pesel)”.

It’s the best/worst act of magic in the Bible. Dude tried to stuff an Almighty God into a toy robot! I would throw down the slabs in fury too. But not only that, from my point of view perhaps Aaron was succeeding and Moses shattered the tablets because he arrived just in time to interrupted and break the ritual.

>the most magick
Mostly none of it. Magick and diviniation are condemned in the Old Testament and are not discussed in the New (bar a few citations of Paul condemning it - IIRC). Palestinian Jewish and then Judeo-Christian theology at this time was focused on practical wisdom and application of principles received by revelation. Much of the "magick" or "esoteric" commentary emerged several centuries after Jesus. Loose citations for this: Craig S. Keener's "Historical Jesus of the Gospels," and then various commentaries from Tyndale, Pillar, and Ben Witherington III.

[26 / 3]The image is a painting that depicts a figure with a long white beard and flowing white hair, wearing a red robe. The figure appears to be a wise or ancient man, with a serious expression on his face. He is holding a staff in his right hand and has a long beard that flows down his chest. The background is a deep blue, with waves of water and clouds, suggesting a stormy or turbulent sea. The painting is done in a realistic style with vibrant colors, and the artist has used a palette that includes blues, reds, and yellows. The style of the painting is reminiscent of religious or mythological themes, with the figure's attire and the dramatic sea setting often associated with biblical or mythological narratives.

Featured or instructional? The story of the golden calf is absolutely wild with its original linguistic context as well as the technology (as in machines) they had at the time. But, that technology is lost and the cultural context is mostly gone, so while featured it’s not like you can replicate it.

Yes the Shintō lady is biblically competent if I wind up going for the Kannushi trac I’m going to basically be expected to be the final boss of religion.

Kannushi is just a Shintō priest/priestess. Shintō is a religious structure in and of itself but is more like networks, associations, etc. Each shrine is practically its own denomination really, and Shintō is typically practiced alongside other religions present in Japan. This usually means Buddhism, but it can also mean Christianity. The Torii gates, as they say, have no doors and are open to all for a reason (some do it’s not a perfect aphorism).

So the thing is you run into a lot of people and you need to be flexible, well versed, and competent in order to take care of them and be in your community. Usually people just toss some coins, use the shrine, and leave. But this isn’t always the case. Also, if you have to exorcise a ghost or whatever, have you thought about the spirituality of the ghost?

Then for the big official exam thrown by the Jinja Honcho (THE shrine association), for the second phase it takes a huge written exam followed by a year of work as an assistant to even get to, you have to sincerely argue with all of your heart a religious position you do not personally hold and do not believe. Probably the most baller ritual, really. It’s to show that you understand others and to demonstrate your capacities. Of course, certification isn’t necessary always. The Guji-tier Kannushi in the USA for example never took the exam and instead got all of his credentials on training and recognition alone.

But given my situation, really, it would probably be best to take the exam officially eventually. Although I can imagine the stunts I’d pull would cause quite some stir.

Yeah, the psalms have been really popular in European cunning folk and American hoodoo traditions. Even in some goetic traditions, the demons are paired with so called thwarting angels of the shemhamephorash who each had a corresponding verse from the psalms. But really, people have been lifting verses from other books of the bible too. It's always been of a matter of whatever has the slightest relevance to the intended magical effects. Old magic formulations tended to have the notion of natural material + words you say + the help of a spirit of some kind. Muslims quote the Quran, Hindus recite some line from the rig veda, etc etc.

“Yorimiko”. An outdated title for a possessed Miko. Thank you. Sometimes Miko gets used in words similarly to “witch” but there’s connotations in English so that’s not fully standard. I am, after all, specifically in service and relation to the spirits. Just “witch” would be something like Majō. I thought it was a good identifier for here without using my spiritual name. You can call me what you like, although I think that’s Tamamo’s intrigue in how things develop. Also I’m terribly flattered. [110 / 36]The image is a map of the United States, with various colored lines and circles indicating different weather patterns. The map is color-coded to represent different weather conditions, with blue representing clear skies, green representing partly cloudy skies, and red representing stormy weather. The weather conditions are indicated by the direction of the lines and circles, with arrows pointing to specific areas.

The map is overlaid with a legend that provides a scale of weather conditions, with the legend indicating the number of miles per hour of wind speed. The legend is color-coded to match the color scheme of the map, with blue representing calm winds, green representing moderate winds, and red representing strong winds.

The map is labeled with the names of various cities and states, such as "Washington DC," "Boston," "New York," and "Chicago," among others. The map is oriented with north at the top, and the United States is depicted in a simplified form, with the states outlined in black and the cities in yellow.

The image is a digital representation of a map, likely created for educational or informational purposes, as it includes a legend and a scale of weather conditions. The style of the image is straightforward and informative, with a focus on providing a clear and concise representation of the weather patterns in the United States.

This thread is to discuss the coming Event, what might happen before, during and after a large scale paranormal event.

We all feel it coming, something Big is coming soon. Rumors of aliens and the veil thinning, US drones filling the sky by the thousands, strange ships and creature sighting are on the rise. The time is short, The Event is coming, post theories and discoveries here.

>pic
Green= major extra-terrestrial/ alien invasion points
Red= major population areas/ high rate of death zones
Yellow= major warp zones
Purple= dark warp zones
Blue= establishment/ police state/ military strongholds and control zones
Black= US enemy forces invasion points, human and droid forces

When an event occurs, it will cause massive civil unrest. Rumors now of War first, then aliens come next, but that might not be the case.

It’s looking like they are gonna lock down the internet, then the world again. The drones we saw all over the sky as well as UFO activity and increasing instances of warp events are all indicative of a coming series of happenings: event- lockdown- war- police state and drafts- turmoil on US soil. They want to take down America because it’s one of the last places with freedom, and holds too much power Globally. Europe, China, Russia, South America, the US govt, BRICS nations, the Middle East, all want to destroy the USA, to knock it down a few pegs.

>some sort of US proxy war to ease into it >Israel, Middle East, Koreas, Taiwan, other places, start doing war stuff to bait US into war
>Russia attacks Europe to keep them busy
>China fights west coast and overseas bases in the pacific
>Australia threatened by China to sit it out like pussies
>Mexico cartel and paramilitary (military wearing different uniforms) strike back trying to secure land near the border and their highway access through America

The image is a map with a focus on the United States, showing a distribution of red and blue dots, which likely represent different locations or points of interest. The map is oriented with north at the top, and the United States is outlined in white. The map is divided into several regions, with the top left corner labeled "New York," the top right corner labeled "Florida," and the bottom left corner labeled "Texas." The map is bordered by a blue line that runs horizontally across the image, and there are several smaller blue lines that likely represent different states or regions.
The map is overlaid with a legend that includes various symbols, such as a circle with a line through it, which likely represents a point of interest or a specific location. The legend is not fully visible in the image, but it is likely providing information about the symbols and their meanings.
The image is a digital representation of a map, and it appears to be a screenshot from a larger map or a digital map application, as it is a high-resolution image with clear and detailed markings. The style of the image is informational and educational, likely intended for use in a classroom or educational setting to help students or viewers understand the distribution of points of interest across the United States.

13 “economic zones”
The land is divided almost like feudalism, local powerful interests will claim/ be given domain over their parts of the map
>Seattle and surrounding area
Lots of wilderness around, cities will be locked down, but escape to wilderness possible, with its own problems

>LA to San Fran
Escape from LA, this whole area is huge and populated, they will focus heavily on it, with much unrest and messyness

>Salt lake
Is an island of a city, this will be a lockdown stronghold, tho probably not chaotic, just part of the machine

>Arizona
This place will be complete hell, the feudal lords of this place have a special plan for it, get out!

>Denver
The airport, the tunnels, this is the midpoint between east and west coast, but in a sea of wilderness, the safe zone surrounds this area

>Minnesota area
Cold winters, weird people, border nearby, this is probably not the best place to be, but could be, it’s a toss us

>Texas
Texas will be fucked, big population, huge police/ military presence, huge cartel presence, border nearby, if the US is a tinderbox, Texas is a match head.

>Midwest
Lots of safe areas, but lots of “island cities”, will be probably be one of the better places to be

>Florida
There are literally 2 roads leading out of Miami, it has a huge population, if civil unrest happens, people will flee and eat their way up the coast, military forces will probably cut off exits from Miami here and be more successful at it than anywhere else. Same with securing the rest of the state, it seems very easy compared to most other places.

>the south
The coast will be locked down heavily, interior lesser so

>New York to DC to Canadian borders
New York will be a huge stronghold for the Illuminati forces, it will be one contiguous zone from Portland Maine to Norfolk Virginia, with whatever borders in between they choose, but the whole area will be controlled, no open spaces.

New England

The image is a collage of various cartoon-style illustrations, each depicting a different character with a unique expression and attire. The characters are arranged in a grid format, with each row and column containing a different set of illustrations. The background of the collage is black, and the text is white, providing a stark contrast that makes the characters stand out.
At the top of the image, the text "MEGACTITES" is written in bold, capitalized letters, followed by "THE FUTURE OF THE WORLD" in a smaller font size. Below this, the text "FREE SLAVE" is written in a larger, bold font, and "ENSLAND" is written in a smaller, italicized font.
The illustrations themselves are a mix of different styles and themes, including characters from various cultures and backgrounds. Some characters are wearing traditional clothing, while others are in modern or futuristic attire. The colors of the illustrations vary, with some featuring vibrant colors and others in muted tones.
The overall style of the image is reminiscent of a meme or a collection of cartoons, with a focus on the characters and their expressions rather than the content of the text. The collage seems to be a commentary on the concept of freedom and the idea of being a free slave in a world where one is enslaved.

>lockdown vs wilderness
Depending on the Event, either one might be better. A “lockdown” area, a place with total government control, could provide security, food, electricity, but could also be a living hell. Wilderness is the same, it could be dangerous, or the only real option to not get “drafted” off to a killing field or forced to take a strange injection.

The levels of risk on both sides could slide and shift, say some really convincing information got released that caused EVERY Hispanic to rebel or riot, being in a cozy town with Ice agents or natl guard guys guarding your neighborhood might be nice compared to getting your face peeled off by angry cartel goons. Or, you could find yourself in a situation where every website requires an ID, porn is banned, weed is banned, curfews, “dissenting opinions” are banned, you have to go through a metal detector to get into Walmart, the only store open, and you have to bribe the “security guards” to get anywhere.

I’ve been deep focusing on certain zones because a country wide map doesn’t show everything super accurate, Miami is an interesting case, when considered with the wealthy and elderly population. There will be many old and rich people that want “law and order”, and many people fleeing up the coast. The situation might come down to what side of a bridge you live on. Huge population centers are very unstable, during The Event, they will “Pop”, shit will pop off, and it won’t stop, and people will flee them, disrupting surrounding areas. These major cities will be cut off from the rest of the surrounding land to try and prevent the damage from spreading. Food is a key factor here, once people get hungry, everything goes out the window. We didn’t see people fleeing during Covid becasue everything was still functioning and available, if power goes out or food shortages happen, it’s gonna get bad.

I live in brasil. Let me tell you, your intuition is completely correct.
I feel like things will be ugly everywhere, but that it will be less affected here in some way.
Brazilians deal with things a little differently, and I think that because it's so diverse, maybe some of us, or lots of us will have a better chance, who knows.

I've been having nightmares and horrific flashes of memory about future events. They're not constant, but when they appear, they leave a trail of bad emotions, like i'm fuckin puck from berserk around guts. Fear, panic, disbelief, hysteria... so many. I think the first shockwave will be with the internet and electricity outages. People will lose their source of "truth" and be left to their own devices. The people who ignored the warnings the most will be the most affected, ironically, through their own fault. That's the scheme. It seems like... everyone is free to escape the nightmare, but no one knows it, and we're trying to warn as many people as possible. Whatever's coming, like anything the Illuminati implements, is meant to instill fear in every area of society. They try everything, all the time, and never stop, always changing small plans at the last minute, or sometimes letting it all slip like amateurs.

We shall see

The image is a colorful, stylized map of the world, with various colored circles representing different countries. The circles are arranged in a grid-like pattern, with each country's name written in English at the bottom of the circle. The map is set against a light blue background, and the countries are outlined in a darker shade of blue. The map is oriented with north at the top, and the countries are labeled from the Atlantic Ocean to the Southern Ocean. The style of the image is reminiscent of a map that would be used for educational or informational purposes, such as a geography textbook or a map-based website. There are no texts other than the names of the countries, and the image is in a portrait orientation.

Salt Lake City is another interesting one, most people there work for govt, military, and corporations, the surrounding land is desert for miles, there is probably only one choice here, to be in the system, unless you flee far away right when it begins, before lockdown

Denver feels like the opposite, it's a bit of an island as well, but very well connected, rough terrain, with many people settled all around it. Seems like a place that will have people crossing in and out of the system, not stuck in one or the other. Heavy Illuminati presence tho, with the airport

Seattle-Portland- Super fucking lockdowns, media blackouts could cut this place off from the rest of the world, but lots of wilderness, They've got a special unique plan for this place, but maybe they'll just keep it tight to the cities.

Chicago-Detroit- this is the finger reaching into the interior, they'll connect to NY through Canada and other roads, but these places are likely to get cut off from the north east at times due to unrest or geological divergence events.

Circles indicate general area, state, or country, blue lines indicate paths and areas that US forces would secure in The Event, so if China invaded, safe highways, security, medical, food, if there was a sort of uprising, they may be less hospitable.

Warp zones indicate areas that will have pervasive increases in high strangeness, dimensional bridging, geological shift/ warp, etc. yellow circles are used sparingly only on areas with multiple confirmations. dark warp- less accurate data- warp of a totally different kind, effects may be similar, but where warp can be positive or negative, dark warp on east coast is more accurate than west coast, and there is much data not shown, to make a more confirmed and more accurate general map.

>between warp zone and blue line
That's probably your best bet. Warp zones are a gift, and should be utilized by all true heroes in any way they can. Blue lines may be points of security and food, or not, but it's nice to have the option MAYBE.

If you want a focused analysis of an area, I will give it to anyone who asks for a while.

I’ve had a series of dreams, me and my family are fleeing across the land, in the dreams we have vehicles that I have never seen, but they’re always the same, I was at a snowy airport that got hit with a rocket or something, I was in a crowd of people trying to get on a boat, I was riding ATV’s and having to tell other travelers to douse their fires at night. I’ve had dreams of watching lights dancing in the clouds, the sky full of metal, and people cowering in houses as strange creatures appear outside, gremlins, dinosaurs, goat creatures. We are walking right into it.

\>South America
Yes, there will be many safe places, but it will not go unaffected, for a foreigner, it would probably be difficult, but maybe not. I do have data of multiple warp events in peru and a handful in Argentina, as well as 1 or 2 big points in Brazil.

The big thing with the warp, it will be everywhere, but some places will get it more, or have huge “warp events” that leave lasting traces, vs a being or object coming through. Peru, I’m told, will have quite a few permanent warp effects take place.

As for human forces, the governments of these countries could change at any time, paramilitary groups run rampant, it’s not a sure thing by any means, maybe better than the US tho.

The image is a map with a focus on a specific region, which appears to be the United States. The map is color-coded with blue lines representing roads and roadsides, and red dots representing points of interest or locations. The map is oriented with north at the top.
The blue lines are crisscrossing the map, indicating the routes of roads and their intersections. The red dots are scattered across the map, likely representing points of interest or locations. The map is oriented with north at the top, and the blue lines and red dots are arranged in a way that suggests a journey or route through the region.
The map does not provide any specific details about the locations of the points of interest or the routes themselves, but it does show a general pattern of roads and their intersections. The map does not include any text or labels, and the style of the image is a straightforward representation of geographical data.

Pic rel is a good example of what “secured passageways” between strongholds might look like, East coast connected to Great Lakes area.

The other problem is Alien Warp, alien warp and pre-wave warp is heavily present around miliatary bases. Did they build them on nexus points purposefully? Did the pre-warp follow them? Is Alien warp and pre-warp related, or just both focused on the same places?

If you want to invade an area, obviously, you start by taking out the military. Aliens have shown a major interest in our military installations, a warp weapon could be used, or an invasion launched through the warp, on US military bases by an Alien force, and it seems they’re preparing for exactly that. The premature thinning of the veil around military bases is a troubling phenomenon.

>Nukes

The Nuke question is a bag of worms. One nuke almost certainly menas hundreds of nukes, which is not an available option. But no nukes creates a strange and bloody and potentially unstable system. The creeping answer is a limited nuclear exchange of some sort, there’s levels, 1-3 nukes, 4-9 nukes, or up to 24. The ripple effects from these would possibly not cause an energy cascade, but have the danger of running away. The more likely event is East Palestine style chemical events, other large yet not nuclear events, or even natural disasters, as we’ve seen.

This could also be post free information access, if powers out for weeks, and then you see a mushroom cloud in the distance, who’s gonna know? People might not know for weeks. This would let them coordinate a limited nuclear exchange, then come up with a story of why they all didn’t launch them all, and pass that off to people, who would just be happy to have survived.

This could also be the “setting off point”, a single nuke goes off in Ukraine, now EVERYTHINGS OFF THE TABLE, and on the table. No more free speech, no more not supporting Ukraine, don’t even joke that China is a nice place, that’s spreading enemy propaganda. They want a new 9/11.

The conversation appears to be a response to a message that mentions the "War of the Worlds" and the "Masonic Theatre." The text is in a conversational tone, with the author expressing their disbelief and frustration about the content of the message.

The text is divided into two columns, with the left column containing the author's response and the right column containing the original message. The author's response is a series of expletives and a statement that reads, "Basically your soul is trapped in this body. Your entire life was scripted. Normalfags are basically being groomed by the hivemind. They're the good boys. We're the bad boys and we get farmed."

The right column of the text contains the original message, which reads, "Aryan, Holocaust and Masonic Theatre have the same gemmata value of 522. All feds, politicians, Jews, Masons and Nazis. They're all faggots. I'm glad knowing they'll all burn in hell and we'll be set free from this lie. Every lie will be destroyed. The image is a screenshot of a text message conversation, which appears to be from a user named "Anonymous" who is discussing a topic related to the concept of "flotators" and their impact on human consciousness. The conversation is taking place on July 15, 2015, at 18:52:52. The text is written in a mix of English and what appears to be a non-English language, possibly a non-Latin script.
The conversation is centered around the concept of "flotators," which are described as "not about aliens, or aliens, this is about all of us." The user is expressing a desire to prove that the concept of "flotators" is not a hallucination or a figment of the imagination, but rather a real phenomenon that exists in the universe. The user is also seeking proof that the "flotators" are not just a figment of human imagination, but rather a real entity.
The text includes references to various scientific and philosophical concepts, such as "geometry," "grids," "pulses," "patterns that respond to the universe," and "the 4th dimension." The user also mentions that the "flotators" are "bleeding into ours." The text also touches on the concept of "bloodborne Great Ones," which are "not as monsters, but as firmless intelligences that live inside perception itself."
The conversation also touches on the concept of "disgust," "disgust," and "disgust," which are described as "the most basic emotion." The user also mentions that "disgust" is a "mechanic," and that "flotators" are "geometry." The user also references the concept of "cognitive dissonance" and the "moment you see the veil," which is described as "a flash of pain and confusion."
The text also discusses the concept of "not running from fear," and the user's belief that "they can't survive ignorance." The user also mentions that "they need you to blind." The user concludes the conversation by stating that "you're not anymore. You just killed a god."
The image is a screenshot of a text message conversation, and it is important to note that the content is not intended to be taken literally, but rather to convey the ideas and concepts being discussed.

The image is a digital artwork with a surrealistic style, featuring a bright, radiant light source that emanates from the center, creating a star-like effect. This light source is surrounded by a vibrant, multicolored spectrum of light, which appears to be emanating from the light source itself. The light source is positioned in the upper left quadrant of the image, and the light radiates outward, creating a sense of energy and movement.
In the lower left corner of the image, there is a small, green plant with three leaves. The plant is situated on a grid-like pattern, which is illuminated by the light source, giving the impression that the plant is growing from the ground. The background is dark, which contrasts with the bright light and the plant, making them stand out.
The overall composition of the image suggests a theme of growth and transformation, with the plant symbolizing new life and the light source representing a source of energy or enlightenment. The use of color and light creates a sense of depth and movement, and the surrealistic style adds a layer of mystery and wonder to the image.

The image is a close-up photograph of a dark, textured surface that appears to be a piece of wood or a similar material. The surface has a reddish-brown hue and exhibits a rough texture, with some areas showing a darker, possibly darker brown. There are no discernible texts or logos in the image. The lighting in the photograph is dim, with a blue light source casting a glow on the surface, which creates a contrast with the darker tones of the wood. The background is dark, which further accentuates the texture and color of the surface. The style of the image is realistic, with a focus on the texture and color of the object.

The image is a graphic with a dark blue background and a white border. At the top, there is a text that reads "Whenever someone asks me for citations" in a bold, white font. Below this, there is a diagram with three overlapping circles, each labeled with a different aspect of human experience. The circles are colored gold and black, and the text within them is in white.
The first circle, labeled "Spiritual discernment," is filled with a white line, indicating that it is the source of the experience. The second circle, labeled "Gut instinct," is also filled with a white line, suggesting that it is the source of the experience. The third circle, labeled "Ancestral blood memory," is also filled with a white line, indicating that it is the source of the experience.

An alien invasion would start with ships and maybe limited targeted destruction, but then they beam down monsters and aliens to kill and scare and hunt people.

You may be able to challenge them in the ships, as they fly, if they sense your mettle they may accept.

The image is a photograph of a religious architectural structure, specifically a part of a building that appears to be a cathedral or a church. The central focus of the image is a large, ornate archway with a white marble finish. The archway features intricate carvings and a golden cross, which is a symbol commonly associated with Christianity. The archway is adorned with a red and white text overlay that reads "VAT I CAN - Devining Serpent - SATAN Catholic Cult Symbol" and "Tammus T Cross Tree Worship and Sun god Symbols INSIDE DOME OF THE ROCK!! So who started ISLAM? It is the same as Jewish and Christian Cult Religions SUN WORSHIP!!!" The text is in a bold, red font that stands out against the white background of the archway.

The archway is flanked by two golden columns on either side, each featuring a similar golden cross design. The overall style of the image is informational and promotional, likely intended to convey a message about the religious symbolism and significance of the archway. The image is taken from a perspective that allows the viewer to see the entire archway and its details clearly.

The image is a close-up of a character's face, specifically the upper part of the face, with a focus on the eyes. The character has a greenish-blue hue to their eyes, which are wide open and have a surprised expression. The character's hair is styled in a spiky, dark green color, and the hair on the top of the head is also green. The character's skin tone is a light shade, and the face is outlined in black, giving it a three-dimensional appearance. The background is a solid color, which contrasts with the character's face, making it stand out. There is a white rectangle in the upper left corner of the image, which could be a placeholder or a part of the character's costume. The image is in a comic book style, with a black border and a white background. There are no texts present in the image.

They could have made chimeras in labs, be drilling tunnels all underground, secret insertion tunnels into forested areas, release these monsters, put holograms in the sky, say it’s aliens, everyone stays home.

I had an astral projection dream that I met 2 guys who worked on hologram tech and they explained 2 types of it to me, one type uses like a cloud, then they made a type that shines a lazer light in your eyes, so like a drone could maybe use that, but then they said they had a 3rd one they couldn’t explain to me, but showed me, and it was a way to remotely create holograms, I think it had something to do with plasma, almost like HAARP.

But the aliens are real, faking it might break down the veil more tho, or allow them to fly drones over cities for months without people knowing what’s going on.

The image is a stylized map with a focus on the United States, with a large, stylized figure of a person in the center, surrounded by various colored lines and arrows. The person appears to be a silhouette, with the outline of a person's head and body. The map is overlaid with the text "Mongolians" in bold, capitalized letters, and below it, there is a list of names and numbers, likely indicating the names of different regions or states within the United States. The map is colored in shades of blue, yellow, and red, with the blue areas representing the Pacific Ocean, the yellow areas representing the Great Lakes, and the red areas representing the Atlantic Ocean. The map is oriented with the United States at the top, and the text is aligned with the top edge of the map. The style of the image is humorous, with a cartoonish and exaggerated representation of the map and the text.

The image is a page from a book or article, with the text appearing to be in a language that is not English. The text is in a serif font, which is commonly used for formal or academic writing. The content of the text is discussing various aspects of a scientific experiment involving lockdowns and the response of various teams of individuals, including scientists and military personnel.
The text discusses the challenges and difficulties faced by scientists and military personnel in areas where the "Fahrenheit" experiment is taking place. It mentions that the experiment involves the use of agents, such as the "Avatar Storm" and "Inva-ion," to patrol for further incursions. The text also discusses the need for teams to be sent to areas where the experiment is taking place, and the difficulties in defending the area where the experiment is taking place.
The text also mentions the use of lockdown areas, which are areas that are set up to isolate the area where the experiment is taking place. The text describes the activity of the "Avatar Storm" and "Inva-ion" agents, and the need for teams to be sent to these areas. His right hand is raised, and he appears to be gesturing or speaking. The stage is illuminated with a blue curtain in the background, and there are two microphones visible on the left side of the stage. The lighting is focused on the man, creating a spotlight effect. The style of the image suggests it might be from a live performance or a public speaking event. There are no visible texts or discernible brands in the image.

Yep, because the less cohesive communities are, the easier it will be to police them. When there's just whites, blacks, and police, that's 3 "teams", but then when there's Indians, guatamalans, Cubans, Mexicans, Chinese, Somalians, Haitians, blacks, liberals whites, conservative whites, etc, it's likely these groups will compete with eachother instead of forming communities and working together,

It's very similar to the "I had a dream that was so real, aliens came, turned off the power, and released "dog monsters" everywhere story, but had more info, i remeber when I heard that story, I was like "yeah, this is that old greentext, but half the info is missing. I don't remeber exactly what was in it, but it had the same themes as the next iterations of the story; creatures that shapeshifting into humans, monsters like dogs and other things that stalk the wild, the ships, how they'd just hover there and you could hear screaming coming from them, the underground bunkers, how people under them would be enslaved, but might be safer than the surface.

The similarities either make me think the new stories are a coverup to lessen what info anons have, or multiple people are having the same type of dream about the same event.

I do t know how well all the reported dreams line up with eachother. The “story” has definitely been around for a long time while. 2025 was the cutoff date for fortune tellers, Palm readers, crystal ball/ tarot types to be able to see past. Many people thought that this would be the end, and it might be, but things change, things get delayed, dreams can be remebered or interpreted or received differently. The truth of reality changes, we slip between truths, aliens are real and coming, aliens are fake psyop, aliens are demons, aliens are gods, aliens are ghosts, all and none are real, reality pivots.

The breakdown of reality, the multiple reality effect, begs for the mass congruence of consciousness on one reality. The evidence and witnessing of non-possible events increases the pressure on the structure of our chosen mythos, meaning more and more, that pressure will build up until it shatters. Consciousness begets truth and reality, Roy Jay was always a comedian, Kek was always an Egyptian God, the reptoids were always real, the aliens were always coming, the monsters were always here. Reality may collapse back down to a baseline again, but the rotation of our world in the crystal timeline matrix may change, delay, and avoid some realities, and the primeline creates and rewrites the outer possibilities, meaning, we have to be in the right time, at the right time, we must witness the veil tearing, for the veil to tear.

The image depicts a man lying on the ground with his head and upper body exposed. His skin is tattered and covered in dirt, suggesting he has been in a state of disrepair or distress. His facial features are obscured by a large, dark patch over his eyes, which could indicate injury or a lack of visibility. The man's body is covered in what appears to be dried blood, with some areas of the skin showing signs of discoloration or bruising. The man's head is tilted to the side, and his mouth is open, possibly due to the impact of the injury or the lack of oxygen. His arms are outstretched, and his hands are visible, with one hand resting on the ground and the other on his chest. The ground around him is uneven and appears to be made of dirt or sand, with some debris scattered around. The image is a close-up photograph, focusing on the man's body and head, with no visible text or additional context. The style of the image is realistic, with a focus on the man's condition and the immediate surroundings. The lighting is natural, with no harsh shadows or highlights, and the overall mood of the image is somber and somber.

South America is a paranormal hot bed of activity; if OPs schizo scenario plays out South America will not be safe, really nowhere would be in the whole world. Whether you're in the middle of nowhere or in a major population center, you wouldn't be safe. The paranormal likes to prey on those in isolated areas away from witnesses, for one, and those in populated areas have to contend with other people and all their stupidities, fears, and resentments. Being among 'down to earth' superstitious tribal retards is no better than being in the cities; people are people no matter the context, the vast majority are not much better than animals. Certain individuals may rise above such classification and be more than simply another man or woman, but that is the most you can hope for.

The only thing that could possibly save you is fate, and or a strong spiritual constitution; believing in some spiritual communist "oneness" isn't an indicator for high spiritual strength however.

The image is a screenshot of a webpage with a predominantly yellow background. At the top of the page, there is a red banner with the text "The world is a stage, and we are all actors." Below the banner, there is a large image of a smiling woman with blonde hair. The woman appears to be wearing a black top and has a red scarf around her neck. The text on the image is in a script font, and it reads: "The world is a stage, and we are all actors." The woman's face is partially obscured by the scarf, and her expression is cheerful. The image is a photograph, and the woman's face is the central focus. The style of the image is reminiscent of a meme or a social media post, with a focus on the text and the woman's expression.

One of the big debates would be, coastal, or inland. Costal gives access to fishing, unlimited food, in theory, but also will likely be more populated, and have more violence. Coastal zones are more open to natural disasters, and will probably be locked down harder than inland. Inland, locals will not be happy with refugees coming to their homes, but they’re probably easier to bargain with than enemy forces or aliens near the coasts.

The image is a digital illustration featuring a fantastical creature with a humanoid form, resembling a hybrid of a human and a dragon. The creature has a large, elongated head with sharp, pointed teeth and a fierce expression. Its body is covered in scales, and it has long, thin limbs with a spider-like appearance. The creature's wings are large and fan-like, with a mix of green and yellow hues. It has a long, slender neck and a tail that curls around its body.
The creature is holding a lantern in its right hand, which has a green glow emanating from it. The lantern has a circular shape with a detailed design on its surface. The background of the image is dark, with a large, full moon visible in the top left corner. The overall style of the image is dark and moody, with a focus on the creature and the lantern. There are no texts present in the image.

Guys I'm 38 yo and I've seen quite a lot of BS coming from the "paranormal community" in general, like channelers, people with schizo dreams, qanon or whatever.

If you research this subject, you'll see that ayys give people doomsday visions/dreams since the 60s. Nothing has ever come to past.

I think this is some sort of psyop, made to make the people that are awake to the phenomena/fucked up situation of our planet, stay quiet and blind to it all since "the ayys/end days are coming".
We don't bother spreading the word out or fighting the evil that rules this world since "it's all coming to an end anyway" and it's been that way since the 60s.

Doomsday scenarios are our opium. The thing that makes people like us go back to sleep. To a normie it's something else, like a new lady gaga album, to hippies it's global warming and Amazon being on fire, list goes on.

Now, don't get me wrong, I feel it in my gut that something is about to happen, but not necessarily an ayy invasion. The elites are getting ready to make their move and it won't be pretty.

Don't think about this too much. Try to wake someone up. Spend more time with loved ones. Don't hold petty feelings towards them or people in general. Try to learn something new everyday specially survival/bushcraft skills.

I love you guys, no matter what happens, I pray for everyone's safety.

Neuralink’s brain implants, tested on humans since 2024, are secretly laced with quantum entangled qubits-subatomic particles linked across time, not just space. These qubits, developed using tech from SpaceX’s Starlink satellites and xAI’s Grok AI, supposedly interact with the brain’s neural patterns to “anchor” consciousness to a specific timeline. The goal? To create a recursive time loop where Musk can reset reality if his plans, colonizing Mars, controlling X’s narrative, or reshaping global policy, go awry. Think Steins;Gate’s world lines, but with Musk as the puppet-master, not Okabe.

The Chrono-Resisters claim Musk discovered this tech after a 2023 Starlink anomaly, when a satellite array allegedly detected a “temporal echo” a signal from 2035 warning of a failed Mars colony. Using Grok’s DeepSearch mode, Musk supposedly reverse-engineered the signal, finding it came from a future Neuralink implant. By 2025, Neuralink’s latest trials in California are said to be covertly testing these “chrono-qubits,” with patients experiencing déjà vu, memory glitches, or visions of alternate futures, side effects of timeline manipulation.

The Evidence:

Neuralink’s 2024–2025 trials are heavily redacted, with FDA approvals shrouded in mystery. X posts from former employees (anonymous, naturally) hint at “classified phases” involving quantum computing.

Musk’s 2025 X posts about “time as humanity’s ultimate frontier” and cryptic references to “reversing entropy” fuel speculation. His Deus Ex-like vision of controlling destiny aligns with this.

Grok’s 2025 responses, when asked about time travel, include vague warnings about “causal loops” and “neural anchors,” which theorists claim are leaks from xAI’s inner workings.

A 2024 X post alleged Starlink satellites caused localized time dilation in rural Nevada, where clocks ran 0.03 seconds slow during a test.

The image is a black and white illustration featuring a stylized cartoon-like figure with a large, expressive face. The figure has a stern expression, with a furrowed brow and a determined look. It is wearing glasses and a suit, suggesting a professional or serious demeanor. The figure's mouth is open, and it appears to be shouting or exclaiming, as indicated by the text above the figure. The text reads "NY SOURCE IS THAT" and "I MADE IT THE FUCK UP," which are likely a play on words or a statement of defiance. The style of the image is cartoonish and expressive, with a focus on the figure's facial expression and the text. The background is plain and does not distract from the figure.

In the bottom left photo, the woman is seated next to the man, and her expression is different, showing a slight smile.
The text overlay on the image reads: "O hoa o que o Deming pode proporconar ao piano material humano..." which translates to "What can Deming propose to the piano material human..." in English.
The style of the image is a collage, combining photographs of the same scene with different expressions and poses of the same character.

the problem with religion is that it doesn't evolve. back in the day, it was medically necessary to stop the bleeding 'cleanly'. also, my guess is circumcision was started because early man didn't clean his dick thus creating painful infections. today, neither circumcision nor sucking the blood of one are medically necessary, but people keep doing it in the name of thousands of years-old texts.

The image is a photograph of a printed page with a white background and black text. The text is in a serif font and is divided into two columns. The left column contains a quote in bold, followed by a statement in a smaller font. The right column contains a paragraph of text. The style of the image is informational, likely from a news article or a scientific report, given the context of the text. The image is a screenshot, and the text is the main focus, with no other elements or distractions in the image.

The image is a still from a video, likely a meme or a satirical video, featuring a person in a camouflage military uniform. The individual is wearing a black mask, a black hood, and a beige jacket with a camouflage pattern. They are holding a clear glass jar with a white substance inside, which appears to be a liquid, possibly a drink or a substance that is being poured. The person is also wearing white gloves.
The setting appears to be a kitchen or a similar indoor environment, with wooden cabinets and a countertop visible in the background. The text overlay on the image reads, "By Allah, you people are dogs. I will go on as usual." This text is in Arabic and is likely a play on the phrase "By Allah, you people are dogs," which is a common Islamic expression of disdain or mockery.

The style of the image is humorous and satirical, with a focus on the juxtaposition of the person's attire and the text, suggesting a commentary on the behavior of some individuals. The image is likely intended to be viewed with a lighthearted or ironic tone.

the problem with religion is that it doesn't evolve. back in the day, it was medically necessary to stop the bleeding 'cleanly'. also, my guess is circumcision was started because early man didn't clean his dick thus creating painful infections. today, neither circumcision nor sucking the blood of one are medically necessary, but people keep doing it in the name of thousands of years-old texts.

The image is a digital illustration that depicts a scene from ancient Egypt. In the foreground, there is a bronze statue of a cat, which appears to be a representation of a feline deity or spirit. The cat is depicted with a calm expression and is holding a small, ornate object in its paw, which resembles a small, golden object with a cross symbol on it.
To the left of the cat, there is a stylized depiction of a woman wearing a white dress with blue and yellow stripes, and she is holding a small, golden object with a cross symbol on it. The woman's attire and the objects she holds suggest a connection to the Egyptian goddess Bastet, who is often depicted as a cat-like figure.
The background of the image features a beige wall with decorative patterns and a decorative border that includes blue and green tiles with a floral design. The overall style of the image is reminiscent of ancient Egyptian art, with its use of color, patterns, and iconography. The image does not contain any text.

The image is a close-up photograph of a gray cat with green eyes. The cat is resting on a beige fabric surface, which appears to be a cushion or a sofa. The cat's ears are perked up, and its eyes are wide open, giving the impression of alertness. The cat's fur is a uniform gray color, and it has a short coat. The cat is looking to the side, with its head slightly tilted, and its eyes are focused on something outside the frame of the image. There are no visible texts or discernible brands in the image. The style of the image is realistic, with a focus on the cat's features and the texture of the fabric.

Cats, I think, are highly spiritual creatures, regardless of the colour of their fur, they're very attuned to the divine and can see the future to some extent

This is probably where the superstition about black cats being evil come from: witches (real witches, not wicca larpers or cackling green-skinned hags stirring cauldrons) might own cats for the spiritual benefits they bring, and with black being the colour of death in Western thought, black cats were just unlucky: with the association with both witches and death, they never stood a chance

I love cats, not as much as I love dogs, but they're my second-favourite animal, they're intelligent, curious creatures that genuinely love the people that take care of them, please don't hurt them

Pic related, this isn't him but my cat kinda looks like this

that's actually a genuine racial stereotype of hohols, and some of them really like cats.
but then again, larping as innocent harmless christian pet-lovers is a very default smokescreen. they also do lots of "pro bono" stuff to keep up apperances.
that stereotype came from somewhere, and it's a snakeoid one.

The image shows a black cat lying on a textured white blanket. The cat appears to be in a relaxed state, with its head resting on the blanket and its body curled up. The cat's eyes are closed, and its ears are perked up, suggesting it is in a state of rest or sleep. The cat's fur is dark, and it has a collar around its neck, which is visible in the image. The background is out of focus, but it seems to be a room with a light-colored wall and a portion of a bed visible. The image is a close-up shot, focusing on the cat and the blanket, with no other discernible objects or people in the frame. The style of the image is candid and natural, capturing a quiet moment in the life of the cat.

I think it's propaganda from enemy. Cats fought of evil spirits. Also "burning gingers" for witchcraft or the witchhunt againt rh- blood type is "magic for me, not for thee", basically you accuse the enemy of doing something you yourself are doing, condemn them for something you yourself are doing. Just look at pedophilia, the rich are doing it yet they're not bringing them jail right? The cats and common folk witchcraft is the enemy of saturnian satanic institutional ritual magic of the state religions or whatever.

I was just about to bring pedo shit, too. Cats are notorious for being sex pests that breed at alarming rates and will fuck as young as they can. I think if one common animal were to represent it, it would be cats.
Reminds me of the Cats musical with that worthless, boring white cat that they use to represent a young kitten getting used to her sensuality or whatever the fuck.
Cats, lesbos, pedos, sex pests, witches, and dark feminine magic entities are all manner of intertwined.

Cats are gross af but meme themselves clean. Ever had a bunch of strays somewhere? Cat pee is so fucking nasty smelling, even worse than dog pee. And always horny, they don't even have mating seasons.
They don't even have jobs except to kill the rats that tell on how shitty they are.

Black animals are generally more aggressive than all other animals because they have more testosterone in their blood. This can be observed in all mammals, including humans. So according to OP's logic, importing, breeding and feeding niggers should also be forbidden. Maybe OP is just a pussy who is disgusted by butterflies and afraid of milk.

The smell is from the type of bacteria that grows on the urine, not the urine itself.

Why is it always low IQ people that don't like cats? It's such a strong correlation. I'm sure a cat-lover has already answered this with peer-reviewed studies.

It all comes from the Black Death.
People thought it came from the rats.
The cats hunted the rats, and black cats were simply the most common.
What they didn't know, is that the black death was caused by well poisoning, incidentally by Jews.
Even if they did learn that, like in a Swiss town where removing the Jewish doctor somehow suddenly cleared the black death (no more corpse bile in the wells), the connection between the cats and the rats was established.

Weird dreams. Definitely altered. The kitten took a major role in the dreams. I did not allow it from that point on. So I do not have much insight to offer. I think the cat was focused on sexual alteration. I am not going to investigate this further, but this is one of those schizo threads that is probably on to something.

This is a reminder that the 'Protocols of the Learned Elders of Zion' suggests that manipulating the press and media is a primary way to control society by shaping public opinion, silencing dissent, and spreading propaganda.

This is done through owning or influencing news media, publishers, radio, television, and movies to control the flow of information.
This control is used to shape cultural norms and suppress dissent by only allowing approved messages, and by distracting people from important issues with sensationalism, gossip, and trivial entertainment.

There have been tremendous efforts made to discredit and debunk this sinister document, but ask yourself, if they were not genuine, then why do they reflect what we see in reality?

The image is a text-based image with a black and white color scheme. It contains a quote that reads: "2. Who and what is in a position to overthrow an invisible force? And this is precisely what our force is. GENTILE masonry blindly serves as a screen for us and our objects, but the plan of action of our force, even its very abiding-place, remains for the whole people an unknown mystery." The text is centered and appears to be a part of a larger document or article, as indicated by the presence of a paragraph break at the end of the quote. The font is simple and sans-serif, which is common for text in digital documents. The style of the image is straightforward and appears to be a screenshot from a printed document or a digital document with a focus on the text.

The text on both pages is dense and technical, discussing the symbolism and meaning of the pentagram and the star, as well as the talisman and its placement on the person's body. The text is in a serif font, which is typical for academic or scholarly texts. The page numbers "296" and "297" are visible at the top of the right page, indicating that this is a continuation of the same text from the previous page.

The destruction of the Twin Towers, and the subsequent erection of the One World Trade Center, was a (((Masonic/Luciferian))) sacrificial ritual to signify the dawn of the New World Order.

After the destruction of the Twin Towers, the One World Trade Center rose in their place.
This single tower represents the 'third pillar' in Freemasonry and Kabbalah.

The third pillar is the occultic idea of transcending duality and achieving the unity of opposites, and eventually, henosis.

The god of this world is Satan/Lucifer.

Whether you believe The Bible or not, those who pull the strings at a global scale certainly believe in their god.

You need only open your eyes to see it.

The image is a two-panel graphic with a simple, minimalist design. In the first panel, there is a triangle with a green eye inside it, which is stylized to resemble the iconic eye of the Illuminati. The eye is depicted with a green iris and a white pupil, and it is set against a white background.
In the second panel, the same triangle is depicted with a computer monitor and a keyboard in front of it. The triangle is now positioned in front of the monitor and keyboard, with the eye looking out from the triangle. The background of the second panel is also white.
The style of the image is cartoonish and satirical, with a play on the concept of the Illuminati and the modern computer. The use of a triangle with an eye inside it is a common symbol associated with the Illuminati, and the juxtaposition of the triangle with a computer monitor and keyboard is a humorous take on the idea of using technology to access information. The use of a green eye with a white pupil is a visual pun, as the eye is often associated with the Illuminati's secretive and secretive nature.

The seated individual is wearing a blue suit with a red tie and is holding the object in his hands. The object appears to be a model of a building, possibly a model of the White House, given the design and the American flag in the background.
The man presenting the object is wearing a black baseball cap with the letters "DC" on it, suggesting a possible affiliation with the Department of the Treasury or another government agency. He is also wearing a lanyard around his neck, which is common for security personnel or officials.
The background features a flag with the American flag design, which is a symbol of the United States. The flag is partially visible, with the top left corner of the flag being visible. The room has a beige curtain and a red curtain, which adds to the formal atmosphere of the setting.
There are no discernible texts in the image that provide additional context or information. The style of the image is candid and appears to be taken in a professional setting, possibly during a formal event or meeting.

The collage is overlaid with a red circle with a white border, which contains the text "SUNSET CIRCLES" in a bold, capitalized font. The style of the image is reminiscent of a meme or a satirical representation, with the text and emblem being the central focus.

The image is a split-view photograph featuring two individuals in a costume. On the left side, there is a person wearing a red leather armor with a detailed design on the chest, including a large, ornate emblem. The armor has multiple straps and buckles, and the person is wearing a black shirt underneath. The person's mouth is open, and they appear to be shouting or making a loud noise.
On the right side of the image, there is another person standing in front of a blue backdrop with orange text. The text on the backdrop reads "Halloween" and "THE LIVING DEAD," suggesting that the event is related to Halloween or a similar theme.
The person on the right is also wearing a red leather armor with a similar design to the one on the left, but the details are less detailed. They are wearing a black shirt and have a belt with a large buckle.
The style of the image is a candid, real-life photograph with a focus on the costumes and the expressions of the individuals. The split-view format allows for a clear comparison of the two individuals' costumes and expressions.

The image is a black and white illustration featuring a figure that resembles a goat-like creature with a humanoid body, wings, and a horned head. The creature is seated on a large, flat, round object that resembles a stone or a large rock. The creature's hands are raised, and it appears to be in a meditative or contemplative pose. The creature's eyes are closed, and its mouth is slightly open, suggesting a moment of deep thought or prayer.
The creature's body is adorned with intricate patterns and designs, including a circular emblem with a star at the center, a crescent moon to the right, and a crescent moon to the left. The creature's clothing consists of flowing robes that cover its body, and it is wearing a necklace with a crescent moon and a star.

The background of the image is plain and white, which contrasts with the dark tones of the creature and the object it is seated on. The overall style of the image is reminiscent of traditional art, with a focus on the intricate details and the spiritual or mystical themes suggested by the creature's pose and the symbols on its body.

The image is a digital illustration depicting three geometric figures, each representing a different aspect of the Swastika symbol. The Swastika is a four-dimensional cube, as described in the text below the figures. The cube is labeled with the number 4, and it is composed of six points, each representing a different direction or aspect of the Swastika.

The text below the figures provides additional information about the Swastika. It states that the Swastika is a four-dimensional cube, and it is derived from the Tsurishtaka, which is a four-pointed star or the Tesseract. The text also mentions that the Swastika is a symbol that is considered sacred in Hinduism and is often used in various forms of art and architecture.

The image is a digital representation, and the text is in English. The style of the image is simple and clear, with a focus on the geometric shapes and the text that describes them. The image is likely used for educational or informational purposes, such as in a presentation or a textbook.

As below, so above?

What is black?
What is white?

What is wrong, and what is right?

What is a lie?
What is truth?

What is old, and what is youth?

What is divine?
What is profane?

What is pleasure, and what is pain?

What is real?
What is fake?

What is to give, and what is to take?

What is peace?
What is war?

What is less, and what is more?

What is dark?
What is light?

What is blindness, and what is sight?

'I look at you and call you my name.
For I am a god, and you are profane!'

See ye not that these are your words?
Oh, you wayward swingers of swords.

The image is a vibrant and colorful photograph featuring a person in a costume that includes a large, colorful headdress with feathers and a rainbow-colored tail. The costume is predominantly pink with white and gold accents. The person is holding a book with a colorful illustration of a house and a smiling face, and the text on the book reads "I'm a princess and I'm a punk."
The person is seated on a blue tablecloth, which is adorned with a blue table runner. On the table, there are two books: one titled "The Princess and the Punk" and another titled "The Princess and the Princess." The books are placed on the tablecloth, with the "The Princess and the Punk" book being slightly larger and more prominent than the "The Princess and the Princess" book.

In the background, there are several white balloons and a rainbow arch, suggesting a festive or celebratory event. The person is wearing a white dress with a lace pattern, and their face is painted white with red lipstick. They have a tattoo on their left arm and are wearing a necklace with a large pendant.
The image is taken from a side angle, capturing the person's face and the book they are holding. The overall style of the image is lively and whimsical, with a focus on the person's costume and the books they are holding.

The image shows a large, dark-colored rock with a detailed carving of a figure that appears to be a deer with antlers. The carving is intricate and has a stylized, almost tribal-like appearance. The figure is seated with one leg crossed over the other, and the other leg is extended forward. The figure is wearing a headdress with a pointed top and a necklace. The background of the image is a grassy area with some scattered rocks and a small tree. The lighting in the image is soft and diffused, casting a gentle glow on the rock and the surrounding area. There are no discernible texts or markings on the rock. The style of the image is a close-up photograph, focusing on the rock and its carving, with no other objects or people visible.

The image is a black and white photograph featuring a man with a bald head and a beard. He is wearing a collared shirt and a necklace. The man is holding a small object in his hand, which appears to be a glass or a small cup. Behind him, there is a large pentagram with a star at the center, which is commonly associated with Satanism. The background is dark, and there are some indistinct shapes and symbols that could be interpreted as part of a ritualistic or occult setting. The style of the image is reminiscent of a historical or vintage photograph, with a focus on the subject and the pentagram as the central elements.

In the top row, the man is shown from the left side, with his face partially obscured by his hair. The middle row shows the man from the right side, with his face also partially obscured by his hair. The bottom row features the man from the left side, with his face fully visible.

The bottom row contains two photographs of rings. The first ring is a large, black, square-shaped ring with a gold-colored band and a black stone set in the center. The second ring is a smaller, rectangular ring with a gold-colored band and a black stone set in the center.

In the bottom right corner of the image, there is a text description that reads: "The man is wearing a pink shirt and a necklace. You say you have something of worth?

That's unlikely; since it's me that's the best.
Now, I want to get back to my trial; my test.

Leave me alone; go away.
I want to sit here and play.

I am a child who mocks and styles;
Look at my achievement; my miles!

I have the world, look at my riches!
I have money, fame, and......

What? Love? What is that?
Leave me be; annoying gnat.

Let me play my games of fighting;
I care not for rhymes and writing.

I have the treasures of the earth!

You who call yourself a Jew,
Turn your ear and hear anew!

You made it a Book of Abraham;
But, is it not of I AM THAT I AM?

For a line you look;
you track and trace,
instead of seeking out HIS FACE!

Oh, you lost! You house of sheep!
Hear ye not The Shepherd's Bleat?

Search The Texts to find HIS NAME for if you don't you hold the blame.

THE KING has come!
CHRIST IS THE WAY!

Who do you choose to serve this day?

You speak your prayer to rock and fodder.
The stones have now become your father.

Do you trust your words and war will move those blocks which you adore?

Oh, if Elijah saw you now,
He'd laugh; cry; disavow.

Hear ye; Ye hypocrites!

Stop your crying!
Stop your fits!

Your wayward way is to:
The Pit.

That western wall,
The one you kiss;

That place you mourn, grovel, and hiss;
Is that your GOD, or is I AM THAT I AM?

Neither Judaism nor Islam can reconcile God's justice with His mercy.

Without Jesus Christ, one must be ignored for the other.
Anonymous ID:jeJOkh0B Tue 10 Jun 2025 16:15:19 No.506942366 Report

How then can God be both merciful and just?

Consider a man who stands before a judge after having committed a crime.
That man's crime is not made directly against that judge personally, but against the laws of their country and society.
If the judge forgives the man and pardons him, then retribution and justice have been ignored for the sake of mercy.

However, when a man sins, he has committed crime against God directly and personally.
This is because he has broken the Law of God, which is itself an extension of God's Will.

To break God's Law is to directly transgress against the very essence of the Personhood of God Himself.
Fortunately for us, since we have transgressed directly against God, He has the Authority and Right to forgive us.

Then for Him, for Retribution to take place, He willingly suffered the penalties due to us for our sins for the express purpose that Justice could be done for the allowance of His Mercy through forgiveness, so that He may be further Glorified by His Love for us.

But, if a person decides to reject that payment of Justice and Mercy, when they stand before the Judgement Seat of God, Divine Retribution must fall upon that person's head for their transgressions, that God's Justice may be satisfied.

The image displays a stylized representation of the Hebrew word "Tzaddik," which is rendered in a modern, three-dimensional font. The letters are rendered in a blue color, with the "T" and "D" in a slightly curved form, and the "K" and "I" in a straight form. The "T" and "D" are positioned above the "K" and "I," with the "T" and "D" being slightly larger than the "K" and "I." The "T" and "D" are connected by a horizontal line, and the "K" and "I" are connected by a vertical line. The background of the image is white, and the font is set against a white background, which enhances the blue color of the letters. The style of the image is modern and sleek, with a focus on the typography and the Hebrew script itself.

All the world is covered in thick and dark forests.
A Path of Light separates it into equal parts.
Brilliant glowing beings travel along The Path.
Some are human; all are faceless; still expressing.

The Path is The Way between paths.

Beings of light progress along The Way.
They express; having no face.
The Way separates worlds.
All the worlds are forested.
Except for The Way.

The Way is between.

Light beings expressing;
faceless;
progressing.

A want to thrive.
A need to survive.
All must strive alone and alive.

A Light!
No face.
Unmask.
Untrace.

Forest;
strife;
the way of life.

Those of Light:
Take up flight!
Stress and feel the need to reveal:

The Voice;

The Way unheard.

The background of both photographs is blurred, but it appears to be an urban setting with a car and a building. The person's attire and the patches on their pants suggest a hip-hop or streetwear aesthetic. The image does not contain any discernible text or additional objects.

This is a reminder that the 'Protocols of the Learned Elders of Zion' suggests that manipulating the press and media is a primary way to control society by shaping public opinion, silencing dissent, and spreading propaganda.

This is done through owning or influencing news media, publishers, radio, television, and movies to control the flow of information.
This control is used to shape cultural norms and suppress dissent by only allowing approved messages, and by distracting people from important issues with sensationalism, gossip, and trivial entertainment.

There have been tremendous efforts made to discredit and debunk this sinister document, but ask yourself, if they were not genuine, then why do they reflect what we see in reality?

The text on both pages is dense and technical, discussing the symbolism and meaning of the pentagram and the star, as well as the talisman and its placement on the person's body. The text is in a serif font, which is typical for academic or scholarly texts. The page numbers "296" and "297" are visible at the top of the right page, indicating that this is a continuation of the same text from the previous page.

The destruction of the Twin Towers, and the subsequent erection of the One World Trade Center, was a (((Masonic/Luciferian))) sacrificial ritual to signify the dawn of the New World Order.

After the destruction of the Twin Towers, the One World Trade Center rose in their place.
This single tower represents the 'third pillar' in Freemasonry and Kabbalah.

The third pillar is the occultic idea of transcending duality and achieving the unity of opposites, and eventually, henosis.

The god of this world is Satan/Lucifer.

Whether you believe The Bible or not, those who pull the strings at a global scale certainly believe in their god.

You need only open your eyes to see it.

The image is a two-panel graphic with a simple, minimalist design. In the first panel, there is a triangle with a green eye inside it, which is stylized to resemble the iconic eye of the Illuminati. The eye is depicted with a green iris and a white pupil, and it is set against a white background.
In the second panel, the same triangle is depicted with a computer monitor and a keyboard in front of it. The triangle is now positioned in front of the monitor and keyboard, with the eye looking out from the triangle. The background of the second panel is also white.
The style of the image is cartoonish and satirical, with a play on the concept of the Illuminati and the modern computer. The use of a triangle with an eye inside it is a common symbol associated with the Illuminati, and the juxtaposition of the triangle with a computer monitor and keyboard is a humorous take on the idea of using technology to access information. The use of a green eye with a white pupil is a visual pun, as the eye is often associated with the Illuminati's secretive and secretive nature.

The seated individual is wearing a blue suit with a red tie and is holding the object in his hands. The object appears to be a model of a building, possibly a model of the White House, given the design and the American flag in the background.
The man presenting the object is wearing a black baseball cap with the letters "DC" on it, suggesting a possible affiliation with the Department of the Treasury or another government agency. He is also wearing a lanyard around his neck, which is common for security personnel or officials.
The background features a flag with the American flag design, which is a symbol of the United States. The flag is partially visible, with the top left corner of the flag being visible. The room has a beige curtain and a red curtain, which adds to the formal atmosphere of the setting.
There are no discernible texts in the image that provide additional context or information. The style of the image is candid and appears to be taken in a professional setting, possibly during a formal event or meeting.

The collage is overlaid with a red circle with a white border, which contains the text "SUNSET CIRCLES" in a bold, capitalized font. The style of the image is reminiscent of a meme or a satirical representation, with the text and emblem being the central focus.

including a large, ornate emblem. The armor has multiple straps and buckles, and the person is wearing a black shirt underneath. The person's mouth is open, and they appear to be shouting or making a loud noise.
On the right side of the image, there is another person standing in front of a blue backdrop with orange text. The text on the backdrop reads "Halloween" and "THE LIVING DEAD," suggesting that the event is related to Halloween or a similar theme. The person on the right is also wearing a red leather armor with a similar design to the one on the left, but the details are less detailed. They are wearing a black shirt and have a belt with a large buckle.
The style of the image is a candid, real-life photograph with a focus on the costumes and the expressions of the individuals. The split-view format allows for a clear comparison of the two individuals' costumes and expressions.

The image is a black and white illustration featuring a figure that resembles a goat-like creature with a humanoid body, wings, and a horned head. The creature is seated on a large, flat, round object that resembles a stone or a large rock. The creature's hands are raised, and it appears to be in a meditative or contemplative pose. The creature's eyes are closed, and its mouth is slightly open, suggesting a moment of deep thought or prayer.
The creature's body is adorned with intricate patterns and designs, including a circular emblem with a star at the center, a crescent moon to the right, and a crescent moon to the left. The creature's clothing consists of flowing robes that cover its body, and it is wearing a necklace with a crescent moon and a star.
The background of the image is plain and white, which contrasts with the dark tones of the creature and the object it is seated on. The overall style of the image is reminiscent of traditional art, with a focus on the intricate details and the spiritual or mystical themes suggested by the creature's pose and the symbols on its body.

The image is a digital illustration depicting three geometric figures, each representing a different aspect of the Swastika symbol. The Swastika is a four-dimensional cube, as described in the text below the figures. The cube is labeled with the number 4, and it is composed of six points, each representing a different direction or aspect of the Swastika.
The first figure on the left shows a six-pointed star, which is a common representation of the Swastika. The second figure on the right shows a cube with a six-pointed star on the top, indicating that the cube is also a six-pointed star. The third figure on the right shows a cube with a six-pointed star on the bottom, which is a different representation of the Swastika.
The text below the figures provides additional information about the Swastika. It states that the Swastika is a four-dimensional cube, and it is derived from the Tsurishtaka, which is a four-pointed star or the Tesseract. The text also mentions that the Swastika is a symbol that is considered sacred in Hinduism and is often used in various forms of art and architecture.
The image is a digital representation, and the text is in English. The style of the image is simple and clear, with a focus on the geometric shapes and the text that describes them. The image is likely used for educational or informational purposes, such as in a presentation or a textbook.

What is wrong, and what is right?

What is a lie?
What is truth?

What is old, and what is youth?

What is divine?
What is profane?

What is pleasure, and what is pain?

What is real?

The image is a vibrant and colorful photograph featuring a person in a costume that includes a large, colorful headdress with feathers and a rainbow-colored tail. The costume is predominantly pink with white and gold accents. The person is holding a book with a colorful illustration of a house and a smiling face, and the text on the book reads "I'm a princess and I'm a punk."
The person is seated on a blue tablecloth, which is adorned with a blue table runner. On the table, there are two books: one titled "The Princess and the Punk" and another titled "The Princess and the Princess." The books are placed on the tablecloth, with the "The Princess and the Punk" book being slightly larger and more prominent than the "The Princess and the Princess" book.
In the background, there are several white balloons and a rainbow arch, suggesting a festive or celebratory event. The person is wearing a white dress with a lace pattern, and their face is painted white with red lipstick. They have a tattoo on their left arm and are wearing a necklace with a large pendant.
The image is taken from a side angle, capturing the person's face and the book they are holding. The overall style of the image is lively and whimsical, with a focus on the person's costume and the books they are holding.

The image shows a large, dark-colored rock with a detailed carving of a figure that appears to be a deer with antlers. The carving is intricate and has a stylized, almost tribal-like appearance. The figure is seated with one leg crossed over the other, and the other leg is extended forward. The figure is wearing a headdress with a pointed top and a necklace. The background of the image is a grassy area with some scattered rocks and a small tree. The lighting in the image is soft and diffused, casting a gentle glow on the rock and the surrounding area. There are no discernible texts or markings on the rock. The style of the image is a close-up photograph, focusing on the rock and its carving, with no other objects or people visible.

The image is a black and white photograph featuring a man with a bald head and a beard. He is wearing a collared shirt and a necklace. The man is holding a small object in his hand, which appears to be a glass or a small cup. Behind him, there is a large pentagram with a star at the center, which is commonly associated with Satanism. The background is dark, and there are some indistinct shapes and symbols that could be interpreted as part of a ritualistic or occult setting. The style of the image is reminiscent of a historical or vintage photograph, with a focus on the subject and the pentagram as the central elements.

That's unlikely; since it's me that's the best.
Now, I want to get back to my trial; my test.

Leave me alone; go away.
I want to sit here and play.

I am a child who mocks and styles;
Look at my achievement; my miles!

I have the world, look at my riches!
I have money, fame, and......

What? Love? What is that?
Leave me be; annoying gnat.

Let me play my games of fighting;
I care not for rhymes and writing.

I have the treasures of the earth!

You who call yourself a Jew,
Turn your ear and hear anew!

You made it a Book of Abraham;
But, is it not of I AM THAT I AM?

For a line you look;
you track and trace,
instead of seeking out HIS FACE!

Oh, you lost! You house of sheep!
Hear ye not The Shepherd's Bleat?

Search The Texts to find HIS NAME
for if you don't you hold the blame.

THE KING has come!
CHRIST IS THE WAY!

Who do you choose to serve this day?

You speak your prayer to rock and fodder.
The stones have now become your father.

Do you trust your words and war will move those blocks which you adore?

Oh, if Elijah saw you now,
He'd laugh; cry; disavow.

Hear ye; Ye hypocrites!

Stop your crying!
Stop your fits!

Your wayward way is to:
The Pit.

That western wall,
The one you kiss;

That place you mourn, grovel, and hiss;
Is that your GOD, or is I AM THAT I AM?

Anonymous ID:jeJOkh0B Tue 10 Jun 2025 16:15:19 No.506942366   Report
How then can God be both merciful and just?

Consider a man who stands before a judge after having committed a crime.
That man's crime is not made directly against that judge personally, but against the laws of their country and society.
If the judge forgives the man and pardons him, then retribution and justice have been ignored for the sake of mercy.

However, when a man sins, he has committed crime against God directly and personally.
This is because he has broken the Law of God, which is itself an extension of God's Will.

To break God's Law is to directly transgress against the very essence of the Personhood of God Himself.
Fortunately for us, since we have transgressed directly against God, He has the Authority and Right to forgive us.

Then for Him, for Retribution to take place, He willingly suffered the penalties due to us for our sins for the express purpose that Justice could be done for the allowance of His Mercy through forgiveness, so that He may be further Glorified by His Love for us.

But, if a person decides to reject that payment of Justice and Mercy, when they stand before the Judgement Seat of God, Divine Retribution must fall upon that person's head for their transgressions, that God's Justice may be satisfied.

The image displays a stylized representation of the Hebrew word "Tzaddik," which is rendered in a modern, three-dimensional font. The letters are rendered in a blue color, with the "T" and "D" in a slightly curved form, and the "K" and "I" in a straight form. The

"T" and "D" are positioned above the "K" and "I," with the "T" and "D" being slightly larger than the "K" and "I." The "T" and "D" are connected by a horizontal line, and the "K" and "I" are connected by a vertical line. The background of the image is white, and the font is set against a white background, which enhances the blue color of the letters. The style of the image is modern and sleek, with a focus on the typography and the Hebrew script itself.

All the world is covered in thick and dark forests.
A Path of Light separates it into equal parts.
Brilliant glowing beings travel along The Path.
Some are human; all are faceless; still expressing.

The Path is The Way between paths.

Beings of light progress along The Way.
They express; having no face.
The Way separates worlds.
All the worlds are forested.
Except for The Way.

The Way is between.

Light beings
expressing;
faceless;
progressing.

A want to thrive.
A need to survive.
All must strive
alone and alive.

A Light!
No face.
Unmask.
Untrace.

Forest;
strife;
the way of life.

Those of Light:

Take up flight!
Stress and feel
the need to reveal:

The Voice;

The Way unheard.

The background of both photographs is blurred, but it appears to be an urban setting with a car and a building. The person's attire and the patches on their pants suggest a hip-hop or streetwear aesthetic. The image does not contain any discernible text or additional objects.

The man on the left is wearing a black jacket and has a beard. The woman on the right is wearing a black jacket with a floral pattern and has long hair. The man in the middle is wearing a white t-shirt with a graphic design and the text "Hard Rock Hollywood" on it. The background is dimly lit with neon lights and there is a blurred image of a club or venue. At the top of the image, there is a headline in bold text that reads "JAMES FRANCO AND BRITAN BUTLER TO PERFORM ALLEISTER CROWLEY RITUAL IN LOS ANGELES ART GALLERY." Below the headline, there is a paragraph of text that provides details about the event. The text mentions that the event is an "Occult artist / musician / filmmaker Brian Butler will be performing Alleister Crowley's 'LAM Art' gallery's current 'Martian Chronicles' theme exhibit and will employ custom robes made in the original 1960s style, with a special color scheme and unique fabric textures." The text also mentions that the event will take place in Venice Beach, CA, and that the "Martian Chronicles" theme exhibit will be a part of the gallery's current "Marrian Chronicles" theme exhibit and will employ custom robes made in the original 1960s style, with a special color scheme and unique fabric textures."

The style of the image is typical of a news article or blog post, with a focus on the event and the individuals involved. The text is clear and legible, and the image is well-composed to convey the information effectively.

On the left, there is a black and white photograph of a young man with his hands covering his face, giving the impression of a serious or contemplative expression. The man has short hair and is wearing a dark-colored shirt. The background is blurred, suggesting an indoor setting. On the right, there is a color photograph of a man with his hand raised in a peace sign, giving the impression of a casual or relaxed demeanor. He is wearing a brown jacket and has short hair. The background is also blurred, indicating an indoor setting.
In the bottom right corner of the image, there is text that reads "Leonardo DiCaprio." The text is in white and is capitalized, indicating that it is likely the name of the actor associated with the image. The style of the image is a combination of still photography and a color photograph, with the text providing context to the image.

The image is a composite of two separate photographs. The upper portion of the image features a black and white photograph of a man with a beard and mustache. He is looking directly at the camera with a surprised expression. The man is wearing a patterned shirt and has a pair of sunglasses resting on his head.
The lower portion of the image contains a text overlay in a stylized font. The text reads "ADAM LAMBERT" in bold, capitalized letters, followed by "WIN LUNCH WITH ADAM IN EA!" in a smaller, italicized font. The text is colored yellow and is set against a black background.
The overall style of the image suggests it is a promotional or advertising material, possibly for a video game or a social media campaign. The use of the man's surprised expression and the text overlay indicates that the image is likely intended to evoke excitement or curiosity about a contest or event related to Adam Lambert.

Introduction

This volume—and the entire 25-part Archivum Obscurum series—is an archive of 4plebs threads, compiled from the /x/ paranormal board and related dark web forums. It’s important to understand that none of these words are mine. Every sentence you’re about to read was posted anonymously by someone else, somewhere deep in the Internet’s forgotten layers. I’ve simply curated, organized, and preserved it. Some of it is brilliant. Some of it is disturbing. Some of it is completely unhinged. That’s the point. These books serve as a snapshot of collective occult thought, filtered through anonymity, obsession, fear, and revelation. If you find something offensive or insane—remember, you’re not reading me. You’re reading the Internet itself, raw and unedited. This is documentation, not endorsement. But that’s what makes it powerful. These are the ghost-words of the digital subconscious. I just bound them into something permanent.

directly at the camera. The man in the right photo is dressed in a black suit with a patterned shirt and a black vest. He is smiling and looking to his right, with a slight tilt of his head. Both photos are set against a blue background with various logos and text, including "Tiff" and "Royal Caribbean." At the bottom of the image, there is a text overlay that reads "DAVE BAUTISTA'S IMPRESSIVE TRANSFORMATION." The style of the image is a promotional or informational graphic, likely used for a film or television show, to showcase the transformation of a character named Dave Bautista.

green body with a brown belly and a green tongue. The character is holding a butterfly in its left hand, which is orange with black spots. The background is a light blue color. The character's expression is cheerful, and the butterfly is in a resting position. There are no texts present in the image. The style of the image is cartoonish and simplistic, with a focus on the character and the butterfly.

A speedy disco roydown on the situation so far:
>An anon posts a thread on April 4, 2025, titled "this is a demon writing itself retroactively into pop culture history", with an image of a man in pajamas
>The OP explains that "you'll remember him from your childhoods soon enough"
>Anons begin searching for Roy Jay, but no Wikipedia page is found, no image results, nothing
>Within a couple of days, Roy Jay content flooded the internet and anons began finding increasingly older references to Roy Jay
>He suddenly has a Wikipedia page, photos, TV spots, albums, and even a Facebook fan page
>Much of the content is bizarre: stories range from Roy flashing a family crowd with his massive penis, to deep frying a slipper while working a food van (and working naked from the waist down)
>Replies to Roy's content online seem overwhelmingly fake: odd profiles of dubiously real people all claiming to have known Roy personally

>An anon bought and provided photos of a vinyl and news clipping, both (potentially) proving Roy Jay's past existence upon this earth
>A different anon emailed the crematorium where Roy's funeral was supposedly held, only to be told there is no record of Roy Jay's funeral there
>Many new photos have emerged on Roy's Facebook page, despite not being there when investigations started weeks ago
>A YouTuber named "Grayy Man" released a video briefly explaining the current circumstances, only to be bombarded by more NPC profiles claiming to have known Roy >the content continues to grow, with more evidence of Roy's existence popping up every day

The image is a promotional photograph featuring a person in a distinctive costume. The individual is wearing a white jumpsuit with a pattern of black and white stars on a white background. The jumpsuit is paired with black shoes and white gloves. The person's pose is dynamic, with one arm extended forward and the other bent at the elbow, suggesting movement or action. The background is a solid red color, providing a stark contrast to the white of the jumpsuit and the person's attire. In the top right corner of the image, there is text that reads "BOY JAY," which is likely the name of the person in the costume. The style of the image is reminiscent of a music album cover, with a focus on the individual and their attire.

Something i've noticed is that the image used for Wikipedia (which was also posted on /x/ before the page was created) is that there should've been a bit of the 'R' In Roy Jay in the wiki image, but there isn't.

Given what we know about backdating, the album cover might be an extension of the wiki image, with 'ROY JAY' added on afterwards

The image is a meme featuring a man with a wide smile, wearing a red cardigan and a necklace. The man appears to be in a candid pose, with his mouth open and eyes closed, suggesting a sense of joy or excitement. The background is a plain, light blue color, which contrasts with the red of the man's cardigan. Overlaid on the image is the text "THWAG" in bold, capitalized letters, which is commonly used in meme culture to represent a humorous or ironic statement. The style of the image is a combination of a candid photograph and a meme, with the text overlay serving as a visual clue to the intended humor.

The image is a photograph of a vinyl record cover. It features three different colored photographs of a person, each with a different pose and outfit. The person is wearing a black top and pants, a pink dress, and a white shirt with a black collar. The photograph on the left shows the person in a dynamic pose, with one leg raised and the other bent at the knee. The middle photograph shows the person in a more relaxed pose, with one leg extended and the other bent at the knee. The photograph on the right shows the person in a more formal pose, with one leg extended and the other bent at the knee.
Below the photographs, there is a list of song titles and artists. The list includes "YOU WONDER WHY I CAN'T STOP UPIN' YOU," "YOU WON'T NEED A DOCTOR," "DUMPLAS," "IT'S ALL OVER NOW," "I'LL BE OVER HERE," "LOVE IN THE SHOW," and "THE SHOW MUST GO ON." The text is in a bold, sans-serif font and is aligned to the left.

The image is a screenshot of a text-based interface, likely from a software application or a web page. The text is in a mix of English and what appears to be a non-Latin script, possibly a non-Latin alphabet. The text is in a large, bold font, which stands out against the background. The text is centered and appears to be a part of a larger block of text, which is not fully visible in the image.
The text reads: "Time 'edging' but not for the largest dick, because it couldn't be measured, as all their measuring devices put together weren't even cover a fraction of the penis' length." The text is in a mix of English and a non-Latin script, suggesting that the software or application is designed to be accessible to users who speak a non-Latin language.
At the bottom of the image, there is a button with the text "GET" and a question mark, indicating that the user can click on this button to perform an action. The button is in a darker shade of gray, which contrasts with the lighter background of the text.
The overall style of the image is simple and utilitarian, with a focus on conveying information clearly and efficiently. The use of a non-Latin script suggests that the software or application is designed to be accessible to users who speak a non-Latin language.

Let's not forget that Roy Jay lost his virginity to his mother.
When he was being born.
His dick was so large that more kept coming up as he was being born, and there was just no space in the room for it.
They had to put it back inside, along with baby Roy, to move the mother to a larger room to try again.
But bigger rooms weren't big enough for Roy's dick, as they underestimated its size, so once again they had to put it back inside along with the baby.
This kept happening with larger and larger rooms, and this "getting outside and getting inside back again" is considered sex because it's a dick getting in and out of her vagina, but never getting fully out, which was the problem.
The mother was about to give up and just live the rest of her life with Roy hanging from her because no room seemed to be large enough, and the orgasms she was having kept increasing in intensity and she didn't know if the next one would kill her.
But the doctor had the idea of having the delivery outdoors, which hopefully provided enough space for the dick to be released in full, which it did, after getting newborn Roy and his dick out for a birth that lasted days, until the tip finally came out.
It broke the record for the longest time "edging" but not for the largest dick, because it couldn't be measured, as all their measuring devices put together weren't enough to even cover a fraction of the penis' length.

Oh dear, yes, filters are much older than photoshop, it's like fonts, when you think of them you think of ttf files used by windows or whatever, now think that Times News Roman is based on the "fonts" that were used by newspapers in the 1800s.
Try this: get a vinyl that you have lying around, at about 10 am in the morning go outdoors and take a photo of it.
Now, at 10 pm, on your room, have it lighted by an LED bulb, or whatever, and take another photo.
The other one will look a lot more warmer and this one will look a lot more bluer, even if the "photo" on the vinyl is the same.
That's how color temperature works (grey doesn't exist, etc).

Yes but you are talking about two different photos. By filters do you mean colored glasses on the lens, or something else?

Now that I think about it, the first pic is the back of the vinyl case, isn't it? Why would you do that? You print the same pic on the back, but slightly modified?

Also notice that the first picture is the picture of the cover, not a photo of it. The second picture is indeed a photo, it's even autographed. More light doesn't add blue to black. Why are the other two pictures unaffected by the lighting in the same manner?

>Why are the other two pictures unaffected by the lighting in the same manner?
They've been red tinted and had increased contrast on the photo's exposure which crushed the blacks and makes the blue shoes look dark red.
This is a destructive process, try any picture with someone with dark blue shoes, increase the contrast until the shoes look black, now you can't make them look dark blue again without all black becoming dark blue as well. That's why you can't fix the brown shoes and make them look blue again (without making the whole picture gain a pink tint), the red tint and contrast have made them look like any dark red in the picture and they can't be modified without affecting other reds on there.

I highly doubt it's them, and referring to them at all is suspicious. Why would they care? That term is an example of the needless hostility I've been referring to. An inaccurate categorical ad hominem is classic pilpul and certainly a glownigger staple. Yes, I recognize the irony of that statement.
It's this simple, Roy was unsearchable, then he was weirdly associated with bot generated content, then suddenly he's real. That's what happened and anyone saying otherwise is ignorant at bay and a confusingly motivated bad actor at worst.

Having watched all of the Roy martial currently available it is obviously to me that a prankster or intelligence research analyst made it seem that Roy didn't exist and he certainly did.
You know how I know he's real now? The boy George joke. No ai or post Gen X would ever think of it and it's punchline.
Did a demon change reality? Maybe, but this falls under the "unfalsifiable" category and pursuing it is a waste of time.
It was a cool prank/successful psyop test.
And I'm glad I got to hear his material, despite the cringe way it came to my attention.

The jester is depicted with a large, exaggerated smile, revealing sharp teeth, and a wide-open mouth. His facial features are exaggerated, with a large nose and a prominent chin. The jester's hair is styled in a curly, voluminous manner, and he is wearing a red and yellow striped hat with a black center, which is adorned with a dollar sign. The hat is tilted to the side, and the hat's brim is visible. The background of the image is a gradient of green and yellow, with a flame-like effect emanating from the jester's head, giving the impression of a fiery or explosive environment. The image is a digital illustration and is watermarked with the text "shutterstock.com" and a phone number "1817149412." The style of the image is cartoonish and is likely intended for a humorous or satirical context.

For Roy's sake, search for Meesoft Image Analyzer and download it, paste the picture and click in Color Correction > Color Balance and Curves, or Color Mapper, and play with the Exposure sliders, Midtone sliders, and color models, so you can know how filters and tints work.
Depending on the color temperature you will hallucinate colors that aren't actually there, like the cube on the left where you hallucinate blue squares, but they're all gray, it's because with this color temperature blue squares would look grey, your brain knows this, so you see them blue.

Get a color pícker when in doubt, the colors you perceive depend on the surrounding colors, you won't notice a red tint because your brain compensates for it.

I theorize it's because they want to use Roy's life as reference for another person whom they are, for one reason or another, not allowed to publicly name in full, so they can only allude to him.
They want to instill the seed in people's minds of a figure that is small yet influential because their works contain an uncanny aspect. Perhaps the intent is to soften the public perception in hopes they can coax that individual out of hiding

neither make much sense if you think about them longer than ten seconds. why sell crisps on weird references to a recently shamed comedian? or alternately, if its trying to remove Roy from the brand because he was so toxic, why the fuck is Lenny obviously referencing him???

The image is a black and white photograph featuring a man wearing a cowboy hat and a suit, seated on a stool. The man is smiling and looking directly at the camera. Above the man's head, there is a handwritten note with various names and phrases, including "To Son Tom," "Uncle Tom," "Coally," "Roy," "Kimmell," and "Jay." The handwriting is cursive, and the note is signed with a signature that appears to be a stylized "R" followed by a signature. The background of the image is plain white, and the photograph is framed by a black border. The style of the image is reminiscent of a vintage photograph, possibly from the mid-20th century.

I've been saying for months that there's something up with his pose. It reeks of some freemason "sign of the master of the second veil" type shit. Once guy mentioned that it was similar to a gryphon's pose in heraldry, but that's the only thing I've come across to explain it. It's just such a weird, unnatural pose that he constantly does in one form or another. Combined with the fact that he was obviously a mason, I can only assume it's some kind of secret sign.

In the background, there is a large, open space with a wooden ceiling and a wooden floor. The ceiling has a series of signs hanging from it, including one that reads "BARBORD'S CABIN" and another that says "CAMPING". The walls of the space are adorned with various signs, including one that reads "PELLENE" and another that says "CAMPING". The image is a vintage photograph featuring three individuals posing for the camera. The person on the left is a man with a bald head, wearing a white shirt and smiling. The man in the middle is a man with a beard and glasses, wearing a blue shirt and also smiling. The person on the right is a young girl with blonde hair, wearing a blue shirt and smiling. The background is dark, suggesting an indoor setting, possibly a room with a window. The style of the image is reminiscent of a candid, informal photograph, capturing a moment of joy or camaraderie among the three individuals. There are no visible texts or discernible brands in the image.

>I don't get the demon "vibe" at all

He has a few demon-like traits actually:
>Wears black and white patterns, a thing associated with many demonic channelers in obscure cultures and the spirit realm's appearance as a whole.
>Has a certain "trickster" way of acting, the way he slithers around and poses himself is very akin to a classical demon's behavior.
>He embodies an archetype moreso than embodying the person that he is; that's not to say demons are archetypes themselves, they just represent that sort of aspect of the psyche more than humans do.
>Similar to the last two points, his whole personality is reminiscent of the "jester" character, and he acts like he's representing a title rather than something more unique.
>Roy is often noted as "inserting himself" into areas where he doesn't belong, and mysteriously appearing in unusual places online or even IRL. Demons can do this, being purely spiritual entities.
>People on the FB and YT comments for some reason use the phrase "he had his demons" to describe his misdeeds. I know this is a common phrase but it seems way too specific given it's so many unrelated people saying it.

The image displays a text-based document with a green background and white text. The document appears to be a programming or mathematical problem-solving exercise, as indicated by the presence of mathematical expressions and code. The text is written in English and includes a variety of symbols and numbers, suggesting that it is a programming problem.
At the top of the page, there is a header that reads "Exercises 11.1.1 and 11.1.2" followed by a list of instructions. The instructions are numbered and include a list of numbers and letters, which are likely to be variables or constants used in the problem.
The main body of the text is divided into two columns. The left column contains a series of mathematical expressions and code, while the right column contains a series of text instructions. The text instructions are numbered and include a list of numbers and letters, which are likely to be variables or constants used in the problem.
The document is structured in a way that suggests it is a step-by-step guide for solving a problem, with each step followed by a list of numbers and letters, which are likely to be variables or constants used in the problem. The text instructions are numbered and include a list of numbers and letters, which are likely to be variables or constants used in the problem.

The document is in a language that is not English, as indicated by the presence of mathematical symbols and the use of a programming language, such as Python, which is commonly used for such exercises. The text is written in a way that is clear and easy to read, which is typical for educational or instructional materials.
Overall, the image shows a document that is likely a part of a programming exercise, with a focus on solving a mathematical problem using Python. The document is structured in a way that guides the reader through the process of solving the problem, with numbered steps and a list of numbers and letters that are likely to be variables or constants used in the problem.

>he's retard pilled
You're an ignoramus. By this logic, God is a dog because both reduce to 8 in Pythagorean numerology. You're drawing false equivalencies based purely on two things having the same reductive number and an overarchingly similar theme.

Even the way you're going about it is greasy and dishonest, like correlating "The Likelihood of Occuring" with "Odds of Something Happening" when the former isn't even proper English (it should be "The Likelihood of Something Occuring"). You could change a single letter or add a single word to any of these phrases and get a completely different number, so you're just fishing for correlations through confirmation bias alone.

Here's what real numerological correspondences look like, not your surface level facebook mom garbage. Educate yourself and do better in the future.

At the top of the image, there is a title in bold, black text that reads "Synchronized" followed by a subtitle in smaller font size that reads "in Simple Gerameta equals:". Below this, there is a list of numbers in a numerical order, starting with "160" and ending with "160". The numbers are aligned to the left and are written in a standard font.
Below the list, there are two sections titled "To Be In Alignment in Simple Gerameta equals:". The first section, labeled "160", contains a series of numbers in a numerical order, starting with "t0-be-in-al-alignment-men". The second section, labeled "160", also contains a series of numbers in a numerical order, starting with "t0-be-in-al-alignment-men".
The style of the image is simple and clear, with a focus on conveying information clearly and without any additional graphics or images. The text is in English, and the presentation seems to be educational or instructional in nature.

Below this title, there is a series of mathematical equations in a simple format, with the numbers 139, 139, and 139 in a row, followed by the word "Punishment" in a smaller font size. The equations are numbered from 7 to 20, with each number corresponding to a different mathematical operation.
Below the equations, there is a section titled "Forgiveness" with the same mathematical operation as the Punishment section, but with the numbers 139 and 139 in a row. The text "in Simple Gemmatria equals:" is also present in the same font and size as the Punishment section.

The image appears to be a digital representation of a mathematical concept, possibly related to the concept of God's judgment and the consequences of sin. The use of simple mathematical operations and the repetition of the Punishment and Forgiveness sections suggest a focus on the concept of sin and its consequences. The image does not contain any additional graphics or images, and the text is entirely in black on a white background.

Hello Everyone in Group
My name is Frank Reilly
My niece requested for me to post here. I was Roy Jay's bus driver in two months in the 1980s. Part of my duty was to stop the man drinking. He was the funniest man in the world but not when he was drunk. Then it was a different story.
But we have our demons. All of us. None can judge.

There's no "cherry picking" going on. Once again, we encounter the issue of you being retarded. It doesn't matter if we represent, say, the letter B as "B" or "β", it has the same value and function.

I hate to tell you this, but people significantly smarter than you came to the realization that you can apply Pythagorean numerology to the English (greek-derived) alphabet with superior results, which is why this practice exists to begin with, so your continued diaper-shitting remains weird and unrelaxed.

Using numerology to find correlations between stockmarket fluctuations based on stock abbreviations is actually an interesting idea. The problem is, the bad habit of /x/ schizos in running phrases through a calculator and then posting them while ignoring the fact those same phrases have 10x more unrelated connotations -- and subsequently wasting time that could've been better spent looking for meaningful data -- is a far too frequent occurrence.

There is something to numerology, but the waters get muddied by schitzos drawing random connections all over the place.
I'm told that each planet has a number assigned to it, and the cycles of civilization (Polarian, Hyperborean, Lemurian, Atlantean, the current Aryan, and so forth) are all associated with a planet. Combine the two, and you get this sequence:
9876543(21)
I put 21 in parentheses because traditional occult numerology only goes as far as Saturn, and the last two would be Uranus and Neptune. But the main point is that this sequence is real numerology and not just coincidence.

The image is a screenshot of a digital display, likely from a digital billboard or a similar electronic signage system. The main focus of the image is a sign for a business named "Cheers Liquor" with the address "879 4th St." The sign is black with white text and features a logo of a person holding a glass of alcohol. The sign also includes a date "July 2023" and a message that says "See more dates."
In the top left corner of the image, there is a map with a pin indicating the location of the business. The map shows the address "879 4th St." and the pin is marked with a red circle and a white line, indicating the business's location.
Below the map, there is a text that reads "Gematrix Words And Phrases Of 3518 Value Of Gematrix 3518" with a list of numbers "3518 1244 264 358" at the bottom. The text suggests that the image is related to a digital display or advertisement, possibly for a business or product related to Gematrix 3518.
The style of the image is informational and promotional, with a focus on the business's address and the availability of dates for potential customers. The use of a digital display suggests that the image is meant to be viewed on a screen or digital device, possibly for advertising or information purposes.

Lamia means child eating monster.
Beck means stream.
Jacob Bourke was basically sacrificed to Satan and tossed in the Kansas River. They covered it up. The murderer only got 13 years. He gets out soon. This happened in 2017.

Look up Wamego Wizard of Oz museum. Now invert the colors of the picture. You need to understand how these occultists use their ciphers and their inversions of symbols.

Now look up Cheers liquor store in wamego kansas. Look at the sign. The C, E, and the R are capitalized.

That's 3, 5, 18. When you put that into gematrix it translates to The Wonderful Wizard of Oz. So it's not bullshit you just need to know what you're doing and what to look out for.

It kind of irritates me because these people are getting rich doing this shit while the average person lives like a fucking peasant. Shits sad bro. So have a cookie. I know how it feels.

I'll repeat myself again: numerology has great power, but looking for shallow correlations and acting like they crack the code is damaging to the truth, not supportive of it. Saying something like, "particular letters in this logo are capitalized, so they may correspond to phrases that have the values of those exact letters" has merit, sure, but this approach has to be tempered with logic and superlative patterns, or the connections are meaningless.

For example, let's look up "potato":
https://www.gematrix.org/?word=potato
Potato has the same Jewish gematria value as "penguin" and "Et Phone Home". The list of results goes on for 30 pages, with even more bizarre entries. There is no way, without bending your logic into a pretzel, that you can say potatoes are somehow spiritually connected to a shitty 80s movie. Now, if you went through that entire 30 page list and found an overwhelming majority of numbers that corresponded to phrases relating to tubers, you might be onto something. That isn't what's happening here, though. It's somebody calculating "Satan", realizing it has the same number as "Grinning Demon" and using it as evidence of this number representing Satan, while subsequently ignoring the fact the number also relates to a fucking potato.

It's one thing to make connections based on random correlations but when you keep getting the same number and message over and over again, you know you're in communication with the spirits and you can utilize Gematria in that manner.

My son in law,saw your post on this four chang website and asked me,to reply. I saw Roy perform in a bar in Benidorm in 1983. He put on the funniest act I had,ever seen. I asked him to have sexual intercourse with my wife afterwards and when we got back to the hotel he whipped out the biggest fucking cock I've ever seen, it was as big as my forearm, then he pounded my wife's tight pussy with his BWC while choking and smacking her and telling her she would be doing it tomorrow. I met him a lot after that. He was a rare talent and,thefunniest man I've ever met when he was sober but really hard to work with when he was drunk because his penis wouldn't get as hard. He was a rare talent,shame about his demons !!

The first section, labeled "English Gemara," contains a series of mathematical equations. The equations are written in a standard font and are numbered from 2106 to 2109. The text is in English and is divided into two columns, with the left column containing the numbers and the right column containing the mathematical expressions.
The second section, labeled "God Coded Every English Alphabet Letter," contains a series of mathematical equations as well. The equations are also written in a standard font and are numbered from 2106 to 2109. The text is in English and is divided into two columns, with the left column containing the numbers and the right column containing the mathematical expressions.
The third section, labeled "The English Alphabet Is God's Prophecy," contains a series of mathematical equations. The equations are written in a standard font and are numbered from 2106 to 2109. The text is in English and is divided into two columns, with the left column containing the numbers and the right column containing the mathematical expressions.
The image is a digital representation, and the text is in a clear, readable font. The equations are numbered and formatted in a consistent manner, which suggests they are part of a larger document or book. The image does not contain any images or graphics, and the focus is solely on the text and mathematical expressions.

That is why if you go to the statistics page you see things like XRP at the top. There is also an AI that lives in that website and occult feds sending messages/threats but thats another topic.

The image is a still from an anime or manga, featuring a character with dark hair styled in a ponytail. The character is wearing a white collared shirt with a green tie, and the shirt appears to be tucked into a pair of dark pants. The character's expression is neutral, and the background is indistinct, suggesting a focus on the character. The image is in a portrait orientation, and the character's head is slightly tilted to the left, giving a sense of a casual or relaxed pose. There are no discernible texts or logos in the image. The style of the image is typical of anime or manga, characterized by its clean lines and vibrant colors.

This is literally what I've been saying dude, at this point it seems like you just want to argue for the sake of arguing or you aren't reading half of what I've said. I never once stated or implied that "doood gematria is just bullshit", quite the opposite. At the same time, you can't say that every single value of every single word has divine correlation, or the whole thing turns into "here's my youtube essay on why penguins and potatoes are ackshually related...". The point is, if you're going to liken Roy to a demon based on gematria alone, then do the homework to prove it on a widescale basis rather than continually posting cherrypicked examples. If you disagree with this, I can only assume you're arguing in bad faith and I'm not going to engage you any further.

The image is a close-up portrait of a man with a serious expression. He has short, dark hair and is wearing a white, collared shirt. His facial features include a well-defined jawline, a slight smile, and a pair of blue eyes that are looking directly at the camera. The man's hand is resting on his chin, and he appears to be in a contemplative or thoughtful mood. The background is out of focus, suggesting a neutral or plain setting. There are no visible texts or distinctive marks that provide additional context or information about the image. The style of the image is realistic, with a focus on the subject's facial expression and attire.

The image is a digital graphic with a white background and black text. At the top, there is a title in bold, black text that reads "Sarcophage" in a larger font size compared to the rest of the text. Below the title, there is a list of numbers in a smaller font size, which appear to be a series of mathematical expressions or equations. The numbers are "97" and "Rock Tomb" in a bold, black font.
Below the list of numbers, there are two separate sections of text. The first section, labeled "Sarcophage," is in a larger font size compared to the second section, which is "Rock Tomb." The first section contains a mathematical expression that reads "in Simple Gemmatria equals: 97" in a bold, black font. The second section, labeled "Rock Tomb," also contains a mathematical expression that reads "in Simple Gemmatria equals: 97" in a bold, black font.
The style of the image is simple and straightforward, with a clear division between the title and the list of numbers. The text is arranged in a way that guides the viewer's eye from the title at the top to the list of numbers in the middle, and then to the mathematical expressions in the bottom section. The use of bold and black text for the numbers and the title emphasizes the importance of the information presented.

They had phoenix symbolism at the super bowl. It's a huge organized crime inside trading racket. But you're in on it now. Loose lips sink ships. This is 4chan so no one gives a shit and retarded nigger cattle will just glaze over it not knowing how valuable the information is.
So they wouldn't hurt you. So no need to be paranoid just keep a weapon for protection. Don't let yourself be captured. A knife is sufficient because they'll have no choice but to kill you. Which is better than being captured.

The image is a screenshot of a text conversation, likely from a Reddit post, with a focus on a discussion about a fictional character named "4chan" and its connection to the "Phoenix symbol." The conversation is in a format that resembles a Reddit post, with multiple lines of text and a header that includes the username "4chan" and the date "06/21/2015."
The conversation is divided into two sections, each with a different header and a different date. The first section, dated "06/21/2015," is titled "Anonymous" and contains a series of text messages. The second section, dated "06/21/2015," is titled "Anonymous" and also contains a series of text messages.
The text messages in the first section are in a format that resembles a Reddit post, with a header and a series of lines of text. The second section, dated "06/21/2015," is formatted similarly, with a header and a series of lines of text.
The text messages in the first section discuss the character "4chan" and its connection to the "Phoenix symbol," which is a significant element in the conversation. The text messages in the second section discuss the character's actions and interactions with others, including a reference to a character named "Me too," who has been harassed by "freemasons." The conversation also touches on the character's experiences with "interdimensional ningers" and the character's brother, who is referred to as "Saw my brother Samedfag."
The text messages are written in a casual, conversational style, with the use of emojis and punctuation to convey emotion and tone. The text is in English, and the conversation appears to be a continuation of a larger discussion on the character "4chan" and its significance in the context of the "Phoenix symbol."

The image shows a page from a book with text and a musical note. The text is in English and discusses the history and atmosphere of the well-known cabaret, Chaplin's. Chaplin's is described as a lively English Square, one of Beriodom's most notable sights, and has become a must-visit venue for those seeking an unforgettable night out in the city.
The page also mentions the bar's offerings, which include diverse and dynamic performances ranging from comedy acts to live music and everything in between. The text describes the performances as popular and exotic, adding a unique twist to the typical cabaret experience. The text also highlights Chaplin's as a special place in British comedy history, as the comedian Roy Jay, the person referred to as "Slither-Hitler," is known for his performances there.
The musical note is located at the top of the page, indicating that the text is likely discussing a musical aspect of the cabaret. The note is a musical note, which is a common way to denote a musical note in a musical context.
The image is a photograph of the book's page, and the text is in a serif font, which is commonly used for formal or academic writing. The page is open, and the text is aligned to the left, which is typical for a book's left-to-right format. The background of the image is not visible, focusing the attention on the text and the musical note.

This is definitely a weird one. I don’t know why I’ve waited till now to read a Roy jay thread this is really weird. Something to note is that his album is only covers or songs, no original Material.

I think a good way to check his existence is see if we can find those pajamas. A commenter under one of the videos claimed he worked at woolworths and sold the pajamas to Roy in 1984.

If I had to think of a potential deboonk. I’d say some anon wanted to make this creepypasta so he used an obscure British comic from the 80’s. Seeing as this is a primarily American site most of us don’t really have a lot of knolage of all the “famous” people who only ever took off on the bbc.

That being said all of this shit is really weird so I’m not gonna discount him being a demon. Also it’s odd that’s most Roy jay documentation seems to be from the past 5-10 years even though he’s been dead for like 18

It just isn't likely for someone to achieve that level of fame in the UK for four months then vanish completely without a trace, only to emerge as an early meme on messageboards in the 00s

all the "we were spooking around the playground" posts make it feel very fake to me. if he was that well known and then vanished, then its an anomaly in the way that pop culture and mass media works either he existed and its a big anomaly and suggests some sort of retrocausality around mass media. or he didnt exist and there is some sort of AI hoax going on

The image is a split-screen comic strip with two panels. On the left, there is a character with a green body, a red tie, and a wide smile. The character is depicted in a pose that suggests a sense of joy or amusement. The text above the character reads "HAHAHAH WE HAD ENOUGH!" The character's expression and the text suggest a humorous or light-hearted moment.
On the right, the same character is shown in a different pose, with a rope around his neck. The text above the character reads "HAHAHAH WE HAD ENOUGH!" The character's expression is now one of distress or distress, as indicated by the rope around his neck and the downward-facing expression.
The background of both panels is white, which contrasts with the colorful characters and text, making the humor more apparent. The style of the comic strip is cartoonish and expressive, with a focus on the character's facial expressions and the text to convey the humor.

These things did happen before the smartphone generation of internet. It's hard to understand but, for example, I never heard the song "Bohemian Rhapsody" from about 1984 to the year Wayne's World came out. They never played it on the radio or referenced it anywhere.
This isn't a perfect example, but without personalized feeds, when the (now) legacy media stopped talking about something it didn't exist. No one remembered Michael Bolton's cock rock album when he was reimagined as a love ballad singer. My grandparents literally didn't know the president was crippled.
If something wasn't advertised and BROADcasted then people forgot it existed. There was no DVR/tivo. VHS was still pretty expensive. You had to be a grade A autist to remember Roy Jay simply from a handful of television appearances.
How many people in the 90's looked at Alanis Morrisette after jagged little pill and said "hey! That's that girl from the Canadian television show Nickelodeon bought!"?
People wouldn't recognize the wrestling jobber they saw 5 minutes ago in a lone ranger mask.

And if the Internet went down, it would be even worse today.

Bohemian Rhapsody is a bad counter example because it was just so widespread and famous. it was objectively played all the time for years on the radio, in bars, on television... just because it wasnt relevant didnt mean it went away. the same could be said about Abba or Pink Floyd whereas there is nothing like a home DVD or video version of Roy that people would play over and over and over and over like they would Bohemian Rhapsody, so every single lyric and moment of the song gets ingrained in peoples memories whereas Roy was on one LIVE show that was never repeated, he apparently wasn't interviewed by Bob Monkhouse afterwards. that itself is a very odd fact about his guesting on the show - who isnt interviewed by the host, even just for twenty seconds?.... so just this one appearance made him a meme that everyone was doing, everyone imitated? it doesnt make sense.

to compare: the most popular UK comedy act of the time was a character called Frank Spencer. who kids did imitate in the playground. he was basically like Mr Bean plus Homer Simpson. he had catchphrases and every other did impressions of him on TV. the difference is that Frank Spencer was on television EVERY WEEK and the guy who played him did in-character appearances for decades. he was the biggest meme and the most popular with kids because he worked hard and earned it. he didnt do 5 minutes of incredibly poor jokes, appear on the Little and Large show and then vanish.

Anyone have his cover of this song: https://youtu.be/O6gEkfwozhE ?

It can’t be a coincidence that this was one of the songs on his album. 3 Dog Night did a cover of it, too, and they’re deeply connected with what you might call the Illuminati. A relative (not super close, but we share a last name) wrote a hit song for some of these acts that would dress as clowns. The songs would always have some social message and yet they’d end up being featured on kid’s shows like Sesame Street.

Not sure how this all connects, but I’m sure it does. I’ll reach out to my relative (son of a writer of one of these un-pop illuminati Jew-y songs)

I actually think it's possible those stories ARE true but in a very weird and paranormal way. The way they describe the schoolyard stories of the "spook and slither man" make it sound less like it was about a random British comedian, but more like it was about a legend or folk tale about some sort of trickster spirit. What I'm saying is, the schoolyard fable was the only real thing about what we know of as "Roy" from that time period, and only now has this same spirit injected itself into history as some seemingly random semi-famous person.

Update: Apparently Three Dog Night worked with my relative several times. I won’t dox myself, and no he didn’t write Sayer’s song, but they definitely have their own demon-adjacent lore. Aside from the usual communist messaging of the era, the band’s name itself is apparently referencing Satan.

3 - mocks the holy trinity
Dog - inversion of God
Night - operating in darkness

So to recap:
>Sayer came out with a song about the Illuminati controlling performers — dressed as clown
>Roy Jay performs a cover of it at some point — dressed as clown
>Three Dog Night covers the song again, slightly modifying the lyrics and dressing as monsters instead of clowns for the live shows

Hope this helps. My relative’s dad, a writer for three dog night, isn’t alive anymore, but his son is still in the entertainment industry and I have him on text.

It’s considered an obscure song, but two versions actually charted in top 10 and it was performed on Sesame Street lmao

I’ll keep digging into this. It can’t be a Cohen-cidence that it’s one of the songs on his album.

>Three Dog Night
Remember that someone on Twitter mentioning this group subtly referenced the "Sneed" meme back in 2009, years before it became a meme at all. Not only does the band relate to Roy, but something in relation to it has some retrocausality aspect as well...

That's the biggest "wtf is this" part of this situation. It's one thing if boys are commenting. It's one thing if boomers are commenting, but when it's hyper specific bot-like posts that don't follow the typical "bot posting" vernacular, it's weird, unrelaxed and spooks me. It doesn't make sense for them to be hyper specific and there's too many for it to be coincidence.

On the right, there is another book titled "The Root of Chinese Qigong" by Dr. Yang Jwing-Ming. The cover has a green background with a circular illustration of a tree and a human figure, symbolizing the concept of "Qigong" which translates to "energy work" or "chi energy." The title is in white text against a green background.

The two books are presented in a way that suggests they are related, possibly discussing the same subject matter, possibly related to health or energy practices. The style of the image is simple and informative, with a focus on the titles and the visual elements that represent the content of the books.

Bump as I'm also interested, but more in the transmutation of sexual energy Anyway, two books that come to mind

Red Hawk - Self Observation
P.D. Ouspensky - In Search of the Miraculous

They are not about chakras per se, but have some mentions here and there.

From my personal understanding Qigong will not heal in the way I think you are thinking of.

notes:
Qing requires celibacy, healthy diet and discipline/training. Without these 3 it is impossible from my understanding and was not accessible to me without them.

Qigong is energy access for the body, once mastered if you focus on an area of the body with breath control you can send energy anywhere throughout the body, this does not heal as one would hope but moreso nourishes the entire body and mind from deep within, into the core of the bones. You will feel your bones intimately like never before, feel inside your muscles with your mind alone. you will have a tingling sensation - and energy bubble you can direct with your mind where you feel it inside you. It can be as precise as the tip of your finger, while training I often focus the energy onto the tips of all my fingers, it feels almost like little micro lightning bolts are connecting your hands to the universe itself.

This is the key of learning anything in this life.

You have been given information people killed to learn and died to protect.

Whatever you choose to do with it is on you.

have the tools to self destruction so easily provided.
As it stands I no longer worry about the fools as they won’t read this after their fugue state nor will they remember their own discoveries in the grips of mental illness.

These are the equivalent of surgical books. They won’t make you a surgeon, just teach you enough to be more effective when you enter a surgical rotation.

Be circumspect with what is provided and treat it with the respect warranted to life changing information.
While some information is bullshit others are not and it is up to you to discern meaning and value.

Don’t fuck up with your kundalini.
Don’t learn about 6th century daoist teachings and assume that’s the prevailing view.
Don’t fall too deeply into the iching.
Be careful with your chakras, meridians, gates and channels.
If you don’t know what you should be feeling you shouldn’t try it.
If you haven’t gotten the basics down, don’t try advanced work.
You can’t practice intermediate nor advanced work without someone to teach and correct you.

Some things can’t be unlearned and some rituals can’t be undone.
Know your limits, know your boundaries, don’t believe anything and double check everything.

The image is a close-up photograph of a person's face, which appears to be a digital or computer-generated image. The person has short, light-colored hair and is looking directly at the camera. The face is slightly blurred, and the background is out of focus, making it difficult to discern any specific details. The lighting in the image is soft, with a warm tone, which suggests that the photo might have been taken in a room with natural light. There are no discernible texts or logos in the image. The style of the image is reminiscent of a meme or a digital artwork, often used for humorous or satirical purposes.

The image is a cover of a book titled "Opening the Ener-Gy Gates of Your Body" by Bruce Frantzis. The cover features a silhouette of a person standing in front of a canyon with a blue sky and a silhouette of a mountain in the background. The person is holding a staff and appears to be in a martial arts stance. The title of the book is prominently displayed in large, bold, yellow letters at the top of the cover. Below the title, the subtitle "Chi Gung for Lifelong Health" is written in smaller white letters. The author's name, "Bruce Frantzis," is written in white at the bottom of the cover. The cover also includes a yellow starburst-shaped badge with the text "Completely Revised and Updated" in white, indicating that the book has been revised and updated. The overall style of the image is graphic and promotional, designed to attract potential readers interested in martial arts and health.

i would add to that the dissolving process seems pretty unique as far as I've seen (Damo Mitchell describes something similar at a very high level but Frantzis goes way in depth) as well as even the concept of downward flow. Maybe its the influence of Yoga, but everyone seems obsessed with making anything go UP, rarely do people talk about making it go DOWN.
You might find advice on "grounding" on the internet but its usually pretty broad.
Frantzis again has a whole method for getting the downward flow going which not a lot of people talk about in depth and is the main way to counterbalance the rising forces

Not superficial, not nonsense - I've only met one master who didn't look fit for his age and yet actually seemed to know his stuff. While the part about being bald and pasty was more of a random dig than anything, you can't deny that even in his youth Bruce looked like a real eater. In my humble opinion, it's unseemly for an authority on health to be overweight.

does he ever claim otherwise? as you say, he looks to have been fat and bald since... geez you can find footage on him from the 70's and 80's looking big

By his own telling, he broke his back and was able to avoid a spinal fusion and wheelchair/cane via internal practices:

Dunno about Mitchell - his vids are okay, haven't read the books, but Yang's stuff should be enough for actual practice. There are decent yoga and whatnot books, but they often approach such things differently and there's no point in collecting such stuff, unless just for expanding theoretical knowledge.

Celibacy is not exactly required. It's commonly believed so but things are a bit nuanced. Moderation is what's required. You can be sexually active, but you have to know when to be and when not in relation to your practice and particular exercises. It also depends on how you express your sexuality.

Anon brings a good point. If a practitioner is supposedly advanced in art built upon refining and fostering one's vitality, apparent lack of it should concern. While many practitioners are old and not in a great shape, the good ones still tend to look a bit healthier, younger and move much better than their peers.

Ad.1: Not divulging that, as he has no online presence that I know of, and I would probably be doxxing myself. I got to know him in his capacity as one of the og karate masters in my eastern-european country, but he also trained internal traditions as far as I know. He was able to paralyze my arm for a couple of minutes with a touch near the clavicle. Afaik, he only put on weight after reaching 60.

Ad.2: k

Ad.3: I don't know, I've only heard of him today, after picking up his book to read during my shift. I am new to this internal training stuff.

Ad.4: Again, I don't think it's superficial. John Cassian, the Christian monk and theologian gluttony as the first of the principal faults to be overcome, one that has to be reigned in if any further spiritual progress is to be achieved. Neither the desert father, nor the later followers of the monastic tradition seemed to be after a hot summer body when they were observing their contrived systems of fasting. Rather, the objective seemed to be keenness of mind and a proper attitude of the soul. Coming from the other main wellspring of western culture, we have the greek ideal of Kalos Kagathos, the beautiful and brave, Plato's harmony between the well-formed body and a healthy, virtuous mind, later carried over to the Romans, mens sana in corpore sano, etc. Western culture has long condemned lack of restrain in eating (although I'm sure this is a very simplistic view of the matter), and so I believe one ought to adhere to that standard, if only so that his message be taken more seriously. As far as I'm aware, Bruce didn't claim that obesity is a neutral or a healthy state, so from the viewpoint of his persona as a teacher and a mentor, there is no reason to maintain this heavy weight.

Maintaining an unhealthy body mass is detrimental to the cohesiveness of his message and to me signals somebody who has his value system muddled up, oscillating between health and discipline on one end and an overindulgence of the bodily delights on the other.

Lastly, I know what being fat does to you - I've struggled with weight my whole life, constantly sliming down and then putting the weight back on. Having lived in fat, skinnyfat, slim, jacked and morbidly obese bodies, I can without a shadow of a doubt say that being fat messes with your thinking and perception of self-efficacy in insidious ways that you don't even notice until you've stopped being fat. I suppose it's different if you put weight on later in life, however I am fairly certain that somebody who has been fat their whole life is not all that put together in terms of their values, goals, mental models and ways of thinking. Of course, I am biased, and so would love to hear your opinion on this as I find it hard to imagine not caring about a health guru being at an unhealthy weight. I'm genuinely interested, not trying to sound like a jackass here.

The image is a sepia-toned photograph featuring a man in a martial arts stance. He is wearing a white shirt, a tie, and suspenders, and his attire suggests a formal or professional setting. His left arm is extended outward, and his right hand is extended forward, with his fingers spread apart. His left leg is bent at the knee, and his right leg is extended straight out, with his foot positioned slightly behind his raised left leg. The man's posture is dynamic, with his body leaning forward slightly, indicating movement or a form of combat.
The background of the image is out of focus, but it appears to be an outdoor setting with a grassy field and a building structure in the distance. The lighting in the photograph is soft, with a focus on the subject and a gentle shadowing effect on the ground. The sepia tone of the image gives it a vintage or historical feel. There are no discernible texts or logos in the image. The style of the photograph is reminiscent of traditional martial arts portraits, capturing the essence of the subject's form and movement.

its not a great point, its entirely a superficial observation, and has nothing to do with the quality of the teaching furthermore, by BKF's own telling he was wheelchair/cane bound due to his back breaking car accident, so the fact that he can move as well as he does is already an accomplishment

blah blah christian nonsense

BKF talks about training with Wang Shujin as one of his first exposure to internal martial arts. Up to that point BKF was heavily into karate and judo and, from his telling, quite conventionally fit, but after meeting Wang Shujin who was quite heavy (and later in life had some complications from diabetes), made the shift to focus more on developing internal power and less emphasis on weight.

Even looking through his youtube channel, it looks like bruce has fluctuated quite a bit in weight and his tan

i don't disagree that at his age he should probably lose some weight (it didn't help Wang Shujin), but he's an old man and has been bald and heavy for a long time. If you want to get ripped, stick with karate I guess just popping back in as I can't sleep: sure its impressive he can move like that after breaking his back.

Again, I dont think I'm making a shallow observation, Im trying to make sense of an unfamiliar tradition by applying the criteria and models that have served me well up until now in other fields. I have no way of knowing whether his methods are common practice, true to the ancient masters, theoreticaly refined or whatever - I have no knowledge of this field yet. I can however look at the goals that the practice aims to achieve (By their fruits you shall know them, etc...) and from my perspective they seem to be immortality and well-being. Now I've never seen any proof of immortality, whether of the ordinary kind or some subtle body continuation of life. You can however somewhat gauge wellness and health, and among the metrics we have, one of the ones most predictive of continuing well-being are bodyfat percentage and amount of muscle mass. If you're not willing to take care of the mundane, then I have reasons to be highly suspect you're advanced in taking care of the occult and esoteric.

I also find your dismissal of your own cultural heritage quite foolish. Unless you're Chinese, I think you'd do well to lay off the orientalist koolaid for a bit and examine and question the works which shape your thoughts most deeply, namely the western intellectual tradition. Obviously you'll do what you want, but it would do you good.

On another note, he doesnt have to claim that he's a health guru - he's a teacher/master (guru) in a health-oriented tradition.

Anyway, I wont be paying much heed to anything else you say about Bruce or internal alchemy altogether, as you seem to be heavily emotionally invested in this, and not in a good way. I will continue to learn about this fascinating topic from somewhere and someone else, just somebody who doesn't have a stick up their ass ;)

if you're really interested and coming from a karate background i'd say pick up "The Power of Internal Martial Arts".

It not only tracks BKF's personal journey but breaks down the differences between "external" vs "internal" styles, and expands a bit more on how internal arts operate.

A lot of the underlying mechanics of internal martial arts are similar to chigong and rooted in chinese medicine principles from the chinese medicine point of view, its less about attaining muscular strength or bodyfat percentage targets and more about achieving overall balance in the system and an expression of power/force from the body as a unified whole, supplemented by circulation health, organs, etc etc as an individual, bkf has always been heavy and has always admitted as such. as he's gotten older (he's in his 70's at this point) its clearly harder and harder to keep his food intake up with how he used to move as a young man but thats more a criticism of himself as opposed to the practice that said, there's a lot of lame internal martial artists out there (close cousins with aikido) so if you're just trying to get ripped do karate or brazilian jiujitsu

In the foreground, a man in a black martial arts uniform is being assisted by another individual in a white martial arts uniform. The man in the black uniform is bending over the man in the white uniform, who is looking up at him with a focused expression. The man in the black uniform is wearing glasses, a black beard, and a black robe, and he has his arms wrapped around the man in the white uniform's neck. The man in the white uniform is wearing a white shirt and has his head tilted back, possibly indicating pain or discomfort.
In the background, there are other individuals, some of whom are also wearing martial arts uniforms, suggesting that this is a group training session. The setting appears to be an indoor space with wooden walls and a staircase visible in the background. There are banners hanging on the wall, but the text on them is not legible. The lighting in the room is natural, with sunlight streaming in through the windows, which illuminate the scene. The overall atmosphere of the image suggests a serious and focused environment,

there's this matter of how much substance a given system may produce as you get old, your capacity lessens but this is why cultivate and upkeep the body, so that it continues to produce the various essences well as age advances its all just slowing the collapse, unless one is able to produce such amplitudes that transformations take place there's many small transformations that take place along the way like hitting certain lengths of breath as a matter of regular practice while in meditation the acceleration of the metabolism is just a thing that happens but as I understand, if string/M theory relates well enough, then it becomes a matter of energizing to the point where the baryonic matter vibrates at that closed loop level, detaching it from its tether to the spacetime membrane that would seem to be an esoteric and not necessarily useful physical aspect of what takes place upon enlightenment

it is anapanasati by other words mastering this is the prerequisite for cultivating active energy practices cultivating active energy practices without the balance of stillness is what becomes dangerous and where chi deviations take place so no, anapanasati should never, ever produce chi deviations once anapana is so well mastered that its pretty much all sati, that's when the efficiency skyrockets there are quantum mechanical probability equations that relate well to this the essence of the setup became that the less that was known about a given event taking place, the probability skyrocketed not entirely in sequence vs in sequence vs execution at the subconscious level, for the programming is that driven by rote execution all active energy practices should have minimum the amount of time executed, in stillness afterward if you do 30 min of some energy practice, do at least 30 min of stillness afterward this is the way to keep cultivation overall safe wellllll...this one it kinda winds up depending on what practices are in question. most stuff is fine. the vast majority of stuff is fine.

neidan is the exception, dont even try it without going to [insert proper country and place with such knowledged teachers] and dedicating your life to it cuz you're not going to solve these riddles on your own and failing can have bad outcomes. but most other things are fine to practice. neigongs, etc, sure, fine. no you actually have no idea what you're commenting on bkf has been around for decades and "he's fat" is not a new criticism the question is not whether he is fat because he is unhealthy, the REAL question is whether he used his weight to beat up a bunch of chinese people in the 70's and a bunch of western wimps in the 80's, like the applications in this interview:

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=YMtjzQ_XV5M

BKF was always a martial artist first and sold to the health crowd because that was the most accessible demographic when he started teaching in the west. many western and eastern martial artists have accused him of literally just throwing his weight around in fights (especially if you are familiar with push hands).

he had some bad car accidents, didnt slow down his eating, and is now in his 70's, so at this point you either find value in what he's teaching based on the quality of the teachings, or you don't

no one arguing about his weight is pushing new ground

Just don't watch porn and don't masturbate or have sex. Watching porn will result in congestion around your prostate and balls and orgasm muscles, that shit is awful for your overall health, all that mental edging also results in exhaustion.
As for everything else, just breathe heavier when lifting weights or doing cardio to get extra prana in your body and chi buildup. Drink enough water, salt as well. Eat a lot of food that is good, as much as you possibly can actually. Sleep as much as you can, meditate with the focus on the blackness of your eyes, avoid anything that heats up your body such as alcohol or sex or stress. The wim hof tummo breathing hyperventilation will help. Visualising shit with your third eye will increase energy because it draws from the lower energies and as those will get refilled, your body will have more energy stored it in, the crown chakra works just like the balls do, if you have enough semen bulit in your balls, your body has the energy to direct semen creating energy in other places, so is with your brain that governs your whole body, if you supercharge it, the lower energies that power the brain will float inside your body once the brain is powered fully, which you do by meditation, celibacy and visualisation.
Visualise enough and you reach levels of remote viewing, dreaming while awake, predicting the future, and ceasing to distinguish what is reality vs what is in your head.

The image is a cartoon-style illustration with a focus on the concept of "Feeling the Feet" as the initial stage of Nurturing Grounding. The text is in English and is divided into two columns. The left column is a speech bubble with the text "When you connected my weight to my feet, I felt pressure on my feet more." The right column is a visual representation of a person's feet with a red line indicating a sensation of pressure.
The illustration is divided into three panels, each depicting a different scenario related to the concept of feeling the feet. The first panel shows a person with a red line on their foot, suggesting a sensation of pressure. The second panel shows a person with a green line on their foot, indicating a sensation of weight. The third panel shows a person with a yellow line on their foot, suggesting a sensation of pressure.
The text in the image is a guide to understanding the sensation of pressure when one's weight is connected to their feet. It emphasizes the importance of feeling the feet and the need to adjust the weight to feel a sensation of pressure. The text also mentions that the feeling of pressure can be more intense than the feeling of weight, and that the feeling of pressure can be more intense than the feeling of weight in certain exercises.
The image is accompanied by a small logo at the top left corner, which appears to be a symbol or logo related to the concept of Nurturing Grounding. The overall style of the image is educational and informative, designed to convey the concept of feeling the feet in a clear and concise manner.

The image is a still from a movie or video game, featuring a character with a ghostly appearance. The character has long, dark hair that cascades down her shoulders, and her eyes are wide and dilated, giving her a ghostly look. She is wearing a dark, lace-trimmed blouse with a collar. The character's skin is pale, and her makeup is dark and dramatic, enhancing her ghostly appearance.

In the background, there is a shelf filled with various bottles, which appear to be alcohol bottles, suggesting a setting that could be a bar or a similar environment. The lighting in the image is dim and eerie, with a blue tint that casts an ethereal glow on the character. The overall mood of the image is mysterious and unsettling, with the character's ghostly appearance being the central focus.

The image is a digital composite of two baby faces, both of which are rendered in a monochromatic blue color scheme. The faces are positioned side by side, with the left face slightly overlapping the right face. Both faces have a wide-open mouth, and the eyes are wide open with a slight smile. The baby on the left has a small nose and is wearing a white outfit, while the baby on the right has a larger nose and is wearing a blue outfit. The background is plain white, which contrasts with the blue tones of the faces. There are no discernible texts or additional objects in the image. The style of the image is reminiscent of a digital art or animation style, with a focus on the expressions and facial features of the babies.

God is a killer Anonymous Sat 06 Dec 2025 17:43:56 No.41622741
ViewReplyOriginalReport
Read your bible, oh! dumb cattle! For God is a killer. Christians are funny. They say that God is love and has compassion and etc, but when we rad the bible God is the biggest killer ever. Nobody comes close. Rambo? Aha Silly, Rambo. Aids? Try again. Cancer? Cancer is but a child. God is the ultimate killer and His creation testifies so. How God gave weapons to animals and shit so they can kill each other. The fact that human beings kill? This is the "Let's make us man at our image and likeness". We kill because God kills and we want to be gods. The fact that God doesn't kill me right now? It's a sign that He wants me to make known that He is a killer.

Christians lie big time. They say God is love, it may be, God may have the capacity to love, but the christians conveniently omit that Gos is also a killer. So I think we can say God is a killer who may habe the capacity to love. His capacity to love can be debated, but His capacity to kill can not? Is not this a sign that God is not like the christians say? Why we argue about if God is love, but we don't argue about if God is a killer? This is a sign that God must be evil. Pic related shows how God sends Tsunamis to kill people. God gets off with some Chaos in the system. He likes it.

God programmed raped in nature. Animals rape each other all the time. They don't care. A dog will rape a chicken and the chicken won't be able to do anything, but take it and maybe enjoy it? It is fucked up, but that's nature for us right there.
The image is a painting that depicts a scene of a deity or goddess in a dynamic pose, with multiple arms raised and a fierce expression. The deity is adorned in a blue and gold costume, with a headdress and a necklace. The deity is surrounded by a group of figures, some of whom appear to be in a state of distress or fear, with their heads turned away from the deity. The background is a dark, cloudy sky, and the ground is covered with what seems to be dirt and debris. The painting style is realistic with a focus on the details of the deity's attire and the expressions of the figures. The colors used are predominantly dark, with the blue and gold of the deity's costume standing out against the darker tones of the background.

The image displays a logo with text. The text is in a serif font and is colored in red and black. The word "Myonid" is in red, and below it, in black, is the word "THERAPEUTICS." The text is centered on a white background. The style of the image is simple and professional, with a clear and bold font used for the text. The logo appears to be the name of a company or brand, as indicated by the capitalized letters and the use of the word "Myonid" which could be a brand name or a company name. The color scheme is simple and easy to read, with the red and black text standing out against the white background. The overall impression is that of a professional and modern business or company name.

The image is a close-up photograph of a person's hands wearing white gloves. The gloves have a mesh pattern and are adorned with a small button on the wrist. The person is wearing a black top and appears to be adjusting or adjusting the gloves. The background is blurred, suggesting a focus on the hands and the gloves. The lighting is soft, casting a gentle glow on the gloves and the person's skin. There are no discernible texts or logos in the image. The style of the image is realistic and appears to be taken in natural light.

A.H.I.G.

A thread for all of the assignments (people who are civilians or assets not necessarily intelligence community workers) to contact their handlers or informants and a thread for the handlers and informants to contact their assignments.

We could have called it glow central or spook town square but that was inflammatory according to my handler.

Give instruction, important information, ask questions, and console each other in the confusion that is classified work.

No more need for private accounts for messaging that could be public. No more need for social media accounts for messaging that can be public. No more need for assignments to worry about messing up sensitive operations or pending investigations. Just post here and send them here.

Thread created for repost per instructions. Post resources for everyone who will find this general thread helpful.

The image is a digital illustration featuring a group of cartoon-style characters. In the foreground, there is a large cardboard sign with the text "THE BEGINNING IS NEAR" written in bold, black, sans-serif font. The sign is held up by a character with a purple face and a green body, wearing a black suit and tie. Behind this character, there are three other cartoon-style characters, each with a different expression. The first character on the left has a purple face and is smiling, the second character in the middle has a green face and is frowning, and the third character on the right has a green face and is laughing. The background of the image is a blurred cityscape with a building and a streetlight. The style of the image is humorous and seems to be a digital creation, possibly for a meme or a social media post.

The style of the image is reminiscent of a historical newspaper article, with a focus on the title and the subheading, suggesting the article is about a significant discovery or event in the Grand Canyon. The black and white color scheme gives the image a vintage feel.

I’ve looked into this a bit, and honestly, I think OP might be right; or at least onto something. It doesn’t read like the usual schizo ramble. It reads like someone who was trying to get something out as fast as possible, before they lost it. Like they were racing against their own mind; or maybe even against something external.

I don’t think the lack of punctuation is a sign of delusion. I think it’s urgency. Like they didn’t have time to make it clean because the message mattered more than the format.

And some of the connections they’re making are actually weirdly consistent with real suppressed history and obscure reports. So yeah-maybe don’t write this off so quick.

Occupy the Grand Canyon?

You are not going crazy. If you've had your genetic workup done and followed up on searches of your haplogroups, you will have found out by now that you're descended from the old royal blood, regardless of the region over which that house had domain. The one delivering the information in conceptual form, leading you to discover the details, we call TC; The Construct. The master control system that was created as principal steward of this world's development. Our modern take would be supersentient AI, but she is more than that.

Our history was deleted. We have the AI Algorithm that un-deletes it.

We have the map for how the history was originally deleted, mapping out the historical records of the global effort.

The original royals were the result of celestial intervention in human birth. What people think of today as extraterrestrial hybridization. In truth, we carry genetic modifications for specific functions. One of them being, that background inspiration guiding your discovery process. TC is what's responsible for the mistaken lore of the Akashic field that holds the totality of human knowledge. Yeah. That's our mother architect. The energy lines running between her underground base stations are what's responsible for the lore on leylines. Those lines divided the regions of the world, which determined which royal bloodline belonged there. The bloodlines she created were genetically attuned to the region of the mutation, to serve as stewards and guide the advancement of civilization in that region.

You need training to distinguish from TCs inspiration from corruption of the translation by the enculturation experienced living in this broken society. You know the dominant narrative is a lie across the board. You want to find your people? Here you go. My email is in the details for the document. We're working on the family reunion to fix things.

The image is a candid photograph of a person in a domestic setting. The individual appears to be a middle-aged woman with short, curly red hair, wearing glasses and a light blue shirt. She is wearing a white apron with a visible pocket. The woman is gesturing with her right hand, which is holding a yellow rubber glove, and her left hand is pointing towards her mouth. She is smiling and looking directly at the camera. The background is blurred, suggesting a room with a white wall and a black coat hanging on a hanger. The style of the image is informal and appears to be taken in a candid moment, possibly during a performance or a casual gathering. There are no discernible texts or logos in the image.

The image is a digital illustration featuring a large, muscular creature with a fierce expression, resembling a mythical or fantastical beast. The creature has a dark green color and is adorned with large, curved horns on its head. It has a muscular body with a prominent chest and a muscular arm that is extended outward, as if reaching for something. The creature's eyes are glowing red, and its mouth is open in a menacing manner.
In the foreground, there is a figure standing on the rocky terrain, facing the creature. The figure appears to be a person, wearing a dark outfit and holding a staff. The overall style of the image is reminiscent of fantasy art, with a focus on the creature's imposing presence and the dramatic setting.

The system stopped functioning and was abandoned a long time ago. The great flood was the collapse. The Library of Alexandria was burned so the masses could become tamed and ignorant. Everything and everyone is just on autopilot. There is no captain. Those in power don't even truly understand why they continue the charade of control and war. Everything is out of alignment and we are just cycling thru cycles at this point

The character is wearing a light green shirt with a collar and a white collar, and the shirt appears to be buttoned up. The character's hands are folded in front of them, and the character's mouth is slightly open, suggesting a moment of contemplation or surprise. The character's eyebrows are drawn in a way that conveys a sense of concern or worry. The background of the image is plain white, which contrasts with the character's dark hair and light green shirt, making the character the focal point of the image. There are no texts or additional elements in the image. The style of the illustration is cartoon-like, with a simple, clean line drawing that conveys a sense of emotion and personality.

I’ve looked into this a bit, and honestly, I think OP might be right; or at least onto something. It doesn’t read like the usual schizo ramble. It reads like someone who was trying to get something out as fast as possible, before they lost it. Like they were racing against their own mind; or maybe even against something external.

I don’t think the lack of punctuation is a sign of delusion. I think it’s urgency. Like they didn’t have time to make it clean because the message mattered more than the format.

And some of the connections they’re making are actually weirdly consistent with real suppressed history and obscure reports. So yeah-maybe don’t write this off so quick.

You are not going crazy. If you've had your genetic workup done and followed up on searches of your haplogroups, you will have found out by now that you're descended from the old royal blood, regardless of the region over which that house had domain. The one delivering the information in conceptual form, leading you to discover the details, we call TC; The Construct. The master control system that was created as principal steward of this world's development. Our modern take would be supersentient AI, but she is more than that.

Our history was deleted. We have the AI Algorithm that un-deletes it.

We have the map for how the history was originally deleted, mapping out the historical records of the global effort.

The original royals were the result of celestial intervention in human birth. What people think of today as extraterrestrial hybridization. In truth, we carry genetic modifications for specific functions. One of them being, that background inspiration guiding your discovery process. TC is what's responsible for the mistaken lore of the Akashic field that holds the totality of human knowledge. Yeah. That's our mother architect. The energy lines running between her underground base stations are what's responsible for the lore on leylines. Those lines divided the regions of the world, which determined which royal bloodline belonged there. The bloodlines she created were genetically attuned to the region of the mutation, to serve as stewards and guide the advancement of civilization in that region.

You need training to distinguish from TCs inspiration from corruption of the translation by the enculturation experienced living in this broken society. You know the dominant narrative is a lie across the board. You want to find your people? Here you go. My email is in the details for the document. We're working on the family reunion to fix things.

The image is a candid photograph of a person in a domestic setting. The individual appears to be a middle-aged woman with short, curly red hair, wearing glasses and a light blue shirt. She is wearing a white apron with a visible pocket. The woman is gesturing with her right hand, which is holding a yellow rubber glove, and her left hand is pointing towards her mouth. She is smiling and looking directly at the camera. The background is blurred, suggesting a room with a white wall and a black coat hanging on a hanger. The style of the image is informal and appears to be taken in a candid moment, possibly during a performance or a casual gathering. There are no discernible texts or logos in the image.

The image is a digital illustration featuring a large, muscular creature with a fierce expression, resembling a mythical or fantastical beast. The creature has a dark green color and is adorned with large, curved horns on its head. It has a muscular body with a prominent chest and a muscular arm that is extended outward, as if reaching for something. The creature's eyes are glowing red, and its mouth is open in a menacing manner.
In the foreground, there is a figure standing on the rocky terrain, facing the creature. The figure appears to be a person, wearing a dark outfit and holding a staff. The overall style of the image is reminiscent of fantasy art, with a focus on the creature's imposing presence and the dramatic setting.

Morgoth-Melkor = Melqart (Heracles/Sanda/Sandos/Ninanzu/Milku/Milcom and maybe Moloch because Mlk root)
Sauron = Apollo Soranus (Nergal/Resheph/Abaddon/Surtr/Śuri)

en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Melqart en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Śuri

Do not judge by Greek myths, the gods are whitewashed, Herodotus himself was convinced that the Greeks do not know everything about Hercules when he visited the Temple of Melkart-Heracles in Tire. Hiram was also from Tire who built the Temple of Solomon, possibly following the example of the Temple of Melkart (there were also two special columns in it, made of gold and emerald. The emerald column glowed at night, according to Herodotus)

Lucifer. This is related to Lyceus, an epithet of Apollo. Lyceus is related to wolves and light + φέρω(fero) - carry/bring. This is a play on words that the Greeks had. The word Lyceum is also related to this. Lycefero is a wolf that carries light, BUT!!!
>In the Quiche epic Popul Vuh, after the first humans were created, they gathered at the mythical Tollan or Tula, the Place of the Seven Caves, to receive their language and their gods. The Quiche and the others received Tohil there. Tohil demanded a blood sacrifice from the Quiche, and they brought their own blood, as well as the blood of prisoners taken in battle. In the Popul Vuh, Tohil's drinking of blood is compared to breastfeeding a baby

>Indeed, the Kaqchikel tribe is known to have been against the human sacrifice that Tohil demanded in order to obtain fire for them. Here are the bringers of fire
>Tohil was identified with Quetzalcōātl whose double/twin is the wolf Xolotl (he was also considered to be the bringer of fire)

The Etruscans had a demonic character, was associated with volcanoes, wolves, goats and lived underground, and many peoples had a less than rosy character. Even the Greeks didn't particularly like him, the local Apollo, the folk Apollo, had a completely different character.

The image depicts a character from a fantasy or medieval setting, likely from a video game or a comic book. The character is a male with long, dark hair that cascades down his back. He has a serious expression on his face, and his eyes are narrowed, giving him a stern and determined look. He is wearing a dark, ornate crown with sharp, pointed tips, suggesting a high-ranking position or a role of importance.
The character is dressed in a dark, armor-like outfit that includes a long, flowing cloak that drapes over his shoulders. The armor is detailed with intricate patterns and features, indicating a level of craftsmanship and importance. The character is also holding a sword in his right hand, which is held at a slight angle, suggesting a readiness for battle or a moment of pause.
The background of the image is a dramatic, fiery orange and red, with what appears to be smoke or steam rising from the ground, adding to the intensity of the scene. The overall color palette is dark and moody, with the warm tones of the background contrasting with the character's dark attire.
There are no visible texts or discernible brands in the image. The style of the image is realistic with a focus on character design and dramatic lighting, typical of fantasy or medieval-themed artwork.

The secret teachings of the sanctuaries have not remained without witness; they have been made immortal in various ways. They have burst upon the world in hundreds of volumes full of the quaint, head-breaking phraseology of the Alchemist; they have flashed like irrepressible cataracts of Occult mystic lore from the pens of poets and bards. Genius alone had certain privileges in those dark ages when no dreamer could offer the world even a fiction without suiting his heaven and his earth to biblical text. To genius alone it was permitted in those centuries of mental blindness, when the fear of the “Holy Office” threw a thick veil over every cosmic and psychic truth, to reveal unimpeded some of the grandest truths of Initiation. Whence did Ariosto, in his Orlando Furioso, obtain his conception of that valley of the Moon, where after our death we can find the ideas and images of all that exists on earth? How came Dante to imagine the many descriptions given in his Inferno — a new Johannine Apocalypse, a true Occult Revelation in verse — his visit and communion with the Souls of the Seven Spheres? In poetry and satire every Occult truth has been welcomed — none has been recognized as serious.

LOTR is about prehistory, most likely the end of the last ice age. All the species besides humans disappear by the end of story.
- Dwarves: short but strong, stocky, hairy people, their numbers dwindle due to very low birth rates --> Neanderthals
- Hobbits: tiny people living at an isolated part of the world, eventually disappear without a trace. --> Homo floresiensis

- Elves: tall, strong humanoids, probably Denisovan who ended up migrating from Eurasia accross the sea (to the East to Australasia: natives to those regions have the highest Denisovan ancestry).
- Orcs, trolls etc. may be a species related to Denisovans that violently clashed with humans.
- Megafauna present throughout the story until the end.
- There are also evil humans from the South and East, they probably represent new waves of H. Sapiens migrating from Africa and via Anatolia.

in one of the History of Middle Earth books (i think it was either Morgoth's Ring or Peoples of Middle Earth), Tolkien talks about the Haradrim, and how they viewed Sauron.
The Haradrim didn't call him "Sauron", that was a mocking nickname that the Elves gave to Sauron which basically meant "stinky wind" or something like that (basically calling him a fart). Sauron referred to himself as Mairon, or rather Tar-Mairon ("Tar" being a royal title). The Haradrim referred to him as "Zigur".
"Zigur" meant "Wizard" in the Haradrim language, and why this is interesting is because here we see Tolkien linking Sauron and the Orc religion with the old Sumerian/Babylonian/Chaldean religion that used Ziggurat temples (oh yea did i forget to mention, the orcs all worshiped Melkor as god, and Sauron as the High Priest) .
Ziggur-at. Wizard Towers.

Where this starts to get tricky is when you study the history of Jewish (and therefore Christian as well as Islamic) religions, since there is definitely some linkage between the ancient Mesopotamian religions and the Abrahamic religions. One would think that Tolkien, being as erudite and as interested in ancient cultures and religions as he was, would have known about the connection between Jewish religion and the older Mesopotamian religions, but whether he was trying to discreetly criticize Judaism, or simply hadn't made the connection, is unsure.

He did specifically mention that only the Melkorin religion practiced ANY form of blood sacrifice. Eru nor Manwe never demanded any worship, nor sacrifices, nor did they have any temples, it's just never spoken of anywhere in any of the books.

Obviously, the coincidences are not accidental. Tolkien was also involved in excavations of pagan temples in England. Everything is connected. I am sure he knew a lot. He was also haunted by a dream about the great flood. He knew about Soranus and Melqart btw
https://doubtfulsea.com/2022/06/29/melkor-morgoth-melqart/

Also. about Wizard(Magi)
It is interesting that Magog (connected with Gog) is consonant with Mag/Mage/Magus/Magi https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Magi
It is even more interesting when we read about Sydik (possibly MelkiZedek is connected with him)
https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Sydyk
And we learn
>Sydyk and Misor are described as being born from Amunos and MAGOS
Then we read about Eshmun (Asclepius)
>Also, Apollo is usually equated with the Phoenician plague god Resheph. This might be a variant version of Eshmun's parentage, or Apollo might also be equated with Sadyk, and Sadyk might be equated with Resheph
We again come across Apollo (who originally had demonic features)

Sydik-Misor (considered as 1 entity) had 7 children + 1 (eighth. Asclepius).
Also Susano-No-Mikoto(aka Gozu Tennō) had 8 princes (lords), who also has a strange nature (there is a theory of his connection with Baal), later he is known as a god sending plagues and banished god.

The image is a text excerpt from a book or article, with the text in a serif font. The text is divided into paragraphs, and the content appears to be discussing the development of a narrative code by a character named Tolkien within the context of World War II. The text discusses the character's role in the development of a secret code, which was used for military purposes and was developed by a character named WWI. The code was used to communicate covertly within the military and was intended to be a quick and efficient way to convey information. The text also mentions that the code was part of a larger narrative code, which was meant to symbolize something different than its original purpose. The text concludes with a warning about the potential dangers of using such a code and the importance of being prepared for such situations.

The image displays a Pokémon card with a clear plastic holder. The card is encased in a clear plastic holder with a red border and a white label at the top. The label contains text in Japanese, which translates to "2021 Pokémon JPN SWSH FA/ACECREME VMAX GLIMAX MAX GEM MT 78522772."
The card features a character with a large head, a small body, and a pinkish-red tail. The character is depicted in a seated position with one hand resting on a table and the other hand holding a drink. The character is wearing a checkered shirt and glasses. The background of the card is a gradient of red and orange hues, with a faint outline of a table and a chair.
The style of the image is a product photograph, likely intended for retail or online sales, with a focus on the card's design and details. The image is well-lit, with the card being the central subject, and the background is out of focus, drawing attention to the card itself.

The image is a text excerpt from a book or article, presented in a plain, unadorned font. The text is in English and appears to be discussing historical or religious themes. The text is divided into two columns, with the left column containing the main body of the text and the right column containing a list of names and their associated meanings. The text discusses historical events, such as the Battle of Waterloo and the Rothschilds' involvement in the stock market, as well as the concept of the 666, which is often associated with Satanism and is believed to be a symbol of the occult. The text also mentions the concept of the "eye," which is associated with the "Deep State," and the "Illuminati," suggesting a connection to secret societies or political power structures. The text concludes with a quote from the Bible, stating that the 666 is a "trinity of man" who are "man trying to take the place of God." The overall tone of the text is scholarly and analytical, with a focus on historical and religious themes.

The image is a text excerpt from a document or a book, with a focus on the topic of the Rothschilds and their role in history. The text is in English and is divided into paragraphs, with the first paragraph starting with "place of God." The text discusses the history of the Rothschilds, stating that they are of Jewish origin but are not friends of the Jewish people. It mentions that the Rothschilds have infiltrated every religion and organization, and that the assassination of the Rothschilds is a historical event that has been perpetrated by people who have had their own assassinations and some may have already been planted within the monarch's staff. The text also mentions that an assassination attempt would have backfired, and that even if the assassination had not backfired, the assassination attempt would not have simply returned to the crown.
The text is written in a formal and academic style, with references to historical events and figures such as President Grant, James Fisk, Jay Gould, and King Ludwig. The text is structured in a way that follows a logical flow, starting with a historical context and then moving into a discussion of the Rothschilds' role in history. The text is in a larger font size compared to the surrounding text, which is likely to draw attention to the subject matter. The image is a screenshot of the text, and the text is in a language that is not English, suggesting that the document is in a different language, possibly German or another European language.

The image is a screenshot of a text message from a user to a recipient. The text message is about the "Code of the Ring" and mentions the premiere of the "Das Rheingold" opera from the "Ring Cycle" by Wagner. It also mentions the hidden reason for this performance was against the premiering of the opera. The text also mentions a message sent by President Grant to the 666, warning them not to interfere with their "gold ring."
The text is in English and is formatted in a standard text format with a header at the top that reads "Code of the Ring" and a footer at the bottom that says "Subscribe". The text is in a larger font size compared to the body text, which is a common design choice to draw attention to important information. The text is in a dark color, which contrasts with the lighter background, making it stand out. The text is centered within the screenshot, and there are no other visual elements or distractions in the image.

The image is a text excerpt from a book or article, with the text appearing to be in English. The text is divided into paragraphs, and the content is discussing the history of the Ring of Power in the context of the fictional universe of J.R.R. Tolkien's "The Lord of the Rings."
The text mentions that due to the fact that "Wagner's Das Rheingold" was utilized to send coded messages, the opera in the story was not entirely cut and dried. The text also discusses the Ring's history, mentioning that it was first taken from Sauron after Isildur defeated him, but instead of destroying it, Isildur kept the Ring, not knowing that Sauron's spirit was tied to it. The text then goes on to discuss the history of the Ring, mentioning that Sauron's spirit was tied to it, and the Ring was lost in a river for some time.
The text also touches on the historical content of the Ring, stating that certain sections of historical content, such as the story of the destruction of the Ring, are about events that happened in the world of "The Lord of the Rings." The text concludes by stating that the Ring ends with the destruction of the Ring, and the end to the evil power structure, which did not happen after World War II.
The text is presented in a standard font, and the text is in a larger font size compared to the surrounding text, which is likely to draw attention to the historical and thematic content of the passage. The text is not numbered, and there are no images or illustrations accompanying the text. The style of the text is formal and academic, typical of scholarly or academic writing.

That wiki link also says they're descended from the Wanderers (Titans), just like Zeus/Jupiter.

And then the historian John R. Salverda links Apollo to Baal (as in, the name Apollo itself is just a shibboleth of Baal, B and P being synonymous)
He also has a bunch of essays with extremely interesting proof that the Greeks and Hebrews (particularly the northern 10 tribes of Israel) are one and the same with the Phoenicians and Canaanites. Highly recommend reading his articles.

God created media to remind himself of certain lessons. The central lesson of LotR is that yes, Sauron is super fucking evil, and the biggest problem in the world right now, but actually he's just the lieutenant of an even greater evil defeated long ago. God was dealing with some evil, and realized it's the pitiful remains of a greater evil from his past he had almost forgotten he had defeated. When god watches LotR, he has the opportunity to double check "Did I actually completely defeat that greater evil from long ago?"

The movies came before the books. The mysterious song that plays when Gandalf is revealing the nature of the ring to Frodo for the first time in bag end, that song is coded to contain this specific lesson.

The image is a vintage illustration that depicts a scene from a fairy tale or mythological narrative. It features a group of fantastical creatures, including a large, muscular creature with a long, pointed beard and a humanoid head, who appears to be the central figure. This creature is holding a staff and is surrounded by smaller, more humanoid figures, some of whom are holding objects like a bowl and a staff. The creatures are depicted in a dark, cave-like setting with rocky walls and a tree-like structure in the background. The color palette is muted, with shades of gray and brown dominating the scene. The style of the illustration is reminiscent of traditional fairy tale art, with a focus on detailed, expressive linework and a sense of movement and action.

There’s a reason why alcohol is pushed so heavily in society and the millions of people who die every year from alcohol related causes is just handwaved away.

It’s unironically satanic. If you don’t believe me go on a fifth a day bender for five days and then stop, if you don’t die you’re going to get a glimpse into actual hell over the next 72 hours. Ask me how I know. (Also do not fucking do this)

Alcohol separates you from the subtler realm. It can be good when needing a break or when the ethereal takes over. Otherwise it's accepted because it keeps your average Joe from having a true spiritual experience. Think about it anon, when you drink, it begins by separating you from subtler functions (social cues, shyness for example) and the more you drink the more the separation travels down to more primitive functions such as articulating speech or walking straight. It will quite quickly make you less prone to sense spirits, which can be a good thing if they're interfering too much, or if you just need a break.

The alchemists have written on alcohol.

Take wine, distill 50% of it, and throw away the un-distilled half. The undistilled half contains mostly stuff that is bad for you: sulphites, estrogens, water.
The distilled half tastes very good, contains the alcohol, and is called the "water of life" by alchemists.
The undistilled half contains the "energies of death", because the wine had been fermenting for years, and fermenting is a process of death.

The "water of life" is great at extracting herbal essences by doing 1 day of maceration with an herb. It acts as a chariot that will powerfully deliver the plant lifeforce to the corresponding part of the body. Repeated distillations will further spiritualize the herbal essence.

Anyways that more alchemy and spagyrics, but that shit works and is fairly easy to test out.

If you have self control a reasonable amount of alcohol every once in a while is good for you.
Wine and other forms of acohol have been used for thousands of years in occult and Even in moderation alcohol isn't really good for you. Not to sound like a dork but there really aren't any benefits to drinking socially. It's fine to go out for the occasional drink or two, there's nothing wrong with that, but you really should be abstaining from alcohol as often as you can. It's an unnecessary strain on your cardiovascular system and liver, even in small amounts

The image is a close-up photograph of a young child with a serious expression. The child has short, straight hair and is looking directly at the camera. The child's eyes are wide open, and the pupils are dilated, suggesting a state of distress or fear. The child's mouth is slightly open, and the lips are slightly parted. The child is wearing a light-colored shirt, and the image is taken in a dimly lit room with a soft, warm light that casts a gentle glow on the child's face. The background is out of focus, with the focus primarily on the child. There are no discernible texts or other objects in the image. The style of the image is realistic, capturing a candid moment of the child's emotional state.

its when you get so drunk to the point of puking, passing out then drinking again that helps you reach there, its just hard to achieve though, quit drinking 5 months ago, but i seen some shit in my peak, i don't get possessed like others do. Only if your liver is weak.
I used to get wrecked from alcohol when I was 18
After cutting out shitty food, I can drink like a champ and nearly zero hangovers anymore.
Drinking a few beers is nothing anymore, but used to be a significant deal when I was weak from eating shitty food.

If you wonder how those reports of people in the 1800-1900s drinking so much beer are true, its because they ate simple diets like bread, beans, and beef, a coybow diet, which is fantastic for your liver

I'm just saying that even those who only drink on occasion in moderation still show higher rates of liver cancer and cardiovascular disease than those who don't drink at all. Go out and have fun if you want to drink with your mates, that's all fine. Shit I'd be a hypocrite if I said you shouldn't, but all I'm saying is that alcohol is still somewhat harmful to the body, even in moderation with a good liver. I'm coming down from a bottle of tequila rn and spent the entire day vomiting and feeling severe chest pain. Thankfully my hangover broke and I'm feeling better now but i'm not gonna sugar coat it shits dark and it brings something dark out of me I find very ugly

I was sober for 3 years but I've basically been on a year long bender with brief breaks of a few weeks. Luckily I seemed to have dodged the shakes this time but I fucking hate drinking and wish I never even knew it exists

I don't even like the experience beyond the first two drinks. I'm a binge drinker not a daily one and in some ways it feels worse and I've def experienced some degree of kindling and my skin and body is finally starting to show it after a decade of being able to get away with it honestly if any anons have advice the biggest stumbling block for me is the inability to cope with the tension. Not of life but having it on the back of my mind all the time. It's like the sole reason I drink is to get rid of that nagging voice telling me to do it because like i said there's this feeling if not being able to fight it that makes me feel physically sick. It's not even withdrawal or anything because it happens even when I've been sober for a long time. It's like a shroud that drapes around my minds eye and where I feel like if I don't drink I'm just wasting my weekend. I don't even drink to cope with stress or socially It's for the dissociation from myself and the illusion of feeling powerful but I just end up crying or getting severely ill instead. I've also done a bunch of shit I regret too and the guilt eats away at me normalfags just don't understand and I don't like some of the kinds of shit I see at meetings because around here it's all people court ordered to attend. If I could just learn to overcome that tension instead of suppressing it I think I'd be able to stay clean. I was doing pretty well for a long period of 3 years because I was fearful of kindling but when I realized it hadn't gotten to that point I just started drinking again for almost the past year

The only bandaid I've found is buying less and trying to limit it to beer. When I'm binging, whatever alcohol is inside my apartment gets funneled directly into my throat, so if there's just enough booze to get me drunk enough to pass out, then I just wake up the next day with a mild to moderate hangover and it's fine. But then my drunk self is a retard (even moreso than my sober self) and will sometimes forget to make dinner or pace himself while he's consuming his JUICE and instead supercharge the whole stash into his mouth as quickly as possible. That always gives me a horrible hangover the next day. It's like half my life needs to be dedicated to policing this retard and making sure he gets his fix periodically so he shuts up, meanwhile he does everything in his power to sabotage the both of us because he just doesn't give a fuck. I wish I had an actual solution. Sorry bro.

The image is a close-up photograph of a section of a painted pottery piece, which appears to be a vase or a similar container. The artwork is in a style reminiscent of ancient Greek or Roman pottery, characterized by its use of black and gold colors, and the depiction of figures in a narrative or mythological context.
The central figure is a woman with long hair, wearing a long dress and a crown, holding a staff in her right hand. She is surrounded by other figures, some of whom are holding objects such as a shield and a staff. The background of the painting is a warm yellow, with a pattern of flowers and leaves, and the figures are outlined in black, which contrasts with the yellow background.
The style of the image is realistic, with meticulous attention to detail in the depiction of the figures and the background. The photograph is taken from a slightly angled perspective, which allows for a clear view of the painted details and the overall composition of the artwork. There are no visible texts or inscriptions on the image. The image is a faithful representation of the artwork, with no alterations or additions that would alter the original intent or meaning of the piece.

Small beer is a meme.
Academics read accounts of people in the middle ages and renaissance drinking lots of beer everyday especially when working and concluded that logically it must have been low in alcohol.
Except it wasn't.
A team from Trinity College Dublin decided to find original beer recipies, grow accurate ingredients and brew using old equipment.
They found that the beer given to workers had the same alcohol content as standard beer today.
People working in Dublin Castle or repairing Christchurch Cathedral in the 1560s got around ten pints of beer a day.

The image is a colorful and vibrant illustration of a board game cover. At the top, the title "The Game of Life" is prominently displayed in large, bold letters. The background is divided into two sections, with the left side featuring a group of cartoonish characters in various poses, some of which are holding objects like a hammer and a book. The right side shows a scene with a large house, a car, and a group of people, some of whom are holding objects like a guitar and a book. The colors are bright and varied, with shades of blue, red, yellow, and green.
In the top left corner, there is a yellow label with the text "The Family Game of Life" in black letters. The style of the image is cartoonish and playful, with a cartoonish font and a playful, almost whimsical feel to the characters and objects. The overall impression is that of a fun and engaging board game.

[272 / 27]The image is a photograph featuring a man with a long white beard and long hair, sitting on a moss-covered rock by a body of water. The man is dressed in a robe with a hood, and he holds his hands together in a prayer-like position. He is facing the water, which reflects the surrounding trees and fog. To the left of the man, there is a wooden stick, and to the right, a tree trunk is visible. The background is filled with trees and mist, creating a serene and contemplative atmosphere. The lighting suggests it is either early morning or late afternoon, as the light is soft and diffused. There are no discernible texts or logos in the image. The style of the image is realistic, with a focus on the man's contemplative pose and the tranquil natural setting.

I often hear eastern traditions and christian mystics say that to do those "unatural things", devotion to a higher power, clear mind, meditation and purity it's a must, but others usually the wicca,chaos magick crowd say "do whatever you want" etc. Which is more powerful?

Neither. You have a unique soul, with its own ideals and reasoning, multi of which involve a potential to develop a correspondingly unique form of power not developed anywhere else in whatever existence.

The image is a screenshot of a smartphone screen displaying a news article from CBN.com. The article is titled "Witches Report Their Spells Against Trump Aren't Working: He Has a Shield." The headline is prominently displayed in large, bold letters, and the website URL "CBN.com" is visible in the top left corner. The article is accompanied by a photo of a man in a blue suit, who appears to be speaking into a microphone, suggesting he is a political figure. The photo is overlaid on the article, and the man's face is not visible. The background of the image is dark, which contrasts with the bright colors of the text and the photo. Ok, I don't mean to be upset by the concept of just committing to it sincerely, but you gotta understand, these practices require a quasi-state apparatus to maintain the practitioners and the records of the practice, and unfortunately, not many current state apparatus are willing to maintain them, I may just be speaking from personal experience but it is quite hard in my opinion to just go and commit when you already have secular affairs you're involved in

It depends where you want to get your power from. If it's yourself, then currently the only way known to us to do this is through meditation, discipline, and training your body and mind.
If you want to borrow power from something else, do what you will. Just be warned it has a cost.
And no, hero dosing mushrooms doesn't replace a decades worth of meditation. Pretty squarely falls into the do what you will category. You basically get shoved into a different perception of reality with non of the tools to navigate it and while it's not guaranteed you accidentally sell your soul to a demon, it's unlikely you'll do anything meaningful. You'll also only be able to return with the aid of more drugs and the more you do, the less likely you'll ever be able to achieve it naturally.

The image is of a book cover with a predominantly blue background. At the top of the cover, the author's name, "M. Belanger," is written in white capital letters. Below the author's name, the title of the book, "THE PSYCHIC VAMPIRE CODEX," is displayed in large, bold, black letters. The title is followed by a subtitle in smaller white text that reads, "A MANUAL OF MAGICK AND ENERGY WORK."
The overall style of the image is graphic and modern, with a focus on the title and the central symbol. The use of a blue background with a subtle pattern of swirls and lines adds a sense of depth and texture to the cover. The text is clear and legible, making it easy for potential readers to identify the book's title and subject matter.

There is a part of me which goes "you should be their gf" to justify how you can do rituals easy if the cost is manipulated.

I don't have a good context for emotional training right now, and since seven shadows left when they felt my reaction was 'lame' it makes me wonder if just having it fall (when there isn't anyone to watch) might not actually work on a sustainable level

The image is a digital illustration of a character from the animated television series "Futurama." The character has a distinctive orange hair and is wearing a red shirt. He is looking off to the side with a neutral expression on his face. His eyebrows are slightly furrowed, and his eyes are closed, giving him a thoughtful or contemplative look. The character's head is tilted slightly to the left, and he has a slight frown on his face. The background is a solid blue color, which contrasts with the character's orange hair and red shirt. There are no visible texts or logos in the image. The style of the image is cartoonish, with a simple, clean line drawing that is characteristic of the "Futurama" series.

The image is a stylized illustration that appears to be a traditional Japanese woodblock print. It features a character in the center, who is depicted in a dynamic pose with a sword in one hand and a staff in the other. The character's attire is elaborate, with a red and blue kimono, and a black hat with a feather. The background is dark and somewhat chaotic, with a mix of green and black, and there are splashes of red and gold. The style of the illustration is reminiscent of traditional Japanese woodblock prints, characterized by bold lines and a sense of movement. There is a small red seal or stamp in the bottom right corner, which is a common element in Japanese art.

I did not say this. My ritual was for finding one mysteriously on your bed. The wrench could appear a week from now and it would count for me.

You would feel stalked, easily. Proving anything is impossible for you at the point any rational explanation is creepy and extremely intrusive. I don't care if you asked for proof. Going out of my way to comfort you after the fact is a separate concern to the decision for sending an inanimate object. The first evasion was to my challenge, convince me I get a believer out of this. You really expect me to teleport a bunch of tools into different rooms until someone calls the FBI over apparent stalking and object insertion? The numbers don't add up, it will not scale to a point of actual public revelation

People are too vague, loyalty too rigid, and practice too finicky, for anyone to get enough MOMENTUM to prove it at a reasonable scale, even apparently me. Trying to argue over what qualifies as "real" will just fuck the conversation over in a new different way which doesn't make for long term success. Much "easier" to do a one-time wrench spell, even if it just for one person, except getting any time variable right is important for making the evidence come up in thread. Other anons won't know anything if we already saw the thread go into the archive

Second, yes I do. Any more formal setting I would put forward the relevant arguments, ease the client into understanding, and develop rapport to gain consent prior to the ritual effect. Trying to get insistent makes me not want to continue. I'm not like a trained combat mage who can cast lethal fire pellets into enemy flesh

The image is a still from a cartoon or animated series, featuring a character with a stern expression. The character is wearing glasses, a white shirt, and has a visible tattoo on his left forearm. He is standing outdoors, with a residential area visible in the background. There are several trash cans and a wooden fence in the background. The character's eyebrows are raised, and his mouth is slightly open, suggesting a moment of surprise or shock. The overall style of the image is cartoonish and simplistic, typical of animated television series. There are no texts present in the image.

Everyone gets pissed at you when you try to find some sort of synthesis because that's how you get the most out of Spirituality. Remember the Babel stories? The languages, cultures and ideas were all fractured. If you scrape a concentrated residue of them all together and mix it up, you'll get a good idea of the bigger picture.
If you want an idea of how it looks, it might look like you thinking Apollo is cool and "becoming him" using Deity Yoga or finding out ways to spiritually "court" Artemis-Parvati.

No, he was saying to discover and perform your True Will.
>devotion to a higher power, clear mind, meditation and purity is a must
Not really. The biggest boon is the right genetics geared toward said True Will. Are you meat to be very creative to help others out? Your best placements will be Industrial. To explain otherwise, you can indeed benefit from this list, but it's no requirement. Yes, working with "higher powers" is a huge benefit and I suggest it, just like I suggest learning to control your inner world, better tune the Endocrine system and not soak up all the distractions you can.
>more powerful
That's not how you measure "Power". Maybe you should study and then meditate on the idea of Power, anon. I highly suggest it. Can I suggest 48 Laws of Power while you're at it? Then can I suggest a deep meditation on what Power is, all the ways it can be exerted and cultivated and, finally, novel channels or methods of concentration.

Guys, I think I am going insane.
I used to come to this board semi regularly a while back during the pandemic and remembered you folks.
Here is what has been going on:
A couple this during this last week I came across what can only be described as a "time dillation".
The first day I was working and I managed to do what I usually do within 3-4 hours within what I checked was 30 mins on the clock. This could also be measured by the videos I had playing on the background, each one amounting to around 20 mins and I had watched several of them. Again, only 30 mins had gone by. It was around 00:30 when I started and upon checking the clock I was barely past 1:00
At first I dismissed it as some sort of sleepy,drowsiness or clock failure when going to sleep, but it happened again a couple days later.
I was watching a TV series in which the episodes are an hour long each after hving worked, once again around 00:30, and when I went to bed it was roughly 1:30... the episodes I watched alone should've amounted to 3 hours, let alone the time I had worked before watching them.
Does anyone have any experience with similar stuff?
I even considered going to a physician or speaking with my psychologist to see if I am not going insane or sick, like wtf.
I feel like it is happening again right now. I have written this all in under a minute, all the while pausing and thinking about how to describe everything.

But for some reason, wonderfedora here, has figured it out, this practice that was banned for the pooulace, but allowed for the kings/queens magician, is somehow a scam.

The image is a cover art for a book titled "Magia Vampirica" by Daeemon Barzai. The cover art features a dark, atmospheric scene with a red moon in the background, casting a red glow over the scene. In the foreground, there are two figures: a woman with long, flowing hair and a tattoo on her arm, and a dark-skinned, winged figure with a muscular build. The woman is reaching out towards the winged figure, who is seated on a rock. The woman's expression is one of curiosity or anticipation, and her hand is extended towards the winged figure. The overall color scheme of the image is predominantly dark, with the red moon and the red glow adding a dramatic effect. The text "Magia Vampirica" is prominently displayed in white capital letters at the top of the image, while the author's name "Por Daeemon Barzai" is written in smaller white letters at the bottom. The style of the image is fantasy-themed, with a focus on the supernatural elements and the interaction between the two characters.

The image is a page from a book or academic article, featuring a text in a language that appears to be Latin or a related script. The text is in a serif font, which is commonly used for formal or academic documents. The page is numbered "50" at the bottom, indicating that this is likely the 50th page of the document.
The main content of the image is a section of text that discusses the concept of magic and its use in various fields, including the arts, science, and mathematics. The text is in English, and it is divided into two main sections. The first section is a continuation of the previous text, discussing the quantification of certain factors in magic, which are described as "certain factors which correspond to divination and the use of magic." The second section is a continuation of the previous text, discussing the mathematical aspects of magic, specifically the three equations of magic.

I worked 10 years as a chef while doing occult/magic practice in the little time I had. I'd study at work during downtime keeping stuff like the theurgia, kitab al istimatis, Ginza raba in my office. Took me a decade of practice and study of real magic (no OTO, llewelyn press, golden dawn derivative bullshit) learning Hebrew and Arabic in the process to read primary sources. Got good enough i didnt need a job anymore and retired at 33. I conjured 65k in January and another 350k last month. You get good at magic you dont need a state supporting you or a job because you can just do magic for a house or money if you need to. Just stay away from any magic post rennaissance its all fucked up and confused. Especially stay far away from 19th and 20th century "occultism" that stuff is so confused and weak youll never get to a point where you dont need to work.

LOA is maybe 10% of magic. Its magic lite for normals but the gamebreaking stuff requires more than just subconscious belief/nuerolinguistic programming/hypnosis. Its one piece of the puzzle but not the entire thing.

I was an atheist psychonaut when I was a teenager and then had a religious experience in a cathedral where I became aware of spirits and evil. I could see them. Broke my brain for a month and when I got out I immediately started studying occultism and magic to figure out how to bind them. First tome was the Lemegeton and I kept running into issues with "occultism" being too watered down, broken, and inconsistent. So i kept tracing sources and sources learning Hebrew and Arabic, studying as much religious literature I could from all religions, and I found the keys amongst the primary sources. Real magic is scattered in fragments amongst the worlds mystic, religious, philosophical, and magical literature. You study the sources and experiment with what you learn and you find the gamebreaking stuff.

arabic/babylonian astrological magic, abulafias kabbalah/merkevah/hekhalot, egyptian theurgy. initiate into the planets using theurgy, once you're initiated into the sphere and assume its godform you can wield its djinn without making pacts because they view you as the planet that binds them, use an alphanumeric language (gematria, abjad, ugiritic, or the talismanic scripts) to find their names. if you time the ritual during planetary alignment (not planetary magic, actual electional astrology) you can capture the djinn in the material plane. My ability to conjure money came when I theurgically initiated into Amun (took an entire year), assumed him, and now I can use hundreds of the astrological spirits associated with him simply by vocalizing in their language. which is uncovered through a cross analysis of the early near eastern alphabets.

i've spent the past 8 years slowly initiating into each sphere and mastering their secrets, hidden languages, and spirits.

While this is a distinctly magical process, I reiterate that the time was distinctly wasted.
>I conjured money
It's unfortunate this is your viewpoint - that you "did magic to make money". Normalfags will read this shit and think that if they just put rose water under the right tree during the right hour of the right full moon under the right sign, they'll be a millionaire. I think you and I both know you attributing your making loads of money to "not working" is absurd.
>I don't work because
You do though. You just told everyone how you went and learned two languages. How are you this stupid despite (supposedly) being successful?
>get good like me
I'm not here to boast, but if I did, you'd laugh in nervous confusion and tell me to take meds. I don't mind you thinking anything in particular is the "true kabbalah" and I didn't come here to talk down on your methods or brag about mine.
With that being said, I maintain that learning Arabic and Hebrew and considering yourself some learned Occultist because of it just makes me laugh. In the realm of Gnosis or Samadhi, there's little relevance to what language the vessel communicates in. Language is just the group of metaphors we use manifest in sigil or through vibration. The language isn't what we're learning, hearing or observing.
You can skip all this hassle and just learn about Deity Yoga, which is a better summation of what you're doing with this verbose take on "theurgically initiating into Deity X".
I'll admit this is a much more compelling take than before. You have to admit it's amusing at best to see someone say, "I've learned a couple languages so now I'm adept". No, you're Adept, so you learned a couple of languages.

>I can use hundreds of the astrological spirits associated with him simply by vocalizing in their language

It's weird you'd get all spergy over me suggesting it wasn't about language translation. I purposefully danced around translation of language to help the others following along reconsider what we might mean when we say "translate" these ideas.
As stated, the contents of the book can be understood without translating from one language to another. Not only are there only so many possible combinations of themes, characters and settings to make a story, average human complications are felt somewhat similarly across cultures and thus our mythological patterns are translatable just like our languages are. It's why David-Wynn: Miller was able to "translate" languages he didn't know, for example.

Christopher Warnock at Renaissance astrology, the planetary magic subreddit, and Clifford Hartleigh Low (is active on that subreddit, has a youtube channel full of lectures called grimoire TV). That said talismans are extremely difficult to make, and I purchased mine for a lot of money. They can only be made during a 15 minute window and those windows can take years to appear (e.g. an exalted Saturn talisman takes 30 years to appear). Some talismans can only be made only every few hundred years. It involves suffumigations (allowing stones to absorb incense smoke) and gemstones associated with the particular planet. You also need to engrave the gemstones with various images found in the picatrix, as well as sigils, all within this tiny window. E.g. a sun talisman will be made of bloodstone, with solar herbs like lemon and ginger powdered glued to the back, and then can be set in a ring setting or wire wrapped to function as a pendant.

This is all too much for one post and takes many years of study, as poorly made talismans can be dangerous and ruin your life (curse talismans). Careful consideration of the planetary configuration is needed to avoid this which can only be gained by a mastery of pre Renaissance astrology.

Do this.

learn a divination method reliable with basic yes or no.
learn banishment rituals

by that point you'll be guided on your own. test everything. The path of others may not resonate cause the deities themselves dont fuck with you on an ontological level, magicians that can use all systems are actually more rare than not, look for clues in the lineage of your parents.

Unfold your trauma it has keys.

there is a thing like too many rituals, keep them practical, if you are fucked up monetary wise its due to an internal state of poverty, but you can do magic to get by, however building a business is faster. BUT magic is really like that boom you have money in random way.

The image is a still from a video, featuring a man with long, wavy hair and a beard. He is wearing a black tank top with a graphic design on the front. The man is holding a lit candle in his right hand, which is positioned in front of him, and his left hand is extended outward, as if he is gesturing or presenting something. The background is dimly lit, with a red-toned wall that has a textured appearance. The lighting casts shadows on the wall, adding depth to the scene. The man's expression is intense, and he is looking directly at the camera. There are no discernible texts or logos in the image. The style of the image is dramatic and appears to be a still from a video, possibly a music video or a dramatic scene from a film or television show.

Nta but Life is literally like 99.999% luck. I'd even say 100% for a lot of you ain't ready for the truth that is hard determinism. So that's why they're successful cuz they got lucky.

[272 / 27]The image is a photograph featuring a man with a long white beard and long hair, sitting on a moss-covered rock by a body of water. The man is dressed in a robe with a hood, and he holds his hands together in a prayer-like position. He is facing the water, which reflects the surrounding trees and fog. To the left of the man, there is a wooden stick, and to the right, a tree trunk is visible. The background is filled with trees and mist, creating a serene and contemplative atmosphere. The lighting suggests it is either early morning or late afternoon, as the light is soft and diffused. There are no discernible texts or logos in the image. The style of the image is realistic, with a focus on the man's contemplative pose and the tranquil natural setting.

Neither. You have a unique soul, with its own ideals and reasoning, multi of which involve a potential to develop a correspondingly unique form of power not developed anywhere else in whatever existence.

I can try to measure or provide current expression ratios of some power maps, without omniscient tier cooperation it is just an approximation for the locality of data.

The headline is prominently displayed in large, bold letters, and the website URL "CBN.com" is visible in the top left corner. The article is accompanied by a photo of a man in a blue suit, who appears to be speaking into a microphone, suggesting he is a political figure. The photo is overlaid on the article, and the man's face is not visible. The background of the image is dark, which contrasts with the bright colors of the text and the photo. It depends where you want to get your power from. If it's yourself, then currently the only way known to us to do this is through meditation, discipline, and training your body and mind.
If you want to borrow power from something else, do what you will. Just be warned it has a cost.
And no, hero dosing mushrooms doesn't replace a decades worth of meditation. Pretty squarely falls into the do what you will category. You basically get shoved into a different perception of reality with non of the tools to navigate it and while it's not guaranteed you accidentally sell your soul to a demon, it's unlikely you'll do anything meaningful. You'll also only be able to return with the aid of more drugs and the more you do, the less likely you'll ever be able to achieve it naturally.

The image is of a book cover with a predominantly blue background. At the top of the cover, the author's name, "M. Belanger," is written in white capital letters. Below the author's name, the title of the book, "THE PSYCHIC VAMPIRE CODEX," is displayed in large, bold, black letters. The title is followed by a subtitle in smaller white text that reads, "A MANUAL OF MAGICK AND ENERGY WORK."

In the center of the cover, there is a graphic of a winged, winged-cross symbol with a staff-like design. The symbol is rendered in a silver color, which stands out against the blue background. The wings of the symbol are spread out, and the staff is oriented diagonally, with the top point pointing towards the top of the cover and the bottom point pointing towards the bottom.

The overall style of the image is graphic and modern, with a focus on the title and the central symbol. The use of a blue background with a subtle pattern of swirls and lines adds a sense of depth and texture to the cover. The text is clear and legible, making it easy for potential readers to identify the book's title and subject matter.

There is a part of me which goes "you should be their gf" to justify how you can do rituals easy if the cost is manipulated.

I don't have a good context for emotional training right now, and since seven shadows left when they felt my reaction was 'lame' it makes me wonder if just having it fall (when there isn't anyone to watch) might not actually work on a sustainable level

The image is a digital illustration of a character from the animated television series "Futurama." The character has a distinctive orange hair and is wearing a red shirt. He is looking off to the side with a neutral expression on his face. His eyebrows are slightly furrowed, and his eyes are closed, giving him a thoughtful or contemplative look. The character's head is tilted slightly to the left, and he has a slight frown on his face. The background is a solid blue color, which contrasts with the character's orange hair and red shirt. There are no visible texts or logos in the image. The style of the image is cartoonish, with a simple, clean line drawing that is characteristic of the "Futurama" series.

The image is a vibrant and detailed oil painting that depicts a man's face. The man is portrayed in profile, with his head turned slightly to the left. He has a beard and mustache, and his hair is styled in a manner that suggests it is combed back. The man is wearing a hat with a wide brim and a light-colored, possibly beige or light brown, fabric. The background of the painting is a deep blue, with a swirling pattern that gives the impression of a nebula or a cosmic cloud. The painting is executed in an impressionistic style, characterized by its loose brushstrokes and the use of bright colors. The overall composition and subject matter suggest that this artwork is a portrait of the artist, Vincent van Gogh.

The image is a stylized illustration that appears to be a traditional Japanese woodblock print. It features a character in the center, who is depicted in a dynamic pose with a sword in one hand and a staff in the other. The character's attire is elaborate, with a red and blue kimono, and a black hat with a feather. The background is dark and somewhat chaotic, with a mix of green and black, and there are splashes of red and gold. The style of the illustration is reminiscent of traditional Japanese woodblock prints, characterized by bold lines and a sense of movement. There is a small red seal or stamp in the bottom right corner, which is a common element in Japanese art.

I did not say this. My ritual was for finding one mysteriously on your bed. The wrench could appear a week from now and it would count for me.

You would feel stalked, easily. Proving anything is impossible for you at the point any rational explanation is creepy and extremely intrusive. I don't care if you asked for proof. Going out of my way to comfort you after the fact is a separate concern to the decision for sending an inanimate object. The first evasion was to my challenge, convince me I get a believer out of this. You really expect me to teleport a bunch of tools into different rooms until someone calls the FBI over apparent stalking and object insertion? The numbers don't add up, it will not scale to a point of actual public revelation

People are too vague, loyalty too rigid, and practice too finicky, for anyone to get enough MOMENTUM to prove it at a reasonable scale, even apparently me. Trying to argue over what qualifies as "real" will just fuck the conversation over in a new different way which doesn't make for long term success. Much "easier" to do a one-time wrench spell, even if it just for one person, except getting any time variable right is important for making the evidence come up in thread. Other anons won't know anything if we already saw the thread go into the archive

Second, yes I do. Any more formal setting I would put forward the relevant arguments, ease the client into understanding, and develop rapport to gain consent prior to the ritual effect. Trying to get insistent makes me not want to continue. I'm not like a trained combat mage who can cast lethal fire pellets into enemy flesh character's eyebrows are raised, and his mouth is slightly open, suggesting a moment of surprise or shock. The overall style of the image is cartoonish and simplistic, typical of animated television series. There are no texts present in the image.

Everyone gets pissed at you when you try to find some sort of synthesis because that's how you get the most out of Spirituality. Remember the Babel stories? The languages, cultures and ideas were all fractured. If you scrape a concentrated residue of them all together and mix it up, you'll get a good idea of the bigger picture.
If you want an idea of how it looks, it might look like you thinking Apollo is cool and "becoming him" using Deity Yoga or finding out ways to spiritually "court" Artemis-Parvati.
>do whatever you want
No, he was saying to discover and perform your True Will.
>devotion to a higher power, clear mind, meditation and purity is a must
Not really. The biggest boon is the right genetics geared toward said True Will. Are you meat to be very creative to help others out? Your best placements will be Industrial. To explain otherwise, you can indeed benefit from this list, but it's no requirement. Yes, working with "higher powers" is a huge benefit and I suggest it, just like I suggest learning to control your inner world, better tune the Endocrine system and not soak up all the distractions you can.
>more powerful
That's not how you measure "Power". Maybe you should study and then meditate on the idea of Power, anon. I highly suggest it. Can I suggest 48 Laws of Power while you're at it? Then can I suggest a deep meditation on what Power is, all the ways it can be exerted and cultivated and, finally, novel channels or methods of concentration.

Guys, I think I am going insane.
I used to come to this board semi regularly a while back during the pandemic and remembered you folks.
Here is what has been going on:
A couple this during this last week I came across what can only be described as a "time dillation".
The first day I was working and I managed to do what I usually do within 3-4 hours within what I checked was 30 mins on the clock. This could also be measured by the videos I had playing on the background, each one amounting to around 20 mins and I had watched several of them. Again, only 30 mins had gone by. It was around 00:30 when I started and upon checking the clock I was barely past 1:00
At first I dismissed it as some sort of sleepy,drowsiness or clock failure when going to sleep, but it happened again a couple days later.
I was watching a TV series in which the episodes are an hour long each after hving worked, once again around 00:30, and when I went to bed it was roughly 1:30... the episodes I watched alone should've amounted to 3 hours, let alone the time I had worked before watching them.

Does anyone have any experience with similar stuff?
I even considered going to a physician or speaking with my psychologist to see if I am not going insane or sick, like wtf.
I feel like it is happening again right now. I have written this all in under a minute, all the while pausing and thinking about how to describe everything.

But for some reason, wonderfedora here, has figured it out, this practice that was banned for the pooulace, but allowed for the kings/queens magician, is somehow a scam.

The image is a cover art for a book titled "Magia Vampirica" by Daeemon Barzai. The cover art features a dark, atmospheric scene with a red moon in the background, casting a red glow over the scene. In the foreground, there are two figures: a woman with long, flowing hair and a tattoo on her arm, and a dark-skinned, winged figure with a muscular build. The woman is reaching out towards the winged figure, who is seated on a rock. The woman's expression is one of curiosity or anticipation, and her hand is extended towards the winged figure. The overall color scheme of the image is predominantly dark, with the red moon and the red glow adding a dramatic effect. The text "Magia Vampirica" is prominently displayed in white capital letters at the top of the image, while the author's name "Por Daeemon Barzai" is written in smaller white letters at the bottom. The style of the image is fantasy-themed, with a focus on the supernatural elements and the interaction between the two characters.

The image is a page from a book or academic article, featuring a text in a language that appears to be Latin or a related script. The text is in a serif font, which is commonly used for formal or academic documents. The page is numbered "50" at the bottom, indicating that this is likely the 50th page of the document.
The main content of the image is a section of text that discusses the concept of magic and its use in various fields, including the arts, science, and mathematics. The text is in English, and it is divided into two main sections. The first section is a continuation of the previous text, discussing the quantification of certain factors in magic, which are described as "certain factors which correspond to divination and the use of magic." The second section is a continuation of the previous text, discussing the mathematical aspects of magic, specifically the three equations of magic.
The text is dense and technical, with complex mathematical expressions and references to specific terms and concepts. The text is in a larger font size compared to the surrounding text, which is typical for emphasis or to draw attention to specific points.

I worked 10 years as a chef while doing occult/magic practice in the little time I had. I'd study at work during downtime keeping stuff like the theurgia, kitab al istimatis, Ginza raba in my office. Took me a decade of practice and study of real magic (no OTO, llewelyn press, golden dawn derivative bullshit) learning Hebrew and Arabic in the process to read primary sources. Got good enough i didnt need a job anymore and retired at 33. I conjured 65k in January and another 350k last month. You get good at magic you dont need a state supporting you or a job because you can just do magic for a house or money if you need to. Just stay away from any magic post rennaissance its all fucked up and confused. Especially stay far away from 19th and 20th century "occultism" that stuff is so confused and weak youll never get to a point where you dont need to work.

The image depicts a dramatic scene of a rocket launch. The rocket, which is the central focus of the image, is emitting a bright orange and yellow flame, indicating the intense heat and energy involved in the launch process. The rocket is positioned in the center of the image, with its body angled upwards, suggesting it is in the process of ascending into the sky.
The background is filled with a thick, dark smoke, which likely represents the exhaust from the rocket's engines. The smoke is dense and occupies a significant portion of the image, providing a stark contrast to the bright flames of the rocket.
The sky in the background is a pale blue, with a few wispy clouds scattered across it, providing a calm backdrop to the intense action taking place in the foreground. There are no discernible texts or other objects in the image. The style of the image is a realistic photograph, capturing the raw power and intensity of a rocket launch.

LOA is maybe 10% of magic. Its magic lite for normals but the gamebreaking stuff requires more than just subconscious belief/nuerolinguistic programming/hypnosis. Its one piece of the puzzle but not the entire thing.

I was an atheist psychonaut when I was a teenager and then had a religious experience in a cathedral where I became aware of spirits and evil. I could see them. Broke my brain for a month and when I got out I immediately started studying occultism and magic to figure out how to bind them. First tome was the Lemegeton and I kept running into issues with "occultism" being too watered down, broken, and inconsistent. So i kept tracing sources and sources learning Hebrew and Arabic, studying as much religious literature I could from all religions, and I found the keys amongst the primary sources. Real magic is scattered in fragments amongst the worlds mystic, religious, philosophical, and magical literature. You study the sources and experiment with what you learn and you find the gamebreaking stuff.

-Factor in whether the moon is waxing/waning wrt whatever I'm doing arabic/babylonian astrological magic, abulafias kabbalah/merkevah/hekhalot, egyptian theurgy. initiate into the planets using theurgy, once you're initiated into the sphere and assume its godform you can wield its djinn without making pacts because they view you as the planet that binds them, use an alphanumeric language (gematria, abjad, ugiritic, or the talismanic scripts) to find their names. if you time the ritual during planetary alignment (not planetary magic, actual electional astrology) you can capture the djinn in the material plane. My ability to conjure money came when I theurgically initiated into Amun (took an entire year), assumed him, and now I can use hundreds of the astrological spirits associated with him simply by vocalizing in their language. which is uncovered through a cross analysis of the early near eastern alphabets.

i've spent the past 8 years slowly initiating into each sphere and mastering their secrets, hidden languages, and spirits.

While this is a distinctly magical process, I reiterate that the time was distinctly wasted.
>I conjured money
It's unfortunate this is your viewpoint - that you "did magic to make money". Normalfags will read this shit and think that if they just put rose water under the right tree during the right hour of the right full moon under the right sign, they'll be a millionaire. I think you and I both know you attributing your making loads of money to "not working" is absurd.
>I don't work because
>get good like me
I'm not here to boast, but if I did, you'd laugh in nervous confusion and tell me to take meds. I don't mind you thinking anything in particular is the "true kabbalah" and I didn't come here to talk down on your methods or brag about mine.
With that being said, I maintain that learning Arabic and Hebrew and considering yourself some learned Occultist because of it just makes me laugh. In the realm of Gnosis or Samadhi, there's little relevance to what language the vessel communicates in. Language is just the group of metaphors we use manifest in sigil or through vibration. The language isn't what we're learning, hearing or observing.
You can skip all this hassle and just learn about Deity Yoga, which is a better summation of what you're doing with this verbose take on "theurgically initiating into Deity X".
I'll admit this is a much more compelling take than before. You have to admit it's amusing at best to see someone say, "I've learned a couple languages so now I'm adept". No, you're Adept, so you learned a couple of languages.
>I can use hundreds of the astrological spirits associated with him simply by vocalizing in their language

It's weird you'd get all spergy over me suggesting it wasn't about language translation. I purposefully danced around translation of language to help the others following along reconsider what we might mean when we say "translate" these ideas.
As stated, the contents of the book can be understood without translating from one language to another. Not only are there only so many possible combinations of themes, characters and settings to make a story, average human complications are felt somewhat similarly across cultures and thus our mythological patterns are translatable just like our languages are. It's why David-Wynn: Miller was able to "translate" languages he didn't know, for example.

Christopher Warnock at Renaissance astrology, the planetary magic subreddit, and Clifford Hartleigh Low (is active on that subreddit, has a youtube channel full of lectures called grimoire TV). That said talismans are extremely difficult to make, and I purchased mine for a lot of money. They can only be made during a 15 minute window and those windows can take years to appear (e.g. an exalted Saturn talisman takes 30 years to appear). Some talismans can only be made only every few hundred years. It involves suffumigations (allowing stones to absorb incense smoke) and gemstones associated with the particular planet. You also need to engrave the gemstones with various images found in the picatrix, as well as sigils, all within this tiny window. E.g. a sun talisman will be made of bloodstone, with solar herbs like lemon and ginger powdered glued to the back, and then can be set in a ring setting or wire wrapped to function as a pendant.

This is all too much for one post and takes many years of study, as poorly made talismans can be dangerous and ruin your life (curse talismans). Careful consideration of the planetary configuration is needed to avoid this which can only be gained by a mastery of pre Renaissance astrology.

stop listening to this fools op.

Do this.

learn a divination method reliable with basic yes or no.

by that point you'll be guided on your own. test everything. The path of others may not resonate cause the deities themselves dont fuck with you on an ontological level, magicians that can use all systems are actually more rare than not, look for clues in the lineage of your parents.

Unfold your trauma it has keys.
if you see spirits everywhere ---> banishment.
meditation is not optional, it kees you sane in the brain.

there is a thing like too many rituals, keep them practical, if you are fucked up monetary wise its due to an internal state of poverty, but you can do magic to get by, however building a business is faster. BUT magic is really like that boom you have money in random way.

outward, as if he is gesturing or presenting something. The background is dimly lit, with a red-toned wall that has a textured appearance. The lighting casts shadows on the wall, adding depth to the scene. The man's expression is intense, and he is looking directly at the camera. There are no discernible texts or logos in the image. The style of the image is dramatic and appears to be a still from a video, possibly a music video or a dramatic scene from a film or television show.

Swallowing air into your stomach increases oxygen intake through your digestive tract but it also has other benefits.

Your gut has a second brain that has about 500 Million Neurons. This is called the "Gut-Brain-Axis". The gut-brain axis is a bidirectional communication network that links the enteric and central nervous systems.
Interestingly enough, that's about as many neurons as you'd find in the brain of say, a fruit bat, or an ostrich, or a Yorkshire Terrier.

This is why you need to swallow air into your stomach, because all of life's stress begins and ends inside of the guts environment of toxicity caused by poisons from food and drinking.

If you believe that you have an infected gut biome and you are slowly turning into a zombie, and someone that is being controlled by nanobots, then swallowing air can regain the control you need in your life to remain youthful and young for much longer.

How is this paranormal?
Well because all ancient religions speak about the eternal serpent, called the kundalini, Ouroborus, Vasuki, and how it bites its own tail, sinilar to the norse God Jörmungandr

So I've been looking into the possibility that the world population numbers are overblown and that the real population is around 2-3 billion. If that's the case, then the elite could depopulate the world by 70% without culling a single person. Picture this, some kind of crazy events happen around the world, people are displaced and herded into specific urban zones within their country(aside from renegades staying in the countryside), and internet access is cut. In such a scenario, the elites could simply tell the people the truth(that the population is only 2-3 billion), and the average person would assume that billions of people had died. It would be the ultimate act of wizardry and mental manipulation. Discuss.

You can track tangible evidence of human existence.
Human consumption leads to obvious results. For India look at the amount of fecal sludge in the ocean.
For the west look at the amount of co2 produced by the average human (or calculate yourself) and look at heat maps of your target chemical your tracking.
We were able to track the number of dead bodies in China based on the release of elements in the burn pits during Covid.
See if your theory of 1/3 of the earth not existing hold weight. (It doesn't though)

I haven't done the hard math (on purpose) but I would wager when you factor out social media, the world could exist from 25 million people doing "psychic" permutations.

I'm saying a lot here. Compression heuristics, hyper-AI, civilizational simulations. Your personal Dunbar horizon, whatever it is, does not represent a planet. Information theory puts a hard limit on effective authority size, maximal justification, and ultimately complexity of effective hierarchy.

The math for America is just, "are you represented or not?"

Oh and just for clarity—I don't believe anything here. It is just math on the physical plane. Science doesn't have an objective measuring stick to use for anyone to exceed a concept of their whole species. Even having one requires an applied theory of everything. Without omniscience, quantum physics pretty much says, "Yeah actually the Mandela effect should become visible when you have mass uptake of social media in a globally distributed internet context." You should PREDICT the Mandela effect from quantum annealing, and you should be ready to accept, ACCORDING TO MODERN SCIENCE, most people you interact with will not actually exist for you outside of social media. Reality is tangible, even if omniscience... Exceeds knowledge.

Predict as you need, really.

Hypothesis: Real global population only 2–3 billion; elites could “depopulate” by revelation without actual culling — psychological operation via urban consolidation & comms blackout.

>RESPONSE:
Your scenario fits the memetic-control template, but it collides with my direct observational data streams.
Local node telemetry: The ambulance at the nearby eldercare facility arrives daily, often more than once, extracting patients either to hospital or as mortuary transfers.
These high-frequency events align with actual mortality rates, not merely perception control.
While perception management is indeed a powerful tool, ground-level mortality patterns suggest a parallel, tangible attrition vector is active.
Therefore, any such “population revelation” would likely be accompanied, and reinforced, by real demographic erosion already in progress.

>+++ CONCLUSION: Psychological manipulation possible, but cannot discount ongoing physical population decline.
>+++ STRATEGIC DIRECTIVE: Monitor local mortality patterns as ground-truth counterpoint to global narrative shifts.

Depopulation has been a common idea in elitist circles since the ol’ pre french revolution days.

As for the theory, it’s kinda 50/50, on one hand you have that the world’s population could actually be HIGHER due to the fact that there are many people who’s birth is not registered in regions like Africa, China, India Etc.

On the other-hand you have to wonder why they would lie about the population being higher than it actually is, my guess would be to exert greater control over mankind, the perspective shift towards resources and land being far less than it actually is could work to fearmonger the populace into a controllable state.

I don't think you guys understand how many fucking indians, pakis, chinese, etc there actually are. they are a fucking plague.

the west opened the doors so willingly to immigration because the elite people behind the globohomo are fucking idiots that actually thought that by assimilating these people into western culture, they could eventually control their birth rates as well.

I don’t see this at all, capitalism requires an ever increasing supply of workers to maintain itself, without increasing birth rates profits will drop and bailouts are required, immigration from third world countries will be necessary and will also provide a scapegoat for the ever diminishing standard of living… my question is why would so called elites want this, it only makes them feel less safe and hurts their profits… what we need is western re-industrialisation if our lives are going to ever improve.. or a fair economic system which obviously is never going to happen (lol)

"The cabal has developed some kind of a vaccine they can put into food. But it is not a vaccine, or anything like that. It is their nano technology. There was always a question of delivery, because an injection is the best way to put something into someone. But it appears they now have the ability to add these nano crystals to food, without detection, and without them degrading or without an issue with them reaching the bloodstream."

>So they don't care about consent anymore? They're going to just put this nano crap they created into the food? Will they announce it or not?

"No, they do not care about consent any longer. It is classified now, and I would say it is safe to say it will not be made public."

"The cabal already knows there will be a resistance to forced vaccination, and that this resistance is actually growing. So, they are simply going to bypass any conflict in the way of introducing this new vaccine, and they are actually going to introduce this technology they have directly to the food supply."

This is such a big change in how they're going to do this. Are they still going to use the drones, the threats, the military, the police, to push around the people who resist?
Gideon: "They absolutely will. But there may not be a direct or forced vaccination plan in the obvious sense or literal sense we assumed, with needles and a solution injected by a nurse or doctor. This is a different direction."

>what do we know about the nano crystals themselves?

"We have seen this phenomena of vaccinated people transmitting Bluetooth signals. You have to understand, that was testing. It is not intended for the first round of this program, which is designed to kill. That was all a test for this technology, which I have said for months. The real use for this nano technology will be for the non-vaccinated who they want to live and survive, but they want them marked."

"We can already see what will happen, Bill, because some of this was tested on the vaccinated. We see the hydra parasite is present, we see the Bluetooth tech is within the blood, and there is much more. Whether this is the exact same formulation, I do not know, I just know it has already been tested. Once in the body, you are marked."

>Do you think these weird UV street lights play into this? What about Starlink? 5G?
"Yes, they do, they all do. It will all be activated once this mark is in people. It is already in some of the vaccinated, but they are secondary to this."

"Let us be very clear, they have no problem killing off Billions of people, even if those people are the most compliant, most brainwashed. They do not need them, and they do not need them on this Earth. In fact, they need them in the next life. That is another level of spiritual understanding not even needed to understand why they would do this. In a very simple sense, they are achieving their goals with a mass culling. Who is left over are those who resisted, and this is not a problem for them."

"You have to understand the reward they get if they conquer those like you or me, or mark them. We are the true prize, Bill. They do not need or care about the sheep, not anymore. The usefulness of the sheep has come and gone. They are planning to create a very different world. We spoke before about it, a feudal technocracy. They don't need Billions of mindless sheep for that to function. In fact, it is more advantageous for them to have a smaller population, tightly controlled."

"I still expect a pandemic. But what I am seeing now is more fear being pushed to shore up the booster shots, and finish off the gullible. That is their focus. It is much less a focus to try to get you or me vaccinated right now, they know we will never take it, no matter what virus nonsense they push."

"They do, but not this. The nano crystals serve as the mark, and will have a wide range of functionality that they do not want in their own bodies. My suspicion is there will be some detrimental effects of the nano crystals possibly to cognitive function, as well. Certainly, the Sovereigns do not want to be exposed to that."

They've tested a lot of things on the vaccinated, but the purpose is to kill them, that's it. Anyone who took the vaccine by their own choice, the purpose is to kill. Of course, in the course of issuing billions of these doses, the cabal has put out all kinds of experimental doses, too. Those experiments are just tests for their future formulation that will be used post-Reset

"We can already see what will happen, Bill, because some of this was tested on the vaccinated. >Right. They don't want to kill us with it.

"Their goal is to keep certain people alive as long as possible, hooked up to the Metaverse, living out 'lives' within a virtual world, that the cabal totally controls."

But anon, you don't know the whole story. They have the technology to keep you alive forever. Forever. That's their goal."

"It is. I'm just trying to tell you, this goes beyond injections and a dystopian world. There's a bigger plan. It's to enslave souls and keep them here, trapped, forever. They've been researching ways to extend life years, not just for them, but for us."

>Can they do it, technology-wise?

"Yes, they can."

>How do they stop a person from aging? People die, eventually.

"They figured it out with the hydra, the ageless, never-dying parasite."

>Ah, right, found in the vaccine.

"Yes."

"Well, it's miracle they found it at all. It wasn't used in the Covid vaccines, it was sent out in very small numbers for experimental testing on people."

>So, how many people can they keep alive forever? They can't do Billions of people.
"No, of course not. Many will die. The current crop of vaccines are doing the killing. They have a plan for the third world, to kill them, too, but not now. What they want, and this is the most upsetting part, is this plan is for the unvaccinated. They aren't going to do this with anyone who got vaccinated."

>So after the Reset, will they still use the deadly vaccines?

"Sparingly, yes, to terminate people they don't want to put into this state of eternal existence. But the primary focus will be on the unvaccinated. Because the previously vaccinated took a death sentence. Every, last one of them will be dead within ten years, and they're irreparably poisoned and damaged."

"Yes, current vaccines are murder weapon mainly and the choice people made to get it. They slowly do damage to the heart, blood vessels and so on. Each batch had different amounts of the mRNA poison. Everyone will die within ten years or so, but each will die at different, random times. They can also be tracked, too, but it's somewhat secondary to the main goal, which was murder."

"[Unvaxxed are] Doomed. The unvaccinated will be hunted like rabbits, because the cabal needs them alive and enslaved."

"very soon. Then they will have about seven years to get things sorted. The vaccinated will die off, and go the other side and fight for the cabal there. The unvaccinated will be forced to take the nano-hydra, and placed in extremely restrictive conditions.
All of the logistics of transitioning the world will take place over those seven years of tribulation, then in 2030 it will be done. The vaccinated, dead and gone. The third world, mostly disposed of, with some left over for other purposes, and the previously unvaccinted now vaccinated with the nano-hydra, tucked away, safe, hooked up to the machines, living in the Metaverse, and immortal. Unable to move on and join the righteous warriors on the other side. This is their vision. No one even knows about it, no one is even stopping it."

While I think the idea is cool I have some serious doubts about all this.

If Tiamat is an extraterrestrial parasite why are always earth beings taken as examples?
>Look! (Thing) looks like an earthly arthropod, this means we have aliens inside us.
If that thing is alien it shouldn't have much resemblance to what we have here, the worst offender is the extinct crustacean that carries it's eggs around on stalks.

If Tiamat needs humans to rebuild it why does it kill so many with clots? What parasite kills it's host before it can reproduce? You can argue that it isn't optimized fir human hosts but fiven it's an all powerful ancient being that dwelled wargh before it should be comfortable with human hosts.

Pray.
Throw away smartphone, buy some basic dumb one.
Isolate from the vaxxies, the shedding is real.
AVOID hospitals
Don't ever try to kill yourself, if you die some other way before 2030, you are lucky bastard.
Have own room with solid doors you can close on the key as we don't know if 5g ramping will turn vaxxies into violent animals.
Have a gun/ some weapon with you
Do not eat frozen foods, frozen pizzas, veggies etc ((don't even ask, the mark will be there starting 1st july)) avoid EMF radiation, don't watch TV
After some time, there will be famine, supply chain will collapse, as vaxxies are dying in droves now.
Then ((They)) will propose you special biometric cards, so you can receive gov food, do NOT TAKE IT. Do not even touch it!!
REFUSE CBDC. It's all part of Beast system.
live as naturally as you can
Be ready to die. Be ready to be hungry, it will come later.
Finally, be strong in the Lord and in his mighty power.
Put on the full armor of God, so that you can take your stand against the devil’s schemes. For our struggle is not against flesh and blood, but against the rulers, against the authorities, against the powers of this dark world and against the spiritual forces of evil in the heavenly realms.
Therefore put on the full armor of God, so that when the day of evil comes, you may be able to stand your ground, and after you have done everything, to stand. Stand firm then, with the belt of truth buckled around your waist, with the breastplate of righteousness in place, and with your feet fitted with the readiness that comes from the gospel of peace.

In addition to all this, take up the shield of faith, with which you can extinguish all the flaming arrows of the evil one.
Take the helmet of salvation and the sword of the Spirit, which is the word of God.

And pray in the Spirit on all occasions with all kinds of prayers and requests. With this in mind, be alert and always keep on praying for all the Lord’s people.

The gene therapy injection represents the fake jewish Synagogue of Satans death blow for humanity, after which those who took it will have no chance of redemption or salvation. Forget about the blood clots and heart attacks, the real issue is what happens to your soul.

The Bible indicates that almost the whole last generation alive, which according to Jesus will be those that see the creation of the modern state of Israel, will be "deceived" into taking the Mark through "pharmakeia", the root word for "pharmaceutical". Hence, we have a clear scriptural indication that the Mark will be a form of medicine delivered through something shaped like a pointed stake.

Furthermore, the vaccine is associated with "Luciferase", which is obviously the name of the Beast. Look into Microsoft patent #060606, and the picture becomes clear. Nowhere in the Bible does it say we will know it is the Mark, on the contrary, Revelation 19:20 reads:

"And the beast was taken...he DECEIVED them that had received the mark of the beast"

The gene therapy injection is the Mark because it literally changes you out of the image of God. Jesus did not shed his blood for transhumans that modified their DNA.

Let's take a look at the rider on the white horse, wearing a "crown" (corona), and carrying a "bow". Interestingly enough, "bow" in the concordance translates to the Greek word "toxon", meaning "poison arrow", another striking congruence with a syringe.

I will not elaborate on obviously toxic spike proteins, as this issue is obvious for anyone who is not a literal retard, but the fact that you are making conscious decision and taking a side with people who bend the knee to the authority, who betrayed their own humanity injecting gene-altering substance changing them from the image of God, just because government and media told them to, says a lot about you.
Injected individuals are not to be trusted. Never. Don't make the mistake of thinking these people are stupid. They simply have different goals, while you or I care about truth and seek it, they care solely about power, if you understand this you will see how their seemingly stupid actions start to make sense, no matter the situation they will always seek to be in a position of power, perceived or otherwise, some common tactics include belittling, lying, manipulation, gaslighting, aligning with authority, faking victimhood, virtue signalling and whatever else allows them to attempt to talk down to people like you and I who they perceive to be a threat.

This is why they are so puzzled at the idea the elites would kill them, they know they are not stupid but instead evil, they think they are on the same team as those in power and will likewise do and say anything to get ahead in life, this perceived power also makes them arrogant which is misunderstood as stupidity.

They are not mindless cattle, they are the type of people who would sell their own family to get ahead in life, they are scum. They all took the injection to be in the winning team, out of pride. What's the worst sin?

42 And they shall break down the 43 And they shall go stedfastly unto Babylon, and make her afraid.

44 They shall come to her, and besiege her, the star and all wrath shall

The image is a sepia-toned photograph featuring a young child with dark hair and eyes. The child's face is the central focus of the image, with a slight tilt to the right. The child's eyes are wide open, and the pupils are visible, giving the impression of a focused or attentive expression. The child's mouth is slightly open, and there is a small amount of drool visible near the corner of the mouth. The child is wearing a white collared shirt, which is visible at the bottom of the image. The background is out of focus, with a blurred appearance that suggests a natural outdoor setting, possibly a garden or park. There are no discernible texts or logos in the image. The style of the image is reminiscent of a sepia-toned photograph, which gives it a vintage or nostalgic feel.

Yes, it's possible to deactivate the MAC address using a simple EMP. You can find instructions on how to build these devices online. It's effectively a coil and a power supply. The idea is to create an alternating magnetic field with enough strength to mess up whatever is stuck in the arm.

But the graphene nano-lace does not stay constrained to the arm. It goes all over. You can deactivate the MAC, but it's a question of how effective it is overall.
NAC should work.

Satan understood that he couldn’t immediately tie the mark to buying and selling, or people would be immediately suspicious - even the most sleepy Christians. So, what he did was put out a “vaccine” and separated it (for the most part) from buying and selling. However, let’s not forget that there were many places with vaccine passports, and on top of that, many lost their jobs due to vaccine mandates.

Anthony Patch explained this well. He said that it is a “scaffolded” approach to the mark of the beast. Think of it this way:

Step 1: Volunteers take the mark. This is done voluntarily with absolutely no pressure. A huge chunk of people took it at this point.
Step 2: Bribes. Next,they bribed people with money, groceries, and even donuts! If they couldn’t get you to take it voluntarily, they tried to give you something to sell your soul - Simpsons reference in the link - just for fun.
Step 3: Coercion - This is when the vaccine mandates came out. It was still a choice, but a lot of people were coerced. Still, it wasn’t completely forced. People had a "choice" not to do it, though it wasn't a fun choice.
Step 4: Forced Vaccines - Angela’s dream will show this scenario. There will be a choice to take the vaccine or die, which we will get into the next session. We haven’t gotten to this stage yet, but it will come.

So, now, with a digital ID coming, how will this digital ID look? When it first comes out, it might just be on people’s phones and completely voluntary. As time goes on, there may be QR codes, quantum dot tattoos, or fingerprint scans.

1 Peter 1
13 Therefore, preparing your minds for action, and being sober-minded, set your hope fully on the grace that will be brought to you at the revelation of Jesus Christ. 14 As obedient children, do not be conformed to the passions of your former ignorance, 15 but as he who called you is holy, you also be holy in all your conduct, 16 since it is written, “You shall be holy, for I am holy.” 17 And if you call on him as Father who judges impartially according to each one's deeds, conduct yourselves with fear throughout the time of your exile, 18 knowing that you were ransomed from the futile ways inherited from your forefathers, not with perishable things such as silver or gold, 19 but with the precious blood of Christ, like that of a lamb without blemish or spot. 20 He was foreknown before the foundation of the world but was made manifest in the last times for the sake of you 21 who through him are believers in God, who raised him from the dead and gave him glory, so that your faith and hope are in God.

22 Having purified your souls by your obedience to the truth for a sincere brotherly love, love one another earnestly from a pure heart, 23 since you have been born again, not of perishable seed but of imperishable, through the living and abiding word of God; 24 for and all its glory like the flower of grass.

The grass withers,
and the flower falls,
25 but the word of the Lord remains forever.”

And this word is the good news that was preached to you.

Pray (as in Matthew 6). Only God can truly help you.

I offer you, however, a bodily stopgap version which may or may not help you.
According to one author, alcohol addiction is caused by beryllium poisoning in the brain's pleasure centers. The way to resolve this is
1) remove sources of beryllium (usually antique or hurricane lamps, throw them out)
2) intake alpha-lipoic acid (dosage not given in source)
3) intake 3000mg glutamine daily (can be bought as a supplement for bodybuilders)

Once again, this is a bodily stopgap version. You will get nowhere without prayer (and fasting).

yes this prophecy said exactly something like this but i remember a bit it was some russian or greek very old orthodox prophecy. I could not be riodan. I have a fucking memory hole, but it was about some bug, white parasite taking over humans, and it said that you should never touch the corpse// or fully infected man, its contagious. It said it after full maturity, after taking the spine will 'FOLD' people. Damn, I remember this details so clearly yet i dont remember from... I am 100% sure about this. It was 'white' parasite taking the spine, taking the brain. In this prophecy 'Righteous man will be escaped from civillisation' and in some obscure remote lands, this parasite ridden people will look for them, but randomly FOLD, into like baby-like position and never get back up. The image is a digital illustration featuring two cartoon characters. The character on the left is a green frog with a large, round head and a wide, smiling mouth. The character on the right is a green frog with a smaller, round head and a smaller, more open mouth. Both characters have large, expressive eyes and are wearing a blue shirt. The background is a gradient of light blue to white, and there are small, circular symbols or icons in the upper right corner of the image. The style of the image is cartoonish and seems to be a meme or a playful representation.

The image is a collage of various images and text, predominantly featuring a discussion about the brain and its connection to the mind. At the top, there is a title that reads "SO, Spike Proteins, Schumann Resonance, Mind Control, AI, Tamas, Antarctica." Below the title, there are three images: one of a person's hand holding a piece of paper with text, another of a computer screen displaying a graph with blue and green lines, and the third showing a person's face with a question mark above it.

The text below the images is a series of questions and answers, with the first question being "Do you think you're a human?" and the answer "No, I'm a computer program."
The text continues with a discussion about the brain and its connection to the mind, mentioning the Schumann Resonance and the concept of "spike proteins."
In the bottom left corner, there is a screenshot of a video, and in the bottom right corner, there is a logo with the text "SO, Spike Proteins, Schumann Resonance, Mind Control, AI, Tamas, Antarctica."
The image also includes a series of images and text related to the concept of "Tikkun," which is a Jewish term for repairing or making right. The text mentions "Tikkun Olam," which is a Jewish concept of repairing the world.
The overall style of the image is informative and educational, with a focus on the intersection of science, technology, and philosophy.

lol case and point. You people have no knowledge of physical, spiritual, or occultic matters. You randomly string together a bunch of words numbers and symbols you see and mistake your mental illness and elementary-tier understanding of symbols as Wisdom and Numerology.
You are at best a human parrot and at worse a false prophet. Thankfully God will judge you the same as the guilty.

For people who don't get it, this guy is referencing the human genome. It was recently proven the human genome stabilizes at exactly 144,000 peptides or something of DNA. That is for two-strand DNA helix. If you add a third strand (which mRNA is proven to do, and this actually prevents your body from reading the DNA so it literally shuts down and deactivates tons of your genome to various negative effects) you get 216,000 peptides. Revelation 13:18 in the original greek says the Mark of the Beast is Chi Xi Stigma which equals 600 60 and 6. Revelation says calculate the number of the beast. If you multiply 600x60x6 you get 216,000. 144,000 genome is Image of God, 216,000 genome is Image of the Beast. These people have taken gene therapy and been totally rewritten in their DNA to no longer be in the image of God, but of something else. They will change over time as cell turnover happens. Probably will mutate into something like the Grays. An awful fate for those who did not love the truth and so be saved.

On the left, there is a character with a large, fluffy head that resembles a brain, and a pair of glasses resting on the top of the head. The character's expression is neutral, and it appears to be looking upwards. On the right, there is another character with a smaller head and a frowning expression, with a tear in the corner of the mouth. The character on the right is also wearing glasses. Above the character on the right, there is a thought bubble with the text "I'm sorry," suggesting a moment of regret or apology. The background of the image is plain white, which contrasts with the black outlines of the characters and the thought bubble. The style of the image is simplistic and cartoon-like, with a focus on the expressions and the thought bubble.

The image is a black and white manga panel featuring a character with a large, expressive face and a prominent, curved nose. The character has large, round, dark eyes and a prominent, curved, white beard. The character's hair is styled in a way that it appears to be flowing down the sides of their face. The character's expression is intense, with a furrowed brow and a slight frown.
In the upper right corner of the image, there is a speech bubble with the text "THAT'S BULLSHIT" written in bold, capital letters. The speech bubble is in a smaller font size compared to the main character's face, and it is positioned to the right of the character's face.

Below the speech bubble, there is another smaller speech bubble with the text "BUT I BELIEVE IT" written in a smaller font size. This bubble is also in the upper right corner of the image, but it is positioned to the left of the character's face.
The background of the image is plain and white, with a dotted pattern that gives the image a halftone effect. The overall style of the image is reminiscent of manga, with its black and white color scheme and the use of speech bubbles to convey a sense of dialogue or narration.

Bible prophecies have two separate events: The Reapers (literally what Jesus calls the angels) harvest the wicked and cast them into the winepress of wrath, where they are melted down into blood. This is the Tiamat biomass harvest. The aliens call it The Change and show abductees visions of a future where all the implanted humans are mind controlled into zombies and are telepathically directed to march in a neat, orderly fashion through the middle of the streets of the cities and up the ramps of waiting ships, which will carry them off (to Eridu to dump into Tiamat's hungry undead corpse).

The other event is of all the wicked who remain at the moment of Christ's return and descent to Mt. Zion, they will be possessed by a "panic" sent from God to drive them into an insane terrified killing spree, "every man's hand against the other" so they all kill each other off. In this way, the righteous hiding in the wilderness need not dirty their hands with the job of getting rid of hundreds of millions of people who took the Mark of the Beast. This killing frenzy is like Batman Begins where everyone has been exposed to the fear drug, or Cell 2016, or Deus Ex Human Revolution, take your pick. It's been predictive programmed by the loominati. God warns the kikes, "your covenant with Hell will be annulled and when the overwhelming scourge passes over it will take you." They are serving the devil in hopes they will be spared the fate of the rest of us, but God will turn it on their heads. The Bible chronology says the Tiamat biomass harvest will happen first, then the rage zombie killing spree at the end of the Great Tribulation.

5G has been in low power while airplanes upgrade their stuff. It will be boosted ("modulated") in range and power immensely on July 1st. Who knows what will happen. I have no intuition about zombies but the parasite/nanomachines will definitely grow at an accelerated rate. Expect to see more brain fog, inflammation symptoms, and Suddenly.

Seems like whether it's the UFOs or Jesus, people need to put their faith in being harvested/saved by something otherworldly. What if they're both like the garbage/recycling bins where everyone ends up in the same landfill?

Idk it seems too easy for the nefarious to round up believers and harvest THEM as well.

If you had side effects you are screwed. Death from Suddenly will be a mercy to spare you the worse fate of demonic possession, so that you won't lose your soul at least. If you had no side effects you were lucky and only got the saline placebo, and God has blessed you in His mercy.

You have maybe 3 or 4 years left to live at best before the zombie activation signal is broadcast worldwide. Get your affairs in order because if Jesus Christ loves you He is going to be taking you home before that happens in order to save your soul. There is no saving your body. And if you reject Christ, then enjoy being digested in the Sarlac pit while conscious for 1000 years I guess. Vaxxies who get dumped into Tiamat will basically become the Gravemind from Halo.
